HARRISBURG.

THE OPENING OF THE LEGISLATURE-PHILADEL-PHIA IGNORED IN THE SENATE-THE FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT ELECTION-DISAFFEC-TION IN THE DEMOCRATIC BANKS-THE STATE TREASURER QUESTION-MACKEY TO BE NO-MINATED - THE SELECTION OF THE COM-

From Our Own Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 3, 1871.-The Legislature is at last organized, but it was not accomplished without some excitement in both the Senate and the House. While Philadelphia is better and more largely represented in the selection of the officers of the House than last year, she has been ignored almost completely in the Senate. The Senators outside of Philadelphia seem to have forgotten that had it not been for the Democratic workers in the First Senatorial district, they would now be in a minority -indeed, every one who has been here within the past several hours listening to the revelations of the Fourth ward crowd has become convinced that the election in that district was by no means a fair one, and that kad they not so prominently interested themselves in behalf of Colonel Dechert he would have been left at nome by a large plurality vote. That is the sentiment particularly of those who reside in Pailadelphia and know the ability of the Alderman and his satellites for conducting elections. These men concluded that, as they had contributed so materially in placing the Democratic party in power in one branch of the Legislature, and thus giving them control of one-half of the expenditures of the State, they should have whatever positions they desired. They demanded not much, but in so doing they came in conflict with Senator Randall, of Schuyli ill county, who had taken the precaution in advance to travel to the residence of every country Senator and secure his support for his man. The Philadelphians solicited the Sergeant-at-Arms and named as their man John Ahern, who is well known in the City of Brotherly Love. They demanded this position, although the salary is precisely the same as all the employes on the Hill, and would be satisfied with nothing else. Senator Randall would not yield an inch, and he held his fellow Senators to their pledges. The consequence was that at the caucus held last evening Ahern was thrown overboard, and loud were the threats made by his adherents. They asserted that they would take Colonel Dechert back home and thus prevent the Senate organizing, unless their wish was acceded to. Wiser counsels prevailed, however, and the Colonel was accordingly in his seat and voted throughout with his political colleagues. The Philadelphia party left this evening for home, after having caused more consternation in the Capitol than has been witnessed since the raid which was made two years ago on a Lancaster Senator. Senator Petriken certainly has just cause to remember this early visit of the men who rule the Democratic party of Philadelphia. The State Treasurer Question. Now that the organization of both houses has been effected, the greatest interest will be attached to the question of the election of a State Treasurer. The question is agitating both parties, and the ingenuity of the Democrats will be particularly taxed to maintain a belligerent feeling between the friends of Messrs. Mackey and Taggart, the competing Republican candidates, hoping by this means to have their own candidate step in and obtain the cheese. The feeling created by the bolt from Mackey's nomination last year is rapidly being allayed, and there is now a good prospect of the caucus nomittee receiving the unanimous vote of the Republicans. It is now positively asserted that every member of that party has expressed his determination to adhere to the decision of the cancus, and one of those who was active in promoting the defection last winter has said that he has no reason to be proud of his vote on that occasion, and will not permit himself to be placed in the same fix again. A powerful and perhaps bitter opposition to Mr. Mackey is plainly visible among others than those in the Legislature, and these people will, no doubt, again endeavor to secure a bolt. The same men prominent in Republican ranks are present in Harrisburg as they were last January, and they are endeavoring to use their utmost endeavors to prevent his nomination. But, from present appearances, that seems impossible, for a large majority of the members are in his favor. This light is entirely personal, and is a legitlmate outgrowth of the petty bickerings which possess the factions which unfortunately divide the Republican party. Among the better members there is a disposition to quiet these disturbing elements, at least as far as the State Treasurer is concerned. The proposed Constitutional Convention will undoubtedly take this matter up and provide for the choice of that officer by a direct popular vote, and thus remove the entire subject from the halis of legislation. This is the only effectual remedy for the exhibitions of shameful venality that annually attend the opening of the session. The Selection of Committees.

Although thoroughly organized, neither house will be able to commence business until next week, when the committees will be announced. It is thought that an adjournment until Tuesday next will take place to-morrow, at least an effort to that effect will be made, in order to allow the Speakers plenty of time for the purpose of naming the various standing committees. This subject of committee making has excited little or no laterest whatever, and there has not been any selections for the chairmanship ef any of these bodies. It seems to be conceded that the members will be so distributed that there can be no forming of rings for corrupt purposes; at least no one set of men will be permitted to obtain possession of any one committee for personal aggrandizement. The new Speaker, while on the floor, was always recognized as one of the staunchest reformers, and was always unwilling to lend himself in any way to promote the numerous questionable schemes that were continually being striven for by designing combinations. He has promised no appointments, and in but one or two instances has he been solicited by members for position. There is scarcely any doubt that he will give entire satisfaction to all parties concerned. The same may be said of Speaker Wallace of the Senate.

GOVERNOR GEARY'S REPORT.

Whom He has Released from Durance Vile During the Year, and the Reasons Therefor.

Accompanying the Governor's message to the Legislature, published elsewhere in to-day's issue, was the annual report of the action of the Executive during the year 1870 in the matter of pardons. Altogether sixty-two pardons were granted during the year, or five per cent. of the number of applications, which reached 1240. In 1869 the number of pardons granted by Governor Geary was precisely the same.

The following is a tabular statement of the number of pardons, remissions of fines and forfeited recognizances (with the yearly average), restorations to citizenship, and deathwarrants issued from the year 1791 to 1870, inclusive, together with the names of the Governors by whom they were issued:—

Hard-ing, Jay Cooke & Co., and many other citizens of Philadelphia. Reasons:—Nathan S. C., one of the prisoners is onite an old man; he never intended to prisoners, is quite an old man; he never intended to commit a crime; is almost crushed by the conviction and sentence, and is a most worthy subject for executive elemency. Hon, W. S. Peirce, by whom the prisoners were sentenced, says:—"Nathan was a most pitiable object at the time of sentence."

22. John Farro, Philadelphia, September 22, 1866. Arson. Five years in Eastern Penitentiary. Pardoned April 8. Recommended by eight of the purors in the case; Gustavus Bergner, John White, W. W. Fenner, D. B. Brau, Jr., Matthew Murray, William R. Leeds, Richard Peltz, W. G. McMichael, and many other citizens. Reasons:—Farro has siways borne a good character; the prosecution was set on foot to shield an insurance company om the payment of a just claim, and the facts oven did not sustain the indictment. One year d five months remitted.

and five months remitted,
25. Thomas Barker. Philadelphia, May 25, 1867.
Murder in the second degree. Nine years in Eastern Penitentiary. Pardoned April 21. Recommended by Chas. H. Taylor, John O'Brien, Edward mended by Chas. H. Taylor, John O'Brien, Edward Stewart, and Alexander Russell, jurymen: William R. Leeds, John Sanson, John G. Butler, David Farrell, William Hoffner, John Sanson, Jacob Young, D. A. Atterson, T. P. Russell, William H. Taylor, John W. Dysert, W. H. Benkert, John E. Littleton, Charles Paulbine, W. H. Bradshaw, Peter Glasgow, Allen McLean, Joseph Weimell, William Maul, John J. Kenney, James Rull, John K. Dougherty, John Gelkey, M. N. Eberly, J. Miller, A. M. Maggl, John McQuade, A. J. McIntyre, Ellis W Colhorn, and many other chizens of Philadelphia. Reasons:—An intimacy of unusual character had existed between Barker and his yletim up to the time of the commission of the crime, he sharing his money and home with him; ctime, he sharing his money and home with him; he is upwards of sixty years of age; had recently become very intemperate, and at the time of the nomission of the crims was very drunk, and upon coming sober appeared to have no recollection of hat had occurred; no malice or intention of wrong ould be attributed to him, nor any motive assigned or the deed; he had previously borne a good cha-acter; was recommended to the mercy of the court by the jury, on account of the advanced age, de-lining health and penitence of Barker; and the mprisonment he has already undergone is deemed imprisonment he has already undergone is deemed sufficient to enswer the ends of justice.

23. Charles H. Roberts. Philadelphia, May 7, 1876. Obtaining property by false pretense. One hundred dollars line, and two years and six months in County Prison. Pardoned June 4. Recommended by H. G. Sickel, D. W. Cadwalader, W. D. Moore, Alfred Marple, W. H. Force, William A. Luland, W. P. Worthington, J. H. Leedom, D. W. Earle, Alfred H. Boileau, John Lesher, William R. Tominson, High Atkinson, Ira Hogeland, James M. Ramsey, Jr., Edward S. Bryan, William Heaton, and many other citizens. Reasons:

Roberts is a man of good character; has a family of young children dependent on him for support, who are now without a home and in destitute circumstances; he is in poor health; obdestitute circumstances; he is in poor health; obtained the property of the prosecutor in an ordinary business transaction, paying for it partly in money, and giving his note for the remainder of the consideration, to enforce the payment of which, the consideration, to enforce the payment of which, when he was unable to pay by reason of unavoidable losses in business, this prosecution was commenced; he gave up his entire property for the payment of his debts, and was in no sense guilty of any fraud in the transaction. Joseph Rambo, the presecutor, also recommends his pardon. Two years and five months remitted.

31. Simon M. Landts. January 22, 1870. Uttering, publishing, and exposing to sale obscene printed books. Fine of five hundred dollars and one year in County Prison. Pardoned May 17. Reasons:—The book published and sold by Landis was a medical work, written by himself for the purpose of beneating the community, and not with the intention or for the purpose of corrupting or subverting the mo-rals of any one; his family are in very destitute cir-cumstances, and the ends of justice have been fully met by the punishment already undergone. Bight months remitted.

(It will be noticed that, in this case, the Governor

(It will be noticed that, in this case, the Governor omits the county, and does not give the names of the persons who recommended the pardon.—EE.]
34. Lewis Grim, Philadelphia, March 3, 1870. Exposing a lottery policy for sale, and being concerned in managing and carrying on a lottery. Six months in County Prison. Pardoned June 6. Recommended by all the jurors: by Mahlon H. Dickinson, Alexander Adaire, George D. Martin, Joseph Hacket, W. R. Heins, Peter B. Kueckel, C. Myers, Luke V. Sutphen, John Reixhard, A. H. Shoemaker, J. H. Moore, William F. Davis, William R. Leeds, Levi Eldridge, John Reynolds, George Boyer, Patrick Kelly, F. D. Steimer, William H. Tokand, and H. Yale Smith. Reasons:—Grimm has heretofore borne a good character; is Grimm has heretofore borne a good character; is very poor, a cripple, and sick; his father served through the war as a soldier, and has returned broken in health and in destitute circumstances; and the law has been fully vindicated. Two months

41. Samuel Canby. Philadelphia, Nov. 4, 1869.
Forgery. Twelve months in County Prison. Pardoned July 22. Reasons:—Canby is now in very feeble health; is unable to walk or stand alone; cannot live until the expiration of the sentence.
Dr. R. Yale Smith and Dr. H. E. Goodman certify that his disease is incurable; and the ends of institute. that his disease is incurable; and the ends of instic that his disease is incurable; and the ends of justice cannot be promoted by a longer confinement. (Since reported dead.)

49. John Moran. Philade'phia, Feb. 20, 1969. Larceny. Three years in Eastern Pententiary. Pardoned September 23. Recommended by Dennis Murphy, G. S. Button, W. H. H. Lockhart, W. J. Stephensen. Thomas Hand, John Waldman, Robert M Bride, J. P. Luken, James Wilson, David Henry; ten of the jurors who tried the case; Hon. Leonard Myers, George P. M'Lain, T. F. Mann, and many other citizens of Fhiladelphia. Reasons:—Moran was indicted, with two others, and tried in the absence of the counsel who had been retained to defend him; the jury had serious doubts of his guilt; he was but a boy; his character had been good heretofore; the ameavit of Cornelius Dunn sets forth that Moran had nothing to do with the theft of which he was convicted; he (Dunn), in conjunction with two persons named Morgan and Washmore, committed the larceny.

with two persons named Morgan and Washmore, committed the larceny.

59. Michael Dunn. Philadelphia, August 15, 1868.
Larceny. Three years in County Prison, Pardoned October 29. Recommended by Furman Sheppard, District Attorney. Reasons:—Dunn is an important witness for the Commonwealth in a prosecution for homicide, now pending in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Philadelphia; and it is necessary, in order that the administration of justice be not defeated, that he be pardoned so that he may be a competent witness in the case.

Death Warrants. There were but three death warrants signed and issued by the Governor during the year, as fol-iows:—

1. Albert von Bodenburg. Sentenced January 21, 1870, in Huntingdon county, for the murder of John Peightal, on November 17, 1889. Warrant Issued February 11, 1870. Executed at Huntingdon on Wednesday, March 9.

2. Gotlieb Bohner. Sentenced January 21, 1870, in Huntingdon county, for the murder of John Peightal, on November 17, 1869. Warrant Issued February 11, 1870. Executed at Huntingdon on Wednesday, March 9.

3. John Deall. Sentenced January 31, 1870, in Berks county, for the murder of Richard M. Harlan on October 9, 1869. Warrant Issued April 9, 1370. Executed at Reading on Friday, May 13.

FINANCE AND COUMERCE

EVENING TELEGRAPH OFFICE, Wednesday, Jan. 4, 1871, The exhibit of the city banks on Monday evening augurs well for the speedy return of the market to an easy condition. There has been a substantial improvement in deposits, specie, and legal-tenders, and the loans have also expanded, and as the disbursements now going on in every direction, letting loose a large amount of capital hitherto locked up, shall find their way into the banks, there can be no doubt that the loan market, in another week or ten days, will rule exceptionally easy. A very active speculative demand, however, is likely to follow if rates should fall, as they must, and this will serve to steady the market. Money is being freely offered both on call and time contracts, and rates are hardly so strong, though not materially changed. Gold is quiet and very steady, all the sales ranging from 110 4@110%, opening and closing Government bonds are in good demand and prices are a fraction higher. The Treasury is a ourchaser to-day to the amount of $2,000,000, The Stock Board was very busy this morning and prices were strong. Sales of City 6s, new, at 1001 @ 10014. 99 was bid for the old bonds. Lebish gold loan sold at 85%. PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES. Reported by De Haven & Bro., No. 40 S. Third street.
