

NEWS SUMMARY.

The books of the triennial assessment have all been returned by the assessors, and on the 14th of next month appeals will be heard by the Board of Revision, commencing with one or two of the lower wards. In the meantime, notices will be sent to property holders, calling their attention to the amount assessed against their property. The increase in the valuation of property by the recent assessment will amount to about $30,000,000, as compared with 1869, and nearly $50,000,000 more than the one of the previous triennial assessment. The subject of the tax rate for 1871 has not yet been discussed by the Finance Committee, the estimates from all the departments not having been prepared. The City Controller is now having a statement prepared, showing the present financial condition of the city, and the Board of Revision will soon have their statement ready in reference to the valuation of real and personal property.

The annual session of the Grand Jurors, C. of T., was held at Schuylkill Hall, Sixth street and Germantown avenue, last evening. There was a large attendance of representatives. The reports of the officers show the order to be in a prosperous condition. During the year four new sections have been instituted and an increase of 600 in the membership. The following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year:—G. P. Williams Davis; G. V. P., Charles S. Massey; G. Sec., B. F. Dennison; G. Chaplain, R. Twelves, Jr.; G. W., John W. Twelves. The percentage was reduced to two cents per member.

Frank Winner, aged 10 years, residing at No. 530 Powell street, was knocked down yesterday afternoon at Fairmount Park by a passenger car, and had one of his legs broken. He was removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital.

Next Monday evening will be All Hallow Eve, or Hallow'een. The popular idea respecting Hallow'een is that it is the time, of all others, when supernatural influences prevail.

Companies D and H, 12th Regiment Excelsior Reserves, National Guards of Pennsylvania, arrived at the West Philadelphia depot yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, from New York, after a visit of three days at that place. They were commanded by Captains Williams and Jackson. On their arrival at West Philadelphia they were met by a detachment of the regiment in command of Colonel L. E. French. They then formed into line and commenced to march from the depot. After proceeding a short distance from the eastern end of Chestnut street bridge they were attacked by a party of men, who threw stones at them and attempted to break through the ranks. The command immediately halted and commenced firing bayonets, when Colonel French went to the rear of the regiment, where the attack was made, and addressed the officers, commanding them to hold their positions, as the police had arrived in sufficient numbers to quell the disturbance. The line of march was then resumed and continued without interruption. Along the route salutes were fired, and the members of the regiment were cheered. Several of the parties who attacked the companies were arrested by the police.

THE WAR.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

THE SURRENDER OF METZ—FURTHER PARTICULARS—THE ARMISTICE—CONTINUED PRUSSIAN SUCCESS.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Times doubts if England should like America to abandon scrupulous neutrality and afford supplies to both belligerents.

At Orleans the Prussian bands play every evening, but the inhabitants remain close housed. The shops are all closed and the women appear in mourning.

The capitulation of Metz was not signed until Thursday night. The city will be occupied by the Germans to-morrow. The whole number of prisoners is now represented to be 173,000, including three marshals and six thousand officers. One hundred guns were fired in Berlin yesterday in honor of the event.

A special despatch to the London Times from Berlin intimates that the French had rejected the German terms for an armistice, but thinks the fall of Metz will lead them to reconsider their determination.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(Special to the New York World.)—The surrender of Metz is regarded as favorable to the negotiations now going on at Versailles for an armistice. These negotiations on their original basis involve no reference whatever to Metz, the army of Marshal Bazaine having been considered by both parties as out of the practical question. I have its points on the best authority as follows: First, the principle of status quo ante bellum is to govern all arrangements looking to the possible resumption of arms after the armistice.

Second, both belligerents are to be allowed to hold undisturbed their actual positions at the time of signing the stipulation.

Third, The city of Paris is to be allowed to receive daily one day's supply of provisions.

Fourth, All latitude to be given throughout the country to proceed with the election of members to the Constituent Assembly.

It is now reported that Austria has renewed her activity in support of the English negotiations, and is warmly backed by the Italian Government.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(Special to the New York Herald.)—Advices from Bouillon to the 27th state that the capitulation of Bazaine, with his army at Metz, is in conformity with the understanding arrived at with the King of Prussia, and contemplates a speedy peace and the termination of the war.

TOURS, Oct. 28.—The following official despatch is just received from the King and General Alexandre Ernest takes his place.

Advices from Lille represent that Bourbaki has visited and made a careful inspection of all the strongholds in the north, and was engaged in receiving troops from France. The Government here considers that his march to the assistance of Amiens saved that city from attack and bombardment.

No official intelligence from Paris or the army of the Loire is known to have been received today.

Colonel Wyckenstein, military attaché of the Russian embassy, left Tours to-day for Versailles, having received safe conduct from the Prussian headquarters. He had just arrived here from London, and will go from Versailles to Paris.

Gambetta has issued a decree establishing in each department a centre of observation, so that troops may no longer be liable to surprise by the enemy. The proper parties will be held responsible, under heavy penalties, for constantly reporting the movements of the invaders.

A Protestant pastor of Geneva, a native of the United States, who has accompanied the ambulance trains since the beginning of the war, is now in Tours. He gives a harrowing recital of the brutal conduct of the Prussian soldiers towards the defenseless country people. He says he has seen them wantonly destroy farming implements, looms, and food, take away men, and compel them to work as laborers, leaving women and children and the infirm to starve. He intends to address, through the press, a letter to kind people of Germany, giving details of these outrageous acts.

It is reported here that England desires a meeting of a European congress to arrange peace.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—The Correspondence of this city says the health of the Emperor Napoleon requires a milder climate, and possibly early next month he may change Wilhelmshöhe for Elba.

The Austrian army, Germany, regarding No. 1, has the advantage of the other side at Metz, Moselle, and she must keep it.

King William has communicated to General Von Falkenstein his desire for the removal of all obstacles in the way of independent voting, and forbids the enforcement of the penalty for holding public meetings. He also orders General Falkenstein to release those persons already arrested for violating such laws.
