

A GREAT WORK.

How Obstructions are Being Removed from the James River. The Richmond Whig gives an interesting account of Professor Mallefert's operations on James the river. After describing the sensation produced by the shock of an explosion under water, which was followed by the upheaval of broken timbers, mud, and stone, and resulted in the removal of two "cribs," about two hundred yards distant from each other, it says:—"The surface of the river in every direction was by this time covered with fragments of huge timbers, which for nearly ten years have obstructed navigation and perpetuated the energy and earnestness of our Confederate engineers. Where there were once two cribs, there are now eighteen feet. There were originally twenty cribs, placed in three rows across the channel, of these nineteen have been removed by Professor Mallefert, and only one remains, viz. that on which rests the wreck of the Confederate gunboat Northampton. This, although not in the contract, will be removed at an early day. These cribs are pens 18 feet by 35 feet, and are 28 feet deep. Their wooden frames, which were so securely secured by strong iron rods, were constructed of timber 24 inches by 18 inches, and were filled with stone—the estimate for each crib being over 400 tons. It usually requires four explosions to a crib, although yesterday three were found sufficient in one instance. These suffice not only to break up the wooden framework but to create four craters in the bottom of the river immediately at the angles of "the crib" into which the stone is rained, and which result in the removal of it from becoming an obstruction in the channel. All of the floating timber and other debris is removed to the shore, and such logs as are soiled and sink are fished up and similarly disposed of. In addition to the obstruction named, Professor Mallefert has removed from the channel at Drewry's Bluff the wrecks of the Currier Peck, two schooners, two barges, and one "lighter," all of which except the steamer were sunk with the "cribs" found sufficient in one instance. The work required him to complete this important work, which was to give us eighteen feet water in a channel two hundred and fifty feet wide, in ninety days, ending the 30th of the present month. And although the weather has been such as to occasion all sorts of delays, he will be able to complete it as promised. The work at Drewry's Bluff, for example, not including the removal of the wreck of the Northampton, will require, it is estimated, two days more; that at "Graveyard Bend" about the same time, and that at "Warwick's Bar" perhaps less. In this connection we are gratified at being able to state by authority that the work of enlarging the James River is now under contract to the American Dredging Company, becoming the contractors—and operations will be commenced early next month. The canal is to be one hundred feet wide at the bottom and one hundred and fifty feet wide at the top, with a depth of fifteen feet.

A WOMAN'S REVENGE.

A Jealous Wife Takes a Deadly Revenge Upon the Destroyer of her Domestic Peace. The Savannah Republican of Saturday last has the following:—"The poet has truly said: 'Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned,' and it was very forcibly illustrated on Thursday night, about the hour of seven o'clock. As far as we are able to learn the facts they appear to be about as follows:—About the hour of seven o'clock, a lady named Staley, called at the house of Miss Margaret, and asked if 'Sue Hangerford,' an inmate of the house, was in. On being answered in the affirmative, she walked in and asked if she could get board there. The proprietress of the establishment told her that she had evidently mistaken the character of the house. She then asked to see Sue Hangerford, who appeared and went to the door, when she was seized by two young men who had accompanied the lady to the house, while Mrs. Staley inflicted eleven stabs on different parts of Miss Hangerford's person, some of them very serious and dangerous in their character. A party of the woman attracted to the inmates of the house, who rushed out and found the two men holding the woman, one on each side, and the lady inflicting the wounds. Rumor gives various surmises as to the cause of this terrible deed. It is, however, understood that the husband of the lady had a too close intimacy with the woman, and that, actuated by revenge, she sought to rid the world of one who had thus alienated the affections of her lawful spouse, and well known in the city. The matter will undergo legal investigation, when the full facts will be brought out. Some of the wounds are most frightful. Although the attending physician says she will recover, she suffers and she has no hopes herself, as she knows, from the depth of the wounds and the pain she experiences, that she cannot recover. After the cutting took place the wounds were dressed, and Miss Hangerford thinking she would die, expressed a desire that no prosecution be had in the matter, preferring to leave the matter in the hands of the higher Judge. But on learning yesterday morning that her life was sought, at the solicitation of friends warrants were issued against the pair. Mrs. Staley was held in bonds in the sum of $10,000 for an assault with intent to murder, and $5000 on a peace bond. Messrs. Staley and Tatem, as accessories, were held to bail in the sum of $5000 each, and $2000 each on a peace bond. Total amount of surety, $27,000. It was reported yesterday afternoon that the injured woman had died, but information received direct at a late hour placed her in a very critical position, though still living.

JAIL DELIVERY.

Escape of Prisoners at Dover. Nathan Anderson, convicted and sentenced for an attempted rape, for ten years, and John Bishop, awaiting trial for the same crime, escaped from the Kent County Jail on Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock. They had made full preparation for escape by picking a hole almost through the wall, and had their iron saw in two ready to make the effort. The sheriff's wife at this time came along and opened the door of their cell to give them a bucket of water, when the prisoners sprang to their feet and rushed past the lady, and going to the door, found the key in the lock in the inside, which Anderson quickly turned, when they made their escape. The alarm being given, Bishop was recaptured in a creek into which he had waded up to his neck in the water. A couple of shots from the sheriff's revolver brought him speedily ashore, but Anderson is yet at large. The sheriff has offered $100 for his recapture. He had only served out about nine months of the ten years for which he was sentenced.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The City Amusements. At the Walnut Mr. Edwin Adams will this evening personate "Raphael" in the drama of "The Marble Heart." To-morrow evening Mr. Adams will have a benefit, when he will appear in a new play by John Brougham entitled "Honor." On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams will commence an engagement. At the Arch Mr. Stuart Robson will appear this evening in "The Burlesque of Zouave," the actor of very superior abilities, for whose presence in our city our theatre goers are indebted to an accident that was to him a personal misfortune. By the burning of the St. Charles Theatre, in New Orleans he was not only thrown out of an engagement, but he also lost his valuable property. A circumstance unfortunate in itself enabled Mr. Davenport to secure his voice for the Chesnut, and since he has been there he has established himself firmly in the regards of the Philadelphia public, and he should have, as he doubtless will, the compliment of a crowded house this evening. On Saturday evening Mr. Albert Roberts, the doorkeeper, and Mr. P. A. Voorhees, the special officer, will have a benefit, when the comedy of "Wild Oats" and the drama of "The Robbers" will be performed. At the American a variety entertainment will be given this evening. To-morrow there will be a family night, when the programme will be arranged expressly with a view of pleasing the tastes of ladies and family parties, and particular care will be taken that nothing to offend the most fastidious shall occur. There is a large and efficient ballet troupe at the American, and a great number of performers of specialties, as Cool Burgess, the comedian; the Leopolds, acrobats; J. H. Milburn, the comic singer and delineator; Andy Hughes, the champion club swinger; Charles Howard and R. Harrison, Ethiopian delineators, and a multitude of others, who follow each other in rapid succession, keeping the audience continually entertained with novelties. A variety performance has the advantage over a legitimate theatrical entertainment that one can enter or leave at any time without breaking the thread of interest, and very many persons who have only half an hour to spare find it pleasant to drop in at the American and see an act or two. The performance to-morrow evening will conclude with the very funny pantomime of "Jack and the Beanstalk," which is itself well worth seeing. On Saturday there will be a family matinee conducted on the same plan as the Friday night performance. The patronage that has been bestowed upon the family performances given in the New American proves that they are appreciated by those to whom they are especially addressed, and every Friday evening and Saturday afternoon hitherto the theatre has been filled with ladies and children, who evidently took much delight in the efforts made for their amusement. At the Museum, Ninth and Arch streets, there will be a dramatic performance this evening. At the Assembly Building the two-headed girl and other living curiosities will be on exhibition this afternoon and evening. AMERICUS, the child violinist, will appear at Concert Hall in a series of concerts, to commence on Monday next.
