ADMIRAL PORTER.—An Explanatory Letter—A Denial of any Intention to Reflect Upon the President in a Former Indiscreet Communication. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Admiral Porter has addressed the following letter to the President, Washington, Dec. 5, 1870.—Mr. President: My first impulse on reading the article published in the New York World went to you at once and pronounced it a fabrication, for as such I considered it; but as it purported to have been written by me, and published by me, I determined to ascertain fully if I ever dictated such a letter, before addressing you on the subject. Neither myself nor my secretary, who has served with me eight years, can recall any recollection any circumstance of the kind.

I could not conceive that I had uttered sentiments I know I never felt, and which are so at variance with those that I have uniformly expressed towards you. It appears, therefore, to be a private one; and vindictive must have been the heart of the man that could be guilty of so gross a breach of confidence, and depraved indeed must have been the character who, to gratify his mischievous instincts, could make public the contents of a letter so addressed, under great excitement, and at this distant day not even remembered. It seems like a poor return for your uniform confidence and kindness to me, and I am too glad that I remember nothing connected with the letter.

At about the date of the letter I had passed through a long and fatiguing contest with Fort Fisher, and my numerous fleet was almost overpowered with the elements. I saw the coveted prize within my grasp, and then slip from me, and I was bound to battle with the storms of winter anchored on an open coast, with the responsibility of that large fleet on my hands, my mind and body harassed by extraordinary fatigue.

The whole nation was looking on with interest, and I was being pulled in many a contest that was already sapping its vitality. You and others know what I had to undergo bodily and mentally. I presume it was while under this excitement that I wrote the letter which was published, and which you lose your faith in human nature. I have no recollection of it any more than I would have of the passing circumstances of six years ago.

When several persons have, at different times, informed me that a letter had been published which I had addressed to your Grand I treated the matter with indifference, thinking it impossible that such a letter could exist. I do not write for the purpose of exonerating myself, for I would rather be the writer of that letter than its publisher. The peace of political parties and of society would be placed in great jeopardy if all the private letters written within the last six years were published. Nothing that I have said will affect your fair fame, and your many friends would be of little avail in their judgment, if they were to be influenced by silly calumnies of few unscrupulous persons who, after all, only relishing on the most contemptible breach of confidence I ever heard of.

I regret exceedingly the loss of your friendship, and do not hesitate to disapprove the sentiments of which, I suppose, I must bear the odium. They appear in a letter of which I have no recollection; they are so different from the sentiments I always expressed towards yourself and the gallant officers of the army, and who were so much influenced by a silly calumny of few unscrupulous persons who, after all, only relishing on the most contemptible breach of confidence I ever heard of.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

DAVID D. PORTER, Admiral.

BOURBAKI AND THE REPUBLIC.

General Bourbaki, according to the Pall Mall Gazette, did not, when he left Chishurst, go to Tours spontaneously. He went first to Brussels, proposing to return to Metz, but on crossing the frontier he received an order from M. Gambetta to report himself at Tours. He obeyed without hesitation. On his arrival there he was asked authoritatively how he came to leave Metz, and what he went to do in England. The general answered him that Marshal Bazaine told him that a person named Regnier had come to Metz with an offer of disengagement, which he desired to see General Bourbaki, and that the Marshal wished him to go. Bourbaki objected strongly to leave his command, and he had written order that order was given, and thereupon Bourbaki passed through the Prussian lines in the Geneva uniform of an ambulance surgeon.

CITY ORDINANCES.

To Lay a Water Main from Mount Airy Reservoir to Wistar Street, and to Provide for the Payment of the Same. Section 1. The Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia do ordain, That the sum of sixty thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated to the Department for supplying the City with water to be returned to the Treasury out of a water loan hereafter to be created for the purpose of laying a water main on Allen's lane and Main Street.

A sixteen-inch main from Mount Airy Reservoir to the pipehook street, and a twelve-inch main from Tellephocken street to Wistar street, and warrants shall be drawn by the Chief Engineer of the Water Department, in accordance with existing ordinances.

Attest—President of Common Council. BENJAMIN H. HAINES, Clerk of Select Council. SAMUEL W. CATTELL, Mayor of Philadelphia.

Approved this fifth day of December, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy (A. D. 1870). DANIEL M. FOX, Mayor of Philadelphia.

To Establish Certain Rules and Regulations for the Government of the New Morgue Building.

Section 1. The Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia do ordain, That the following shall be the Rules and Regulations for the Government of the New Morgue Building, located at the northwest corner of Beach and Noble streets, in the Eleventh ward:— Rule 1. The Morgue shall be in charge of the Commissioner of Markets and City Property and the Committee of Councils on City Property.

Section 2. There shall be appointed by the Commissioner of Markets and City Property, who shall reside in the dwelling part of the Morgue building. The superintendent shall be always on duty in the building, with such assistance as the Commissioner and the Committee of Councils on City Property may deem necessary.

Section 3. The names of all persons who are charged and control of the Morgue building and all the property therein contained, and shall keep a record book in the office of the Morgue, in which citizens may record the names of missing friends and describe their person and clothing, and the address to which information respecting them may be sent.

Section 4. No corpse shall be received at the Morgue unless in charge of a policeman, or on the order of the Coroner or the Chief of Police, unless the Superintendent of the Morgue shall be satisfied by a citizen that the corpse has been found dead in the street or drowned.

Section 5. The attendant in charge will on the arrival of a corpse at the Morgue immediately report to the Coroner. He will then record, in a book to be kept for that purpose, a detailed account of the body, the date, time, and place found, and at what place and at what hour, the hour of admission to the Morgue, in whose charge, or on whose warrant, a description of the body, clothing, papers, and money found on it; and in the margin of the book opposite the account shall be indorsed the number and order of the bodies received, which number shall also be placed on the body. The papers, money, and all other valuables shall be put up in a package, marked with the same number as the account, and the package to be indorsed by the Superintendent, who shall be held responsible for the same.

Section 6. All bodies brought to the Morgue shall remain, if they are not recognized, in the hall of exhibition seventy-two hours or longer, after which they shall be disposed of. Nothing shall be exhibited near the body. If, when the exhibition can no longer be continued, the body remains unrecognized, it is to be buried.

Section 7. The clothes shall remain exposed to public view, and the bodies to be indorsed shall be immediately withdrawn from exhibition and placed in a private room.

Section 8. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to notify the Coroner by 9 o'clock A. M. of the reception of a body during the preceding night, and to keep a record of the same.

Section 9. No corpse received at the Morgue shall be taken away and interred without the Coroner's consent in writing, nor shall a post-mortem examination be held upon any corpse unless in the presence of the Coroner or by his order.

Section 10. The friends of a person whose body has been identified can transfer it to their own domicile with the consent in writing of the Coroner.

Section 11. The attendants shall, under no circumstances, ask for or receive from the deceased person's friends or relatives any fees or compensation for services rendered, under a penalty of immediate dismissal by the Commissioner.

Section 12. On the first day of each month the Superintendent shall make a report to the Commissioner of Markets and City Property, a statement of identified bodies, setting forth:— First, The date of reception.

Second, Name, age, profession, and residence of deceased.

Third, Cause of death.

Fourth, Mode of death.

Fifth, Hour of death.

Sixth, Place of death.

Seventh, Also a statement of bodies not identified. First, A succinct description of the body, and whether male or female.

Second, Probable age, and whether white or colored.

Third, Mode of death.

Section 13. There shall also be kept an alphabetical list of all identified persons, and a list of those who have been in custody of the morgue.

Section 14. The clothes and other effects belonging to the identified bodies shall be given up to the family or the representatives of the deceased on proper proof, and their receipt be taken for the same.

Section 15. The clothes and other effects of all unrecognized bodies, when the period of exhibition shall have expired, shall be washed, tied up in packages, and preserved for six months. The package shall be numbered, corresponding to the number of the body on the record book.

Section 16. After one year's time from the date of the reception of an unidentified body, the superintendent shall deliver over to the Commissioner of Markets and City Property all the packages of unrecognized bodies, and the bodies in which it was found; and the property and list to correspond, shall then be preserved, and shall be preserved until such time as the family or the representatives of the Coroner and the Commissioner of Markets and City Property shall be notified.

Section 17. If any corpse shall remain unrecognized for forty-eight hours, the superintendent shall have the body photographed in the clothes in which it was found; and should any regular physician desire to embalm any unclaimed body, he may have the privilege to do so, provided he obtain the written consent of the Coroner and the Commissioner of Markets and City Property.

Section 18. The salary of the superintendent shall be eight hundred dollars per annum, payable in equal monthly portions on the first day of each month; the salary to commence on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1871, and the warrants for the payment to be drawn by the Commissioner of Markets and City Property.

Section 19. From and after the first day of January, A. D. 1871, the Coroner shall have his office in the office of the Morgue building, now located at the northwest corner of Beach and Noble streets, in the Eleventh ward, and that he desires him to remove to the same on or before the first day of January, A. D. 1871, as the office now occupied by him must be vacated by that date.

Section 20. The Commissioner immediately after the passage of this ordinance shall notify the owners of the property now occupied by the Coroner that the city will not require the use of the same after the first day of January, A. D. 1871.

Attest— President of Common Council. BENJAMIN H. HAINES, Clerk of Select Council. SAMUEL W. CATTELL, Mayor of Philadelphia.

Approved this third day of December, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy (A. D. 1870). DANIEL M. FOX, Mayor of Philadelphia.
