THE INCOME TAX.

THERE is, at last, a fair prospect for the repeal of the iniquitous and inquisitorial income tax. The Senate, which has held out against the repeal so stoutly, voted last week to consider, this afternoon, the question of its final abolition. The vote by which the Senate agreed to take up the subject showed more than a two-thirds majority in favor at least of giving the matter its attention, and it is to be hoped that there will be but a small falling off when the decisive vote is at hand. The House of Representatives is likewise about to move in the matter, the Committee of Ways and Means having yesterday, by a vote of 6 to 3, agreed to report a bill repealing that portion of the Internal Revenue law which imposes a tax on incomes. This action of committee is doubtless due to the position taken by General Pleasanton, the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who has signalized the beginning of his administration by making a determined raid upon the most unfair and obnoxious of all the taxes imposed upon the people. It is said that Commissioner Pleasanton is supported in his present recommendations by the President, but this report is open to doubt, as the President has heretofore been a warm champion of the tax on incomes. If he has, indeed, deserted the Western farmers and their representatives who are always laboring to shift the burdens of taxation from their own shoulders to those of the unhappy people who dwell in the large cities on the seaboard, he deserves to be congratulated, and so do the people.

The income tax is not only obnoxious on account of its inquisitorial character, but it is beyond all comparison the most unequal and unjust of all the systems of taxation resorted to. As was shown in the recent statement of internal revenue collections in this city during the year 1870, Philadelphia has been paying an affinual income tax amounting to $2,280,164.46, or about one-third of all the revenue derived from the city by the National Government. The aggregate receipts from taxes on income during the fiscal year 1869-70 throughout the country were $37,775,873.62, or but little more than onefifth of the entire amount received from internal taxation of all kinds. This inequality alone should be sufficient to influence the vote of every fair-dealing Congressman and secure prompt action in accordance with the demands of justice and the will of the people of that section of the country which bears the greatest burden of national taxation.

IRREPRESSIBLE PARKER AGAIN.

THE Board of Guardians of the Poor had a stormy session yesterday, the casus belli being, as usual, Mr. Edward T. Parker. We have endeavored to do justice to this gentleman heretofore by endeavoring to believe in him as a reformer of abuses. but from the investigations we have made and from the matters that were brought to light at the meeting yesterday, we are inclined to sympathize with 'the majority of Mr. Parker's fellow-members on the Board of Guardians, and to consider him as a disturber of the peace and harmony that ought to prevail in the Almshouse as well as in more aristocratic establishments. A special committee which was intrusted with the duty of investigating various charges of mismanagement brought by Mr. Parker against certain officers of the house, reported that they were unable to procure the attendance of that gentlemen, and that they were compelled in consequence to conduct the investigation without his assistance. They further stated that the officers complained of by Mr. Parker produced ample evidence not only to show their entire innocence, but to prove that Mr. Parker himself had interfered improperly on numerous occasions with the management of the house, going so far as to order some of the inmates to be confined in the cells for real or fancied disobedience to his commands. Mr. Parker had no reply to make to the report of the committee except to deny its truthfulness; and the other members of the board, very properly thinking that this denial was of little value, in view of the fact that Mr. Parker had refused to state his case and produce his evidence before the committee, adopted the report and passed a resolution requesting Mr. Parker to resign. This Mr. Parker declined to do, and he consequently remains to be a source of indefinite annoyance to his associates of the Board of Guardians, and all who are connected in any way with the Almshouse. So long as there was reason to believe that Mr. Parker had substantial reasons for his charges of mismanagement, he had the sympathies of the public; but now that he has been shown to be a mere busybody, with a series of imaginary grievances, there will be few who will not commiserate the gentlemen who are obliged to accept him as their associate in the regulation of the affairs of the Alms-

MEMBERS.

RUMORS reach us from Harrisburg that two of the model members contributed by Philadelphia to the lower branch of the State Legislature-Sam Josephs and Slushy Smith -are becoming suspiciously virtuous. If

Sam and Slushy were in dead earnest in their opposition to various little schemes of special legislation, we should delight in chronicling the manifestations of their new-born zeal for the welfare of the people. But there are impossibilities in the political as well as the physical world, and we can no more expect Josephs and Smith to become sincere champions of reform and legislative purity than to see a veritable cow jump over a veritable moon. There is therefore something quite mysterious in the hostility which the little snakes of some of the country members are encountering from Sam and Slushy, and one of the most probable conjectures is that an arrangement is sought whereby these little snakes are to be suffered to crawl through the House only on condition that some enormous serpent, not yet publicly exhibited, which is under the special charge of the Philadelphia members referred to, may be suffered to drag in safety its long and poisonous proportions through the House. The public will soon know, we presume, whether this theory is or is not correct; but meanwhile we hope the country members will not suffer themselves to become too deeply involved in the wiles of the virtuous Fatty and the austere Josephs. Let them remember all the stories they have read of the dodges city sharpers play upon country visitors, and then recollect that Sam and Slushy are about as sharp a pair as Philadelphia has ever sent to the State Capitol. "For ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain" even the Heathen Chinee is not more peculiar than Slushy and Sam; and, while a good many of their country cousins are by no means verdant, they should not depreciate the incomprehensible skill of fellows of the Ah-Sin order.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS COMMISSION, NOW that it is at liberty to prosecute the great enterprise entrusted to it without danger of further interference, has gone to work with a proper amount of energy, and we may expect that our new city hall will be pushed forward to completion with as much rapidity as is possible. At the meeting of the board held yesterday, the contracts for removing the iron railings enclosing the Penn Squares and for removing the trees were awarded, and bids for excavating cellars, etc., and for furnishing material were opened and considered. While the preliminary work is being prosecuted, a plan is being prepared which, it is believed, will be as near perfection as is possible in the accommodations it will provide for the various public offices, while it will be, in an architectural point of view, one of the handsomest buildings on this continent and a magnificent ornament to the city. The gentlemen composing the building commission have good taste and experience, and they may be relied upon to make the new city hall such an edifice as every Philadelphian will be proud of.

NOTICES.

ECONOMY should be practiced by everybody in all things. One dollar expended now in purchasing a bottle of Jayne's Expectorant, by those troubled with a slight Cough or Hoarseness, or Sore Throat, may save the expense of a doctor's bill. A neglected Cough often ends in Consumption. A slight inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes, the usual symptoms of which are a Sore Throat and a Pain in the Breast, will soon lead, through want of attention, to Bronchitis, A day's delay may entail months of suffering. Let the afflicted try at once Jayne's Expectorant, It is a standard remedy, and its curative properties have been tested by thousands of persons who have recovered their health by its use.
