A Beautiful Banner.

On Saturday next our Philadelphia singing societies, numbering twenty-two, and with a membership of over seven hundred, will take their departure for New York, at which place they will participate in the great Seegerfest which takes place in that city shortly. Last evening William J. Horstmann, Esq., presented to these societies a banner of beautiful design and manufacture, made at his establishment, under the direction of Mr. C. Mayer, superintendent of the flag department. This tasteful piece of work is of the most elaborate workmanship, costing not less than $1000. It is full five feet high by three broad, mounted upon a staff of rosewood with gold mouldings. The face rosewood with gold mouldings. The face is made of real silk velvet, and enclosed in a border of black silk velvet backing up a profusion of gold leaves. In the centre is a golden shield, enclosing the German eagle, and from the shield on the right hang the American colors in relations. hang the American colors in miniature, and en the left the German flag. These are wrought into the main material with exquisite skill. Surmounting this central figure is the coat-of-arms of the United States, and a little below is a golden harp, the strings and frame of which are entwined with leaves of gold.

The back of the banner is of white moire antique, relieved by a large wreath composed of sprigs and leaves of oak—Germany's emblema-tic tree. In the centre of this is placed the following inscription:-

> NORD OESTLICHER. Sængerbund. Philadelphia, 1871.

The top of the staff is also surmounted by beautiful golden wreath and eagle. The whole appearance is most beautiful, and reflects much credit upon the skill of the gentleman who designed and the parties who executed it.

THE MUSICIANS.

They are Received by the Mayor.

This morning the delegates to the Musical Convention, which has just closed in Musical Fund Hall, called upon Mayor Fox at his office and were introduced by their leader pro tem., Mr. John Ritter. The Mayor made the following brief address:—

Gentlemen:—I am very happy to see you, and to acknowledge this morning's call to be not only a compliment to me personally, but also in my offcial capacity as a token of your respect for the city.

I am very glad indeed to find that Philadelphia, from its central location, its easy accessibility, and the abundance of comforts and enjoyments they have who honor us with their presence in this connection, is being regarded as a pre-eminently suitable locality for holding conventions in. This seems to be testifled to by the very great increase in the number being held here of late. It must be a source of being held here of late. It must be a source of gratification to yourselves, as I am sure it is to us, that the sessions of the National Musical Convention have passed off so very harmoniously and without the slightest discord; and I trust the proceedings will result in profit to all who were interested in them. To this, as to all other intelligent communities, the cultivation and promotion of the science of music, and everything which spreads and extends a popular love for it, is, as it should be, a matter of public advantage next to the worship of God, in which, indeed, it is brought to bear an important part. Its influence, when properly exerted, is sure to elevate and ennoble; and, therefore, your convention has not been without the atfore, your convention has not been without the at-tention of our intelligent public.

I congratulate you upon a happy termination of your labors, and wish each of you who live away from us a safe return to your own people and families.

If it is perfectly convenient for you now it will give

If the perfectly convenient for you to Indepen-me much pleasure to accompany you to Indepen-dence Hall, where are stored many objects of pa-triotic association that may interest you. After hearty hand-shakings, the party visited Independence Hall, and went through the laborious effort of mounting the steeple steps.

A CORRECTION .- Mr. Perkins, of the Board of Trade, has sent us the following communication in reference to an error contained in our comments on the "Port Wardens" bill, in Thursday's issue of this paper:-

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, PHILADELPHIA June 22, 1871 .- Editor of TELEGRAPH-Dear Sir:perceive by your paper of yesterday that you were led into a misapprehension of the proceedings of the Board of Trade on Monday morning as to (a minor matter) the amount of fee exacted by the Board of Port Wardens for the privilege of entering a vessel at their office. It was written on the paper handed to the reporters, in figures, one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50), with the dollar mark and the decimal point rather obscure. Hence the mistake.

A. J. PERKINS, Secretary Philadelphia Board of Trade.

RESCUED .- The other evening, while a party of young men were returning from a pleasure trip up the river, and when opposite Shippen street wharf, the boat capsized, and one of the young men, the youngest of the party, who was unable to swim, fell overboard, and had it not been for his brother and another young man, George Doreo by name, he would have met with a watery grave.

WAIF.—This morning a female child of seven months' age was left in the entry of the residence of Father Mulholland, adjoining St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, at Twentieth and Rittenhouse streets. The infant was taken charge of by a Fifth district officer.

These excursions have from the first been the most popular of all that go to the charming City by the Sea. The tickets for the round trip are but $2 each. Let the lovers of pleasure the petities of pleasure take notice.

His residence was in Philip street, above Jefferson.

The Maryland Republican State Central Committee meeting yesterday, at Baltimore, after a long discussion adopted resolutions favoring common schools, an improved judiciary system, encouraging emigration, and endorsing Postmaster-General Cresswell as the greatest statesman of the age. The Bond faction opposed the Creswell resolution as the sentiment of sycophants, and declared he was the stumbling-block of the party, and while he persisted in representing to the President that he carried the Republican party in his pocket Maryland would be hopelessly Democratic. It is evident from the condition of things that there is no hope for Maryland this

SAD FATALITY.

A Washington County Farmer Killed at McDonald Station. Mr. Thomas Wilson, an old and respected farmer of Washington county, was instantly killed at McDonald station, Pan Handle Railroad, at four o'clock Monday afternoon. He had driven a load of wood to the station, which he sold for three or four hundred dollars. In starting home with his team, it became necessary for him to cross the railroad track. The express train west was rapidly approaching, and had whistled for the station. An eastern-bound passenger train stood on the siding above the station. Just as he attempted to make the creesing, some persons shouted to him and warned him of his danger, but he drove on, probably supposing that they had reference to the trais on the siding. The express was at this time hidden behind a sharp curve, which prevented the engineer of the train from seeing the team. The train came in sight just as Mr. Wilson was driving upon the track, and a collision was inevitable. The wagon was broken to pieces, and Mr. Wilson was knocked out, falling upon the cow-catcher, and then upon the ground. When picked up he was dead, his skull having been broken so as to permit a portion of the brain to escape. Both horses were also killed. The train was stopped as soon as possible, and the body was taken charge of by the conductor. Justice Moorhead empanneled a jury, and after viewing the body adjourned until Tuesday evening, when several witnesses were examined, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts. The deceased was sixty-three years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children, two of whom are married.

A JERSEY PHENOMENON.

The Bottom Out of the Morris Canal-A Nut for Naturalists. The citizens of Breadway, Warren county, N. J., and the residents of the neighboring townships, have been greatly excited by a curious phenomenon. On Monday morning, about 10 o'clock, as a canal boat from Phillipsburg was passing over the seven-mile level between New Village and Broadway, the driver of the boat heard an unusual rumbling noise, like that of muffled thunder, and looking ahead he saw in the canal, about a hundred yards beyond, the water seething and boiling like a whirlpool. Though stricken with fear, he crossed in safety the dangerous eddy, but had not gone many yards when he was startled by an unusual noise, and, turning, discovered that the bottom of the canal bad given way, and in a short time he was canal bad given way, and in a short time he was on dry land. The water in the canal for a dis-tance of a mile and a half had in a wonderfully

Careful investigations were made of the neighboring streams and the surrounding country, but no outlet for the water was short time disappeared in a cavity, of which the dimensions of the opening were forty by fifty

Above the canal, in a wood, three apertures were made, averaging in diameter twenty by twenty-five feet. In these holes or cavities rocks and trees were swallowed up. The tops of the trees were visible to the eye, while the trunks were entirely buried in the earth. Figsures were made on the surface below the canal, to the extent of hundreds of yards. Laborers have been constantly engaged in filling up the hole in the canal, but as yet have made no apparent progress. One hundred bundles of corn stalks, together with the branches of trees, were thrown into the cavity, and disappeared immediately from sight.

The cause of this phenomenon is a mystery which only an Agassiz can attempt to explain Some think that there is a cave in the hill, and that this immense volume of water has been deposited there by a breakage in the upper layer of earth surmounting the cave. Others are of the opinion that this being a limestone region, a spontaneous combustion of the lime has been going on for years, and a vacuum or cavity necessarily produced, into which these waters have been precipitated. Which of these opinious is the correct one will be made manifest by future developments. The loss of the Morris Canal Company by this accident is calculated to be about ten thousand dollars.

A NOON-DAY BANK ROBBERY.

A New York Bank Robbed of $25,000 in Money and Bonds-No Clue to the Robbers. From the Utica Observer, 19th.

The inhabitants of Fulton county have been in a high state of excitement since Saturday in a high state of excitement since Saturday noon, caused by the robbery of the Gloversville Bank, at Gloversville, in the early part of Saturday afternoon, and the killing of Marcus Dye, in the same village, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The following are all the particulars of the robbery which we are allowed to make public at present:-Between 1 and 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon a man came into the Gloversville Bank and inquired how large a Government stamp it was necessary to affix to a mortgage for $1000. The teller replied, "A $1 stamp." The man thanked him and stepped back from the counter to a small desk to make way for other parties who entered at that time.

After these parties had been waited on, the man approached the teller's desk and said he observed that the bank advertised "Northern Pacific Railroad bonds for sale," and engaged the teller in conversation about railroad securities, making a special inquiry in regard to the value of the Fonda, Johnstown, and Gloversville Railroad bonds as an investment. The teller gave him all the information in his power. After further conversation on various subjects, the stranger thanked the teller for the information received, and left the bank. While the teller was thus engaged, a second party, who was, without doubt, the "pal" of the inquisitive stranger, obtained access to the vault of the bank and succeeded in abstracting from it available funds to the amount of $15,000, and about $10,000 worth of North Carolina coupon and other bonds.

The robbery was not discovered until two or three hours after it had been committed, when the alarm was immediately given. An effort was made to notify the police at Fonda, but the robbers were sharp enough to cross the telegraph wires, cutting the Gloverville office out of the circuit. When the officers reached Fonda, they found that two men, one answering the description of the person who conversed with the bank-teller, had engaged a horse at a livery stable to go to Gloversville, had been gone long enough to drive there, and had returned the horse to the stable. This is the only clue yet obtained which we are permitted to make public at present.

REMARKABLE SURGICAL CASE.

Raised from the Dead to Sue a Railroad Company for $30,000. The Baltimere Sun says: - In the Court of Common Pleas a case was commenced in which Thomas Fitzpatrick, by his next friend, etc., sues the Baltimore and Ohio Rallroad Company for damages, laid at $30,000. The plaintiff is a boy, fourteen years of age, who was injured on the 20th of November, 1870, by the cars of defendant, who is charged with negligence. The injuries received by the boy, and his escape from death, present a remarkable case of successful surgery. The boy attempted to cross South Howard street by an opening in a train of twenty-five burden cars standing on the track. The train was put in motion and the boy was caught between the cars. The result was that his collar bone was fractured, his shoulder blade crushed to "a bag of bones," the upper part of his arm broken, and two or three ribs crushed. A piece of iron tore open his right cheek, fractured his jaw and cut off his tongue by the roots, Dr. McKowen, who first saw the boy, testified that he did not think the boy could survive but a few nours. Finding him alive next morning he called on Dr. Allan P. Smith, who was a skilful surgeon, to try and relieve the boy's sufferings. Dr. Smith was in court and testified that he did not think the boy could live; he was unable to take food or drink water in consequence of his lacerated throat, and was suffering terribly from thirst, and afterwards from hunger. He succeeded in keeping him alive by injections of beef tea and milk punch by a pipe conveyed through the nestril to his stomach. Dr. Smith had preserved the boy's tongue in a bottle of spirits which was shown to the jury. Notwithstanding his complicated injuries, and the fact that the wound had not yet healed, the boy was in court and testified in his case as far as he was able with his indistinct speech. He can utter sounds with the lips, and some guttural and nasal tones, but of course can speak no words requiring the use of the tongue. The case is still on trial.

THE NEW YORK HORROR.

The Last Scene in the Triple Tragedy. Dr. Connolly and his two children were buried yesterday from the French Church in West Twenty-third street. Each body was borne to the church in a separate hearse, and as the cortege approached the edifice the services of a large police force were required to clear the way. First was borne up the main aisle to the chancel a rosewood, silver-mounted coffin containing the remains of the father, and following were two white caskets, gold mounted, with the bodies of the little ones. The widow, supported by several of her friends, followed. The Rev. Father Le Font officiated. After the requiem high mass Mrs. Connotly and her brother received the holy communion. When the widowed mother leoked into the caskets she fell fainting on the floor. She was taken home in a coach, and the father and two children were borne to Calvary Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Drs. Finnell, Boden, and Sheraux, and Judge Quinn. -Sun, to-day.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL Congressman Bowen's Case. The Wall Street Panic. Excitement Not Yet Subsided Important Indian Council. The Case of John Ware.

Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

FROM WASHINGTON. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Exclusively to The Evening Telegraph. Indian Affairs. The Secretary of the Interior has received a letter from Commissioner Brunot, of the Indian

Board, dated Fort Laramie, June 14, in which he speaks of his visit to the Ogallalia Sloux. under Red Cloud, whom, with his braves, heartily met in council. The object is to induce the Indians to move to another section. Some of them think the White River country the best place, but Red Cloud prefers some point on the White River. Mr. Brunot does not think that either the welfare of the Indians or the permanency of peace would be secured by yielding to this demand.

It is impossible to keep whisky away from them, and unless its use and the presence among them of lawless men be prevented, no measures for the civilization of the Indians can be effectual. Even on the military reservation of Fort Laramie, and in spite of the efforts of General Smith and the agent to prevent the sale of whisky, the Indians are frequently intoxicated, and there is constant danger of affrays which may culminate in a serious outbreak as the Special Despatch to the Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, June 22.

Boweu's Pardon seems to hinge on the political strength of the Republican factions in the Congressional district of South Carolina of which Charleston is the central point. So far the President refuses to commit himself for either faction. There is no doubt but that a majority of legal votes cast in that district at the late election for member of Congress were cast for Bewen, and that De Large was seated simply by a count of fraudulent votes.

Since the commencement of the persecution against Bowen some half dozen judges of election in that district have been tried, found guilty, and sent to the penitentlary. This virtually gives Bowen his seat, but his enemies are making strenuous efforts to prevent the President pardoning Bowen, while, on the other hand.
