ARTESIAN WELLS.

The Experiments in Philadelphia-The Earliest and Latest Attempts at this Means of Sup-pising Water.

The question of supplying water by the means of artesian wells has been agitated for years past by the larger portion of our manufacturers who are anxious to have the supply of the aqueous element necessary for their purposes under their own con-trol. As yet, there have been less than a dozen of these well-commenced in this city, but the success attendant in the case of a majority of them serves as an incentive to the owners of other large esta-blick matrix is a set that construction as an incentive to the owners of other large esta-blishments to start their construction. The first attempt to obtain a supply of water by this means was in 1830, when the idea was con-ceived that the old district of Northern Laberties could be relieved of the unsightly pumps, and in addition the citizens be placed in security against the occasion of the drying up of Perg's Run, which coursed through the district. The site of the new well was on the southern side of "Old Commis-sioners' Hall," which stood on Third street, near But-tonwood. The bore was sunk to the depth of 1800 fect, and proved a decided failure, but in verifica-tion of the adage, "There's no great evil but brings a nitle good," the well was discovered to be a very good receptacle for sewage matter, and, to the sur-prise of many, it never alled up; and the story was quite common mong the youth of the Northern Liberties that the well had no bottom, but had been bored right through to Chiea.

The latest hat the well had ho bottom, out had been bored right through to China. The latest attempt, and it is still in operation, is the well which is being bored at the Sansom street front of the Continental Hotel. It has reached the depth of 155 feet, 45 feet of which is through the gravel and clay superstratum and the balance through black mica or gnesss rock, with fissures of the store of the time to be the the set of the set of the the set of the time. through black mica or gness rock, with fisances of from six to eight inches. On the 17th of October the well was tabed and tested, when at a depth of 145 fect it yielded from 25 to 40 gallons of water per minute. The water is about 25 degrees colder than twdrant water, and is slightly tinged with sulphur. The well is eight inches in diameter, and will be tubed with pipe four inches inside diameter. It is the intention to proceed to a depth of 200 feet, in many of improving the computer and agains of the opes of improving the quantity and quality of the their sugar refinery on Crown street, near York avenue, commenced to sink a well with a diameter of four inches. After reaching a depth of eighty cal qualities, being quite strong is depin of eighty feet water was strock, but on account of its chemi-cal qualities, being quite strongly impregnated with iron, work was stopped. The water is used only in cases of emergency. Its temperature in midsummer is between 57 and 58 degrees. Early last summer is between 57 and 58 degrees. Early last summer the firm commenced to sink another well on a more extensive scale. In about sixty days water was struck at a depth of two hundred feet. The last test made of this well gave it a capacity of one hun-dred and fifty gallons per minute. The bore is now being cleared of sand and stones, and as soon as this debris is removed another test will be made, which will, it is thought, show a creater capacity. which will, it is thought, show a greater capacity. The water is exceedingly soft, is slightly chalybeate in character, which the contractor attributes to the new iron pipe which has been put down the well. For the first hundred feet the well has a diameter of twelve inches. The balance of the depth is eight nches, Stone was struck at a depth of fifty feet, Various strata of rock, some of exceeding hardness, were drilled. The last twenty feet were worked

At the sugar refinery of Gillespie & Co., St. John street, below Callowhill, there is an artesian well 62 feet in depth. The bore is 12 inches, and capacity 175 gallons per minute. No rock was drilled through, the bore striking a bed of gravel where water was found. There are slight traces of iron and sulphur in the water, and on this account it is solely used for condensing purposes. Its temperature is 62 degrees. At Harris, Heyl & Co.'s sugar reflacry, Beach, above Noble, there are two wells of the same pro-portions within four feet of each other. The depth a 49% feet, diameter 12 inches, and capacity from 150 to 160 gallons per minute. The water here is slightly impregnated with iron, and is used for con-densing purposes. At Jayne & Co.'s drug establishment a well was sunk to the depth of 165 feet, at the time of the unishing of the Post Office building on Dock street. Its diameter is 13 inches all the way down. At the depth mentioned a hard rock was encountered, and the undertaking was then abandoned, after a considerable amount of money had been sunk with it. The water from it supplies the bollers, but it is not used for drinking purposes. The capacity of the well is not known.

MAYOR FOX'S POLICE.

Interesting Statistics-Over One-third of the Force Acting Without Being Confirmed. It may be an interesting fact for our readers to know that over one-third of the present police force are performing duty, at least drawing pay therefor form the City Treasury, without the confirmation of Select Connell, which is rendered necessary by the law, and many of these appointments were made during the early days of the reign of Mavor fox. This latter fact induced the presentation in Select Council a couple of weeks since of a reso-tation requesting his Honor to transmit to that Ohamber the names of all policemen which had not hitherto been submitted. At the last meeting the meeting of 280 out of 799, upon which warrants have been wire domentify. As will be seen in the table below, in some of the districts over one-bail are still with-out confirmation, and of the sid detailed as Reserves in eight are acting authoritatively. The communi-dation of the Mayor was referred to the Committee on Police, who will submit a report at the meeting on Police, who will submit a report at the meeting to-morrow.

The Mercantile Library Gift Concert of San Francisco was authorized by the California Legislature last February, and tickets were sold, at first, at $5 each in gold, or $6 in cur-rency. The number issued was 200,000, and the amount of the prizes $500,000 in gold, the prizes ranging from $100,000 to $100 each, 628 in num-ber. The proceeds of the lottery are to be de-voted to the paying of the indebtedness of the Mercantile Library Association. The enterprise has had varying prospects of success, at one time a suit for an injunction against its continuance, on the against ground that it was immoral, having been brought, and the drawing having been once postponed from September 1 to October 31, because only half the tickets were sold. The Bank of Cali-fornia, has, however, acted as Treasurer of the affair, and it was believed that there would at least be no dishonesty nor trick about it; and in consequence the sale of tickets during the past two months has been rapid. A San Fran-cisco firm took the contract of advertising and selling the tickets and paying all the incidental expenses of the lottery, and were to receive therefor $125,000-which, if all the tickets were sold, would leave $375,000 for the benefit of the Library Association. Since the 15th ult, the price of tickets has been gradually raised by speculators. In San Francisco they were sold, it is stated, at as high as $10 in gold each. Here, the latest quotations were $25 in currency each, and a large number of fifths were sold at from $3 to $5 each.

Very elaborate arrangements were made to insure perfect fairness in the drawings, $500 having been offered as a premium for the best model of an apparatus for that purpose. Fif-teen different models were submitted to a board of master mechanics. The two wheels adopted for the drawings were very ingenious contri-vances, being so arranged as to turn in every conceivable way, thoroughly mixing the ttckets, and at the same time were so fitted with glass ctators could see the tickets time. All the tickets having been sold, the Library Association will realize, against the protests of many of the more thoughtful and considerate members, $375,000. In the pavilion at San Francisco in which the drawing took place at least 10,000 people were congregated on Monday evening, and the streets in front of the newspaper and telegraph offices were crowded. A hundred or more prominent citizens occupied places upon the stand, and the drawings were conducted quietly and rapidly, occupying several hours.

Political Meeting at Norfolk-Rioting and Bloodshed.

NORFOLE, Va., Nov. 2 .- A large crowd of whites and blacks collected before the City Hall last night to hear political addresses from Hon. George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, and Hon. James H. Platt, member of Congress from this district and candidate for re-election; ex-Governor Wells, of Virginia; Professor Langston (negro), of Howard University, Washington, and others. Ex-Mayor Frank de Cordy was elected chairman.

After Governor Wells and Secretary Robeson had addressed the crowd, and while Professor Langston was speaking, the meeting was interrupted by a disturbance in the crowd, which soon increased in violence and extent until firearms were very freely used, and several volleys from small arms were fired in rapid succession. At the commencement of the firing the crowd broke in wild disorder, scattering in every direction. The police attempted to quell the disturbance, but owing to their small force were unable to accomplish much.

After the crowd had dispersed it was found that no one had been killed, but many whites and blacks had been wounded. Among the seriously wounded was John T. Daniel, a wellknown white citizen of this city, and a leading Republican, who occupied a position on the speaker's stand. Hs was wounded in the head by a bullet. This morning a negro, badly cut, was found dead in an alley a few squares from the scene of last night's row.

FROM NEW ENGLAND.

A Woman Burned to Death.

HARTFORD, Nov. 2 .- Early this morning a fire broke out in the attic of Mrs. Cornish's boarding-house, on Church street. There were two sleeping rooms in the attic, one occupied by a cook and chambermaid, and the other by Miss Rose Hill, a boarder. The cook rose before 4 o'clock and went down stairs, carrying a lighted candle, and evidently set something on are in the attic.

Soon after she had gone down stairs Miss Hill awoke and found the bed in a blaze. She rushed to the window, shricked for help, and jumped out, striking on a roof about fifteen feet below, and rolled off into a narrow space to the ground between two buildings. She received severe through not necessarily fatal injuries. The chambermaid, Lizzie Hennessey, aged 18 years, was found in the floor of her room smothered to death.

exceedingly affectionate, and thus the public has had its attention formally drawn to the cordiality of the relations between the royal pair. Probably it is a new sensation for the Queen to have suddenly be-come the centre of attraction, and without any special exertion on her part to acquire a species of popularity. It may be that the war will conduce to promote unity in royal circles, as well as to render German united. At the Frankfort station the Queen of Prussia was received by the military authorities and by the Chief of the Police. When distinguished persons travel in Germany, it is expected that the police should assemble to do them honor, civil anthorities keep in the background. advantage of this is that irrepressible mayors are debarred from tormenting distinguished visitors with what are called loyal addresses, but what are with what are called loyal addresses, but what are generally exhibitions of local self-conceit. Indeed, owing to the enormous numbers of princes and princesses with which Germany is filled, the sight of these highly-titled persons is an every-day pleasure, and, like other common pleasures, is deemed of small importance. Had it not been for the circumstances already re-ferred to the Gueen of Pressia might have append tary spirit of all the Prussian troops is astonishing A few days ago I was with Prussian officers of all kinds, two belonging to the line and nine to the Landwehr. The various provinces of Prussia were represented. Two were scions of the strict Catholic and exclusive Westphalian nobility, others mer-chants and young lawyers from Berlin, farmers from Pomerania, a manufacturer from Schleswir, an architect from Cologne, etc. All these men are so different in their social habits, their political so different in their social habits, their political and religious views, their friendships and inclina-tions, that in time of peace they certainly would not come much in contact, and would regard each other with indifference, and occasionally with animosity. But all these differences disappear as soon as they have donned the officer's uniform, and are under arms as the King of Prussia's officers. Their only thought then is of doing honor to their position, and they are impressed by the most thorough exprit de corps. Their common wish is to fight for the corps. Their common wish is to fight for the honor of the Prussian flag-to conquer, and, if it is God's will, cheerfully to die; and this animates them all in equal measure. Am ong the Landwehr, the very men who at home over their beer and in the slightest insubordination." The Queen of Prussin En Ronte for Homburg —Reception at Frankfort. Writing from Frankfort-on-the-Main, on October 11, the London Daily News' correspondent says:— "This morning, at 9 o'clock, the Queen of Prussia passed through Frankfort on her way to Homburg. It is one of the results of the war that the move-ments and doings of this lady attract an attention which was not formerly accorded to them. She left Berlin and returned thither almost without any notice being taken of her journeyings. Pablic attention seemed to be exclusively concentrated on the move-ments of the King. The royal pair were seldom tog ther. It appeared as if they had agreed not to make too open a parade of their fondness for each other. But the war has changed all that. ferred to, the Queen of Prussia might have passed through Frankfort, and have taken up her abode at Homburg without any formality being observed, and without any sight-seers being attracted. But the exceptional position she occupies for the present bore fruit in a demonstration of the most marked and loyal character. A large crowd assembled at the railway station. Nearly every building in the town was decked with flags. Fortunately for picturesque effect, the town, though Prussian, was not exclusively adorned with the Prussian colors. exclusively adorned with the Prossian colors. A controversy which is now agitating the Germans had the effect of intro-ducing variety into the flags hung out on days of public rejoicings. The flag of the Kingdom of Prussia is white and black, a flag ap-parently designed by or for an undertaker. The flag of the North German Confederation is black, white, and red. It is held that the latter is the symbol of United Germany, and that now that unity has been virtually accomplished, the flag of Germany should be adopted and displayed. Pending its actual adop-tion it is displayed by patriots who have no special admiration for the symbol under which Pressia admiration for the symbol under which Prussia has fought and conquered, annexed territory, and acquired a reputation of a mixed kind. hospital.

The Cross Gazette takes the following account of the life of her Royal Highness at Homburg from a private letter:-"Our Crown Princess has now been here for four weeks. Her sister the Princess Ailee of Darmstadt, often comes with her children to visit her. At such times the sight of the family excursions from the old castle is very pleasant, as there are then eleven children together, and they are all very lively. Several of them lately rode out on donkeys, and two pushed a chaise from be-hind, which was drawn by two small horses, and in which some of the children were also seated. The Crown Princess is exceedingly simple in her tastes and manners. She herseif carries re-freshments in a basket to the patients in the Laza-reth. She has had everything there arranged in the most excellent manner. She has had the beds covered with white sheets and coveriets, and neat cortains pat up. By her order flowers are placed in the rooms, and a concert was given by the band of the Kerhaus, on which occasion the wounded were carried in their beds into the court of the barracks. She has caused several old servants of the old Engshe has caused several of servants of the old lang lish Marchioness to be summoned to visit her She has also visited the wounded Majo S. and the Landrath, to the latter o whom she intrusted presents for the male and female attendants on the wounded male and female attendants on the wounded, with whom she converses in a very friendly mauner. Her youngest son is very like his handsome old grandfather, the King; it is always a pleasure to see him, he is such a splendid child. The Crown Prin-cess, beyond all doubt, possesses a great deal of energy, and she is fond of simplicity and good order. The Fire Guard here desired to place a grand of honor at the castic, but she refused the offer with thanks. She arrived with her children in a carriage. No one recognized or saluted her; a splendid en-trance had been expected, and she was past. She has generally one of her children on her lap when she drives out. It is no wonder she has gained all hearts, especially those of the mothers. She has also had an open hand for the inhabitants of Stras-burg in their need; many of them who had fied are now returning home."

with hastening a popular uprising. Gam! addressed the deputations, urging that it were better for Frenchmen that they determine to conquer or die.

The republic cannot fall if the people will that it stand. The Government has bent its every energy to the task of defense. Efforts have been made and were still being made to procure arms and munitions, but the people must assist the Government in this as in other efforts; they must be self-reliant, and must not expect the Government to surmount obstacles which they themselves might remove. All must unite in saving the nation.

GRANT AND THE EX-SECRETARY.

The President Offended at the Publication of Mr Cox's Letter-Retailation Threatened. WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The President is in quite a state of excitement over the developments made by state of excitement over the developments made by the publication of the correspondence between himself and ex-Secretary Cox. Yesterday and to-day he has received no less than half a dozen prominent Republican papers assailing his conduct in the premises and defending the course of Gene-ral Cox. Hei claims that be has been grossly mis-represented by the latter's letter, and proposes to reply to it in a letter, which is to be furnished for general publication, and in which the President's friends assert he will relate some unwholesome facts about the retired Cabinet minister. It is not facts about the retired Cabinet minister. It is not facts about the retired Caunet initister. It is not stated whether he will alinde to the unanimous in-dorsement by the heads of all the bureans of the Interior Department of General Cox's efforts in be-half of civil service reform, or to the latter's contest against the Indian and other rings, which moved with such "cohesive force of public plunder" to get him out of that department, Governor Cox did not bid the President good-by when he left Washington, which is commented on very severely by some of the President's friends,

GENERAL COX'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Delano took the oath of office as Secretary of the Interior before Chief Justice Cartter, of the Su-preme Court of this District, this morning, but passed only a few moments of the day in his new department. A few visitors called and congratulatedfin about noon, and soon thereafter he left the department for the Cabinet meeting: and after that adjourned went to the Internal Revenue office, where he remained for some time. It is very certain that important changes will be made in the Interior Department, it has been intimated that one or two of the bureau chiefs will resign, but this statement is incorrect. Among the changes talked of is that of a Western man to be put at the head of the land office in place of the present commissioner Supervisor Dwyer, of Ohio, who holds intimate friendly relations with Mr. Delano, is in this city assisting the new Secretary in entering upon the routine business of the department.-N.
