HOW TO PURIFY MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS.

The rapid growth of the great cities of the United States has suddenly thrown upon them great responsibilities. To meet these properly, to provide for present and prospective wants, and to guard against many palpable evils and dangers, municipal government demands a degree of constant and thoughtful attention which it, unfortunately, rarely receives. It is often made totally subordinate to national politics, the vital interests of hundreds of thousands of citizens being sacrificed for the gratification of partisan passions or the success of partisan schemes of no real utility. Or, what is still worse, skillful and influential rogues of both parties combine to rule great cities, nominally in the interest of this or that organization, but really for their individual enrichment. Voters have so often shown a readiness to support a rascal or an imbecile who professed to belong to their party in preference to an honest man and able member of an opposing party, that the ring leaders trade on this habit. They are perpetually entreating the masses to vote for this or that bad nominee, knave, or fool, for the sake of the party; and, meanwhile, by bargains with their accomplices in the opposing ranks, and by their individual exactions and corruptions, they are inflicting the greatest possible amount of injury upon the organizations to which they profess to belong as well as upon the whole body of tax-payers. It was said long ago that party was the madness of the many for the benefit of the few; and this is substantially true of the species of partisanship that dominates municipal governments. In their management it is especially necessary that the Jeffersonian tests of honesty and capacity should be rigidly applied to aspirants for office; and when, instead of these tests, we ask only whether aspirants are Democrats or Republicans, disregarding wholly mental and moral qualities, we need not be astonished at the prevalence of inefficiency and corruption. It is high time that voters should ask of candidates such questions as these:—Is he a thief? Is he a public plunderer? Is he a slave of a corrupt ring? Is he leagued with gangs of notorious ruffians and ballot-box stuffers? Is he guilty of subornation of perjury? Would he, if elected, exact, or permit his subordinates to exact, illegal fees? Is he animated mainly by mercenary motives? Would he sell justice, steal the records of the courts, tamper with indictments, or resort to similar methods to shield villainy from merited punishment? Is he a pardon-broker? Is he affiliated with manufacturers of false election returns? Is he a despicable and depraved professional partisan, who has wasted his best energies in a wild hunt for office? Is he an habitual liar? Is he qualified for the proper discharge of the duties of the office to which he aspires? Is he animated by a sincere regard for the public welfare, or does he seek office from motives akin to those animating the burglar who plans the robbery of a bank?

It would be something of a novelty to ask such questions publicly; but to the shame of the present system of nominations and elections, and to the fearful loss of an intelligent and patriotic people, it must be said that an affirmative answer could truthfully be given to many of them, as applied to a large proportion of candidates for municipal offices. It is vain to look for a reform until the people emancipate themselves from that deplorable form of partisan slavery which now prompts many voters to cast their ballots for notoriously bad, weak, wicked, and corrupt candidates. The number who scratch their tickets, however, apparently increases, and there are strong indications that this fall bad nominees on either side will be scratched to an unprecedented extent. An energetic movement is on foot to swell the army of conscientious and discriminating voters to many thousands, and there is a fair prospect that no specially infamous candidate on either city ticket can be elected. Such a movement is growing absolutely necessary to avert our municipal government, and to avert burdens as great as those now imposed upon New York. If it is not cordially sustained, Philadelphia will speedily become the helpless prey of plunderers as powerful, unscrupulous, and exacting as those who are marshalled under the banner of Boss Tweed. Our official aristocracy, too, will revel in princely wealth and magnificence; and our tax-payers will find their only consolation for insupportable burdens in the glitter of their official oppressors.

THE "HEATHEN CHINEE" AS A MAN AND A BROTHER.

A gang of boys on Thursday stoned to death an unoffending Chinaman on one of the public streets of San Francisco, and in the presence of a number of spectators, who, it is to be presumed, enjoyed the exhibition, for none of them attempted to interfere nor was any effort made to arrest the murderers. It is now said that the police are engaged in searching for the young savages who perpetrated this outrage, but it is scarcely within the bounds of possibility that they will be punished even if they are caught. The same despatch that gives us this edifying piece of news also informs us that at Mendocino a mob had ordered all the Chinese to leave the town within ten days on peril of their lives, and not many days ago we were told that a man who murdered a Chinaman in cold blood was permitted to escape the penalties of the law because the only witnesses of his crime were the fellow-countrymen of his victim, and under the laws of California they were not permitted to testify. In view of such occurrences as these, what right have we to complain that proper protection is not afforded to American citizens and other Caucasian foreigners in China? or

In what respect are our Christianity and civilization superior—so far at least as they affect the right of every human being to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness—to the heathenism and barbarism of China? These are questions that the people of this community will be compelled ere long to seriously consider and to answer, if they desire to avoid making the "heathen Chinese" the successor of the "everlasting nigger" as a subject of partisan dispute. Having finally got the African out of the national woodpile, it behooves us to see that the Mongolian does not get into it, and public opinion should express itself so strongly in reference to such outrages as these to which we have alluded, that Chinamen and all other foreigners of whatever race or nationality who may settle within our borders may be assured of fair treatment and legal protection. The bad treatment to which the Chinamen in California are subjected appears to be due to nothing more than the dislike of the Caucasian to men belonging to what he esteems inferior races, and the most deplorable thing connected with the Chinese question is that some of the professional philanthropists who were the most ardent champions of the African now turn their backs upon the Mongolian, repudiating him as a man and a brother, and denying that he has rights a white man is bound to respect unless it suits his interest to do so. It was reported not long ago that the Chinese Government had declared its intention no longer to abide by the provisions of the Burlingame treaty, giving as a reason for so doing that the United States Government did not properly protect the Chinese who came to this country to seek their fortunes. The accusation is only too true, and we cannot with any consistency complain of such occurrences as the Tien-tsin massacre, when similar outrages are perpetrated in our own country without exciting general indignation and without any efforts being made to bring the assassins to justice.
