

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

JANUARY WEATHER.

The Meteorological Record of the Month, and its Peculiarities—Extremes of Heat and Cold and an Unusual Fall of Snow.

While January of 1870 was the warmest January on record since 1790, the mean temperature of the month which has just closed fell a little below the average. The following gives the maximum and minimum standing of the thermometer on each day of the month, and also the standing at 9 o'clock in the morning, according to the record at the Pennsylvania Hospital:

Table with columns: Day, Max. (deg.), Min. (deg.), Remarks. Rows for days 1 through 31.

A comparison of the leading features of the corresponding months of 1871 and 1870 is presented in the following—

Table comparing 1871 and 1870: Highest, Lowest, Range during month, Average of maximum, etc.

A comparison of the mean, maximum, and minimum temperature and range, for the month of January in every year since 1860 shows the following—

Table with columns: Year, Mean (deg.), Max. (deg.), Min. (deg.), Range (deg.). Rows for years 1860 through 1871.

The highest point attained in January, 1870, was 70 degrees, while the highest point during the month just closed was 64 deg., which exceeded every marking of the previous year, except that of one day when the thermometer rose to 70 deg.

The lowest point of the month just closed was 23 deg., which was 1 deg. below zero, that of January, 1871, having been 7 deg. above zero. The wide range of 57 deg., however, has served to counteract the unusual cold which prevailed for a few days at the end of the month.

The 23d and the 29th, the two coldest days of the month, were characterized by a continuous fall of snow, the depth of seven inches on the level being measured by the combined fall of the two days.

HENRY THIEMANN, Esq., a well-known tobacconist, died in this city, suddenly, on Sunday last, aged forty years. Mr. Thieman was a native of Germany, but came to Philadelphia when quite a youth and entered into the employment of T. H. Vetterlein, late of this city, gradually rising in the estimation of his employers until he became the resident partner of that house in New York.

EXPORTS.

The Business of the City in Domestic Exports during the Month of January—Tables of the Ports Shipped to and at the Nationality of the Vessels.

The business of exports of commodities, produce, and manufactures of the United States, exported to foreign countries from this port during the past month in American and foreign vessels, includes good quantities of many of our most important articles of merchandise and manufactures, including raw wool, hides, machinery, iron, breadstuffs, including bread and biscuits, Indian corn, Indian corn meal, wheat and wheat flour, of which a quantity was exported equal in value to $86,968.

Table of exports: Country, Value, Nationality. Rows for England, Ireland, Gibraltar, etc.

SAFETY AND STRENGTH.

The New Banking-House of the Tradesmen's National Bank.

The Tradesmen's National Bank take possession of their new building at No. 113 South Third street to-day. This structure, which is one of the finest in the city, covers a lot thirty-two by fifty feet.

The interior of the building, which is on the side of the entrance gives a pleasing effect to the eye. The windows are sixteen feet in height, three feet six inches in width, and are composed of one sheet of plate glass. The interior of the building, of a whole which is devoted to the purpose of a banking room, has a height of thirty-five feet, a width of thirty feet, and a depth of forty feet.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

A Man Literally Roasted Alive. Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, Mr. Chas. Dutilh, residing at No. 311 S. Broad street, was aroused from his slumbers by an alarm of fire.

Perceiving a strong odor of burning wood, he proceeded to the rear of the house, and, finding open the shutters of a window, he saw the upper portion of his stable in flames. By this time the police of the Fifth district had arrived, and by their exertions three valuable horses, three carriages, and a lot of harness were saved from the flames.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA.—The regular meeting of the Agricultural Society of Pennsylvania was held at noon to-day in the rooms of the society, Ninth and Walnut streets, the President in the chair.

THE ELECTION TO-DAY.—To-day the citizens of the Seventeenth Representative district are holding a representative to serve during the unexpired term of the Hon. Joseph A. Campbell, lately deceased. The candidates are C. Howard Griffith, Republican, and Henry W. Dittman, Democrat.

Belmont—Caddie Watson, Annie Longacre, Julia Pringle, etc. Forest and Kenton—L. W. Johnson, Clemmie Johnson, Kate Hatten, etc.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Evening Telegraph Office, Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1871.

The month opens on an easy and rather quiet market, though the amount of business transacted is fully up to the average at this period. There is a fair supply of funds, especially of national currency, both at the banks and in the hands of private lenders, and there is evidently a disposition on the part of the latter to extend to the extent of their ability.

At the Stock Board a moderate business was transacted, and prices were barely maintained. Sales of city 6s, new, at 101 1/4, and issues prior to 1872 at 102.

THE CITY'S GROWTH.

Number of Building Permits Issued. During the month of January just closed there were 190 permits issued by the Building Inspectors.
