He got out again, however, and yesterday he returned to his rufflan-ism. He became drunk in his house, procured a razor, and chased his mother and sister around, threatening to cut their throats. Their acreams brought into the house Officer Mulli-gan, who arrested Comar. Alderman Toland sent the accused to prison.

MURDER WILL OUT.

Scott the Burgiar Identified as a Murderer -The Particulars of the Tragedy-Lucky Officers.

The announcement appeared in our local columns yesterday that Charles Scott, alias Scott, alias John Fox, who was shot while attempting to escape from Lieutenant Flaherty, was charged with a brutal murder in Clarke county, Ohlo. A telegram was this morning received from the Lieutenant and Detective Gordon, stating that they had obtained the requisition necessary to permit the ransportation of the felon to the scene of his terrible crime. Scott, before his recent indictment for murder, was always regarded as a great criminal, guilty of all phases of crime, but the killing of a fellow being was never before lodged against him. The fearful tragedy in which he played so conspicuous a part was enacted on the 10th of October, 1867, about five miles west of Springfield, in Ohio. Here lived one of the respected and wealthiest citizens of Clarke county, named Daniel Hertzler. His fortune was estimated at $300,000. At two o'clock in the morning of the day in question Mr. Hertz-ler's wife arose to attend to a sick child, and, after administering to it some medicine, she laid down again, but a few minutes afterwards heard an unusual noise in the house. At this time Mr. Hertzler was sleeping soundly, and his wife awoke him and told him of what she had heard. A moment afterwards, Mrs. Hertzler was seized by the throat by an unknown desperado, and Mr. Hertzler, taking up a rifle, which was near by, endeavored to protect himself. A desperate struggle ensued between Mr. Hertzler and one of the burglars, during which a shot was fired, and on hearing this, the man who had seized Mrs. H. let go his hold and went to assist his confederate. Several more shots were fired, and during the fearful combat Mrs. Hertzler effected an escape from the house and ran to alarm the nearest neighbors, who promptly hurried to confront the murderers. So desperate had been the encounter with Mr. Hertzler that the burglars were glad to escape with their lives, and got away in haste, with the help of horse and buggy that belonged to the murdered Upon reaching the house, the neighbors found Mr. Hertzler lying in the centre of the room, with his rifle close by, it having been discharged. His clothing was badly torn and saturated with blood. One of the shots of the burglars had pierced his heart, and another had roken his right leg, while upon the left temple of the murdered man was a three cornered gash, made by some heavy weapon. In Mr. Hertzler's room was a safe, which contained bonds to the value of $30,000, but so furiously were the burglars resisted that they left without working for the prize which had brought them there.

Suspicion was at once created against several desperate men who were known in Springfield, and in a short time the authorities had arrested an individual who called himself Henry C. Roberts, who, it is said, had in his possession a hat which was taken from Mr. Hertzler's by the ourglars in their hurry to get away. They also had in custody a man named Harry D. Pope, and on November 20, 1867, Officers Donovan and Newcomb arrested Charles Scott, at a house near Springfield, on suspicion of being con-cerned in the murder. Taking advantage of the time that Scott took his supper, these officers called for him while he was sitting at his meal, and on this occasion he first displayed his power of resistance. A furious fight took place be-tween Scott and the representatives of the law, in which the latter finally succeeded. To help his escape, Scott had altered his appearance by letting a full beard grow over his former smootl face, but he had marks and peculiarities about him which he could not disguise. He was subsequently imprisoned in the Clarke county jail, but by some means escaped therefrom, and has since been roving as a noted burglar in various parts of the United States.

A reward of $5000 has been standing for his capture nearly four years, and when Lieutenant Flaherty places the felon in the Clarke county all, he will unquestionably get it. During his confinement at Pennsylvania Hospital, Scott was nervously anxious to escape, but was guarded by two policemen. Flaherty and Gor-don will arrive to-night and carry Scott back to Yesterday Pinkerton's detectives were in the city to secure Scott for a robbery committed in Javolette, Missouri.

BURGLARY.

The Residence of Dr. Shinn Entered. The residence of Dr. Shinn, at the southwest corner of Broad and Spruce streets, was broken into, between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, by burglars, who secured entrance by leaping the fence and breaking off a slat of the summer-kitchen door. The bolt was pushed back, and the thieves then jimmled the door leading into the main kitchen. At this point their opera-tions were heard by the wife of the doctor. She immediately informed her husband, who straightway went for assistance. On the cor-ner he found two gentlemen convers-ing, and informing them of what had occurred, the three re-entered the house. A search was made, and in the out-house they found two burglars concealed. They were seized and brought into the kitchen, when one of them turned out to be no other than the notorious Henry Demoellen, a most consummate ruffian. No sooner had this desperado entered the kitchen when he seized a flat-iron from the mantelpiece and struck Dr. Rickets, one of the gentlemen who had come to the rescue. Doctor was not much injured, however, and he returned the blow with interest. He promptly knocked Demoellen sprawling. Officers Cochrane and Dugan put in an appearance at this stage of affairs, and the two burglars were marched. The other prisoner gives the name of

End of the Bowen Case. WASHINGTON, June 13 .- This morning Hon. C. C. Bowen, recently convicted of bigamy, was brought into the criminal court to be seatenced. Mrs. Susan Pettigru King said, "If you sentence him, sentence me too, for I am as much to blame as he is." Bowen then made a statement concerning the circumstances of his marriage, before which Mrs. King had sent to New York and obtained a copy of the record of his divorce from a former wife.

She as well as himself was satisfied that everything was right, and that there were no legal ob structions in the way of their marriage. Judge Olin then sentenced Bowen to pay a fine of Government Weather Report. WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, June 12-10-30 A. M.—Synopsis for the past twenty-four hours:—The weather remains without important change west of the Mis-souri river. The highest pressure is now found in Tennessee, and the barometer has very generally risen along the Atlantic coast, and south of the Ohio river. The storm of Monday morning cleared away in the afternoon and evening on the Atlantic coast, and clear weather has very generally provated days and clear weather has very generally prevaied dur-ing the night from Iowa to New England, and south-ward, excepting a light rain on the Gulf. A very sudden fall in the barometer was reported on Mon-day afterneon in wisconsin and Minnesota. No reports have since been received from the Northwest stations, but it is probable that high winds, with little or no rain have been experienced on Lakes Superior and Huron. The barometer is now very low on Lake entario.

Probabilities.—Pleasant weather will probably con.

tinue during the day from Virginis to Michigan, and southward to the Gulf. Fresh northwest winds are probable from Lake Eric to Lake Superior. The low barometer on Lake Ontario will probably move eastward, with brisk winds from the southwest and northwest from Lake Eric to Massachusetts and New Jersey.
