CITY INTELLIGENCE. THE COAL TRADE.

The Scranton Sale-The Effect on the Trade-The Complete Tonnage for the Week-Quotations, Etc.

The regular monthly sale of Scranton coal took place at New York on Monday. The following are the prices as compared with the average of the sales of last month and of the corresponding month last

The whole amount sold was 90,090 tons, a larger amount than usual. It was sold mostly in small amounts to retailers and consumers. There was but little spirit in the blodding.

The prices of this month's sale, as compared with or last month, are an average decline of 16 %c. per ton on lump, 26%c, on steamboat, 32%c, on grave, for on egg, 86%c, on stove, and 21%c, on chesaut. The average reduction on all sizes is about 3%c, per ton. On this unpleasant fact, so far as the trade is concerned, the Miners' Journal makes the following

The prices obtained for Scranton Coal at the sale "The prices obtained for Scranton Coal at the sale on Wednesday have completely paralyzed the trade for the present, and prices will have to rule still lower to meet this decrine. This, however, will be almost impossible. But few of our operators are more than paying expanses now, and many are losing at the present rates. To suspend the collieries would not help the trade now, because the other regions could supply all the coal the market will require, and consequently it would have scarcely any effect on prices for the balance of the season. It leoks gloomy for November and December, but it cannot be helped now. Those who can go on will do so, and those who cannot, at the low rates, will have to conform to circumstances."

have to conform to circumstances."

The respective committees of the Schuyikili miners and operators have held several meetings during the past week for the purp see of fixing the rate of wages for October. Owing to some disagrae-ment as to how the terms of the late compromise should be understood, they were unable to come to any conclusion, and adjourned to obtain instruc-tions. They will meet again to-day.

The Lehigh rate for November was fixed yesterday for coal loaded at Mauch Chunk as follows:— Lump (furnaces), $3: lump, $3:50; steamboat, $3:75; broken, $3:75; egg, $3:75; egg, $3:75; stove, $4; chesnut $3.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal is still reported as in difficulty from want of water, the rains being only of sufficient amount to enable boats on their way to reach their destination. A better prepara-tion is to be made for next year.

Trade at all points is dull. At Mauch Chunk the shipments are largely in excess of last year, but the market is very dull. At this port the market is uncharged, and the supply is still in excess of the demand. Prices consequently have been weak.

The following is the complete summary of the trade for the week, as reported for the Pottsyille

Smith on a charge of being implicated in the shooting of Erastus Mead, on Wednesday evening, while standing at Seventeenth and Wallace streets. On Wednesday evening last, as Mead, the wounded man, was on the southwest corner of Seventeenth and Wallace streets, he felt something strike him in the back, and shortly felt the blood trickling down his clothes. Maur and Cook, who were the only men hear by, were arrested, when Maur acknoworing, but claimed it was done in selfdefense. Mead was struck in the back, in the region of the kidneys. THE EXPENSES OF THE CITY DEPARTMENTS, ... The Controller of the city has not yet received all the departments estimates, nor has the Board of Revision completed the exhibit of the taxable property of the city, so that it will be at least a fortugat of the city, so that it will be at least a forthight before the task of fixing the tax rate will be fairly entered upon. From the estimates already before the Controller, it appears that the necessary appropriation to maintain the House of Refuge during 1871 will be $75,000, which falls equally upon the State and city government. The Receiver of Taxes' department will require $83,000; the City Commissioner's, $361,181; the Boardsof Survey, $51,561; the City Treasurers', $24,600; the Coroner's, $15,000; the School Department swelling over $1,300,000; then of Port Wardens, $24,000; Guardians of the Poor, $440,670.

THE "STAR" COURSE OF LECTURES.—The next of the "Star" lecturers will be Hon. Charles summer, who will on Monday appear at the Academy of Music and speak upon "Latayette, the Faithful One." This is a change from Mr. Summer's previously announced subject, and it is a indictous one, especially as his lecture entitled "The Duel between France and Germany" has been extensively published, and therefore familiar to most of those who would wish to attend on Monday evening. Mr. Summer is the most scholarly of our states men, and his high reputation as an orator is well known. A discussion by him of the character and services of Lafsyette cannot but be of great interest, and a crowded house may be anticipated for Monday evening.

About 4 o'clock this morning some evil-disposed person found his way into the cellar of Joseph Thompson's grocery store, at Thirty third and Market streets, and kindled a fire, first destroying all the gas fixtures in the basement. The flames were discovered and extinguished in time to pre-

The Prussians Defeated at Formieres. AMIENS, via Tours, Oct. 29.—The Prussians were defeated at Formieres this morning by the troops of the lines, Mobile, and a small force of artillery. The village of Bouvisse was burned by the enemy's petroleum shells. The French still hold the railroad from this place to Rouen, and communication between the two cities is perfect, notwithstanding the repeated attempts of the Prussians to de Evacuation of Courville.

A despatch just received from Nogent-le-Routron says the Prussians have evacuated Courville, in the department of the Eure-et-Loire, near Chartres, after an engagement with the Mobiles and volunteers.

Continued Fighting at Beauvals. ROUEN, Oct. 28. - The Prefect of this department telegraphed to the Ministry at Tours to-day that the enemy, pursued by French cavalry, had hastily retreated upon Beauvais and Gorgson. A force of Prussian cavalry, estimated at 1200 strong, also left Chateauneuf, near Chartres.

THE ARMY OF THE LOIRE.

Its Organization—its Prospects and Field of Operations. Varzon (Oct. 10) Correspondence Independance Belge. I have just made, in company with a friend well acquainted with the country where the Army of the Loire is being formed, a rapid excursion, which permits me to give you the suboined accurate particulars. This Army of the oire is composed of not more than about eighty housand men. It is commanded by General de la Motte Rouge, the same general, if I be not mistaken, who was replaced by M. Tamisler in the command of the National Guard of Parls. This army extends from here to Tours, following a line which passes by Bourges. It is comand soldiers who escaped from the disaster of Sedan; secondly, of Mobile Guards, and thirdly, of Free-shooters. The line is not, perhaps, so homogeneous as could be desired, and more discipline might also be wished for.

Many of the soldiers from Sedan have re-mained, as it were, struck with discourage nent, and a little cowed. They are like those who were seen at Paris, Versailles, and many other towns where they sought refuge in the first half of the month of September, either voluntarily or in obedience to orders. But their spirits have already been revived by the Mobile Guards. The latter, in truth, are for the most part very fine, robust men. It may easily seen that they belong to classes of the popula-tion relatively superior, very superior, indeed, to those which supply the ordinary soldiers, Generally these Mobiles are the sons of farmers, small agriculturists, artisans in easy circumstances, and tradesmen. It is obvious that they have been well fed, and are full of vigor. On the average they are 23, 24, and 25 years of age, and consequently they form a mass much more solid than the youths of from 20 to 21 who constitute the young line. With time and good officers the Mobiles will certainly become superb troops. Perhaps, unfortunately, there may not be sufficient time. As to the present leaders, there are in general too many young men who under the empire demanded an epaulette in order to be able to amuse themselves and dress like soldiers. However, many of them might be mentioned who are equal to the task imposed upon them. However this may be, the Mobiles have not perfect confidence in their officers, and the latter fear that their men will not stand firmly, especially before the artillery. As to the Free-shooters, some of them are most excellent.
