WOMEN MISSIONARIES.

Meeting of the Executive Committee-Highly Gratifying Exhibit-Extensive Work Done and Projected-The Philadelphia Branch, Etc. From Our Own Correspondent.

CHICAGO, May 20. The General Executive Committee of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church met in this city on the sixteenth instant. This committee is composed of the Corresponding Secretaries and two delegates from each branch.

The delegates present were Mrs. Dr. Patten, Warren, and Dagget, of New England; Mrs. Bishop Kingsley, Keen, and Eastlack, of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Dr. Butler, Skidmore, and Love, of New York: Mrs. McCabe and Fergusson, of Cincinnati: Mrs. Prescott and Jones, of St. Louis; Mrs. Willing, Rullson, and Kidder, of Chicago: and Mrs. Crook, of Baltimore.

This society, though not three years old, has grown to such immense proportions as to be one of the most influential and important of our benevolent bodies, and this committee supervises in its annual session all the district organizations, and makes a prospective survey of the work to be undertaken during the next year.

The returns for the past year were as follows: Receipts of New England branch $8606

..... 5211

..... 2100

New York Northwest Cincinnati " Philadelphia

Making a total for the year of over $22,000. A new branch was made for the Southern Atlantic States, with headquarters at Baltimore, and another for the Southwest, with headquarters at Atlanta, Georgia.

An eight-paged paper, published by this society, at the low price of 30 cents per year, called the Heathen Woman's Friend, has in the year reached a circulation of 20,000, and has been more than self-supporting. Mrs. Dr. Warren, of Boston, is editor-in-chief.

A committee was appointed to present a me-morial to the United States Government, asking that the rights of the society be recognized, and asking that the Government shall secure protection for the ladies of the society now at

The committee estimated $35,000 as necessary for their work during the coming year. The society has native Bible women in India and China, and five American ladies in those fields superintending their work. One of these is a physician, and has had most marked success in her practice; also as a missionary. Through her practice, doors have been thrown open to her in all directions, and natives of rank have subscribed liberally to her work.

The Philadelphia branch of the society is this year to send out a medical lady to Pekin, and to support eight girls' schools in Lucknow, besides doing other important work.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

"The Serpent on the Hearth" at the Arch. Miss Kate Reignolds is a clever and pleasing actress, who, unfortunately, persists in appearing in pieces which do not show her real abilities to the best advantage. She is naturally a comedian, and in some light and graceful comedy parts she makes a very favorable impression, while she is capable of being equally successful as the representative of a certain class of sentimental heroines whose woes are scarcely profound enough to be considered tragic. Miss Reignolds elects to appear in dramas that class themselves under the head of "sensational," and which require to be performed with energy if they are to make the preper impression on those that witness them. Herstyle, however, is too placid and lacks sufficient breadth for such plays as Nobody's Baughter and The Serpent on the Hearth, and she is not able to do herself justice in them. The last-named piece, which was performed last evening at the Arch to a fair audience, is as interesting as most pieces of its kind, but has the great and glaring defects of the majority of so-called "sensational" plays in being too crowded with incidents of no material moment. and of being too complicated for effective stage treatment. It is the story of a wife unjustly suspected and driven from her home by a jealous husband, the real culprit being a false friend who makes use of her to carry on an intrigue. "Marguerite," the injured wife, wanders about for some time aimlessly, her mind being deranged by her misfortunes, but she is finally, by a fortunate combination of circumstances, restored to reason and to her husband's arms. The various scenes of the play afford some excellent opportnuities for pathetic acting, which are taken advantage of by Miss Reignolds and her personation of "Margaerite" is in many respects the best we have seen her give. A trifle more energy in the situations where energy is demanded would make it a really artistic and impressive performance.

AT THE WALNUT Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watkins appeared last night in the romantic Irish drama of Trodden Down; or, Under Two Flags. This is a stock piece with these performers, and it was as well rendered last night as it has been on former occasions. Trodden Down is quite as interesting as the majority of Irish dramas, and Mr. and Mrs. Watkins as representatives of Irish character have few if any superiors. Trodden Down will be repeated this evening.
AT THE ARCH Miss Kate Reignolds will appear this evening in the drama of The Serpent AT THE CHESNUT the amusing comedy of Saratoga will be performed this evening.

AT THE MUSEUM, Ninth and Arch streets, Mr. Robert McWade will personate "Rip Van

ENGLISH OPERA.—The performance of Robert le Diable in English, which is announced for Thursday evening at the Academy of Music, should attract a large audience. This will be the first performance of this opera in English, and it will be particularly interesting on account of the appearance of Mr. Carl Formes in the part of "Bertram." In addition to Mr. Formes, Mr. Castle, Mr. Arthur Howell, Mr. J. H. Chatterson, Mrs. Bernard, and Miss Howson will appear. The sale of seats will commence will appear. The sale of seats will commence to-morrow at North's music store, No. 1026 Ches

MRS. L. C. LEVIN DE BARROS WIll give a grand concert on Friday evening next at Con-cert Hall, when she will be assisted by Miss Antoinette Stirling, Signor Rizzo, and Mr. George Simpson. A fine programme will be presented, and an unusually attractive enterlainment may be expected.

FROM CHINA.

The Chinese Preparing for War-Novel Artillery Practice - Warlike English Movements-The Korean Expedition-A One-sided Treaty.

From a private letter received in this city from a United States naval officer stationed at Tien-tsin, we are permitted to make the following extracts:-The Chinese seem to be taking active steps to repel some feared attack from foreign nations.

They have strengthened and fully manned the Taken forts (at the mouth of the Peiho river). and I hear they are building some new ones. see them quite frequently drilling their troops near this place. I can't say much for their proficiency. They have been practising with howitzers for the last six months. The target is about 800 or 1000 yards off, and I have never seen them hit the target yet, and everybody else says the same thing. I don't believe they have had a single "hit" since they commenced firing. Their guns are a very pretty arm. They are made on the Dahlgren principle, shorter and heavier than the regular Dahlgren howitzer, and should be very good guns. They are made here, as the Chinese have a regular arsenal and how day will be considered.

powder-mill in operation. The works are superintended by foreigners.

Who the Chinese are making preparations against I am unable to say. Of course we can be counted out. The English seem to have some move on foot out here, if all reports be true. The Juno, a British transport, has arrived at Hong-Kong with a regiment of soldiers. at Hong-Kong with a regiment of soldiers. They were at the time said to be intended to relieve the 10th Regiment, who have been sta-tioned at Yokohama, and who were to have gone home; but now we hear that the 10th is not to go home, but to be strengthened by some companies now on their way out, and that several transports are on their way to this station. What the meaning of these movements is it is hard to say at present. It may be that France has decided to make a demand of China which will cause war, and the English merely wish to be prepared to look on. It is impossible to learn anything of what the French are doing, their headquarters being at Salgon, which is a couple of thousand miles away, and we seldom see any one from that point. The Korean expedition is still talked about, and although it is a "dead secret" everybody seems to be pretty well posted on it. The Minister is to leave Pekin early in April, and meet the Admiral at either Chefoo or Shanghai, and as soon as preparations can be finished they are to set sail for Korea, to deliver a treaty between the United States and that country. From what I can make out, bowever, the treaty has been made all on one side. The Koreans appear to have had nothing to do with it. After the treaty has been delivered the fleet is to leave Korea, and after an interval for the Koreans to think over it, the fleet is to return and receive the document signed. If it is not signed there will probably be trouble, but this part has been discussed very little.

I am very agreeably disappointed in the coreans. We had heard many reports of the ferocity of these people, but those I saw were more pleasant by far than the climate, and apparently a superior race. If, however, there is to be any fighting about the Korean treaty I think the American fleet will have its hands full, for the French were repulsed some time ago when they made an attack, and rather badly beaten.

CITY ITEMS.

WILBOR'S COD LIVER OIL AND LIME .- The friends of persons who have been restored from confirmed consumption by the use of this original preparation, and the grateful parties themselves, have, by recommending it and acknowledging its wonderful efficacy, given the article a vast popularity in New England. The Cod Liver Oil is in this combination robbed of its unpleasant taste, and is rendered doubly effective in being coupled with the lime, which is itself a restorative principle, supplying nature with just the agent and assistance required to heal and reform the diseased lungs.
