MASONIC.

Soloma Ceremonies at Mount Moriah Cemetery at Noon To-day-Unveiling and Dedication of a Monument to the Memory of the Late Grand Tyler of the Grand Ledge of Pennsylvania-Tribute by Past Master Henry M. Dechert.

To-day an unusual event in the Masonic fraternity of Philadelphia transpired, being the dedica-tion of a monument to the memory of the late Grand Tyler of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, William Bockins Schnider, For more than a quarter of a century he had held the same office of high trust and honor: he succeeded his father, Charles Schnider, the successor of his father, William Schnider, who was the first Grand Tyler of the Grand Lodge of this State. The son of the late Grand Tyler now holds the same eminent office, which has been filled by the Schniders from time almost imme-morial. William Bockius Schnider died in 1867, and his remains were placed in the family vault is Monument Cemetery. Scarcely a year ago they were re-moved to Mount Moriah Cemetery, West Philadel-phia. The project of erecting a memorial shaft was then started, and gained favor at once. Subscriptions were raised, and under a plan which permitted every Mason in the State to give his molety. Seven thousand dollars were thus raised, and just meet the necessary expenses. The monu-ment was constructed by Van Gunden & Young, of this city, the latter of whom went to Italy, procured a block of purest marble, and had the work executed under his supervision. The base is triangular, each side being sixteen feet in length, the height being thirteen feet. It is formed of three layers of marble, each succeeding layer being somewhat smaller than its predecessor, so that the appearance given is that of a light of steps. Next follows, upon the top, the die, which has upon one side a bust of the decessed, the altar and Bible on another, and Masonic emblems on the third. The shaft is of the Corinthian order, nineteen feet high, and is surmounted by the square and compass cut in marble. The die shaft are of the purest Italian marble. The del and shaft are of the purest Italian marble. The total length of the monument is thirty-five feet.

To participate in the dedication of this the first monument raised by the Masons of this jurisdiction, invitations were sent to all the lodges, nearly every

the solemn ceremonies. At 11 o'clock this morning, when all the delegations had arrived, the procession was formed at the cemetery gate by the Grand Marshal, Mr. George W. Wood, in this order:

When the procession reached this Masonic ground it halted, the brethren opened to the right and left, while the grand officers passed through to and lert, while the grand olineers passed through to take their places on the platform. Then brethren then formed in a hollow square around the shaft. William J. Kelly, of Lodge No. 59, and Secretary of the Building Committee, then addressed the Deputy Grand Master, Samuel C. Perkins (acting in the place of Grand Master Robert A. Lamberton, who was unavoidably detained in Harrisburg),

Right Worshipful Grand Master:—The committee to whom was intrusted the duty of procuring and erecting a monument to the memory of our deceased brother, William B. Schnider, late Grand Tyler of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania have performed that duty, and the monument is now ready to be dedicated, with ceremonies accordant with the ancient usages of the fraternity.

To which the acting Grand Master returned:— My Brother:—I congratulate the committee upon

My Brother:—I congratulate the committee upon the completion of their labors, and it affords me satisfaction to comply with the expressed wish of the brethren; and, with the assistance of the grand officers, I shall now preceed to solemnly dedicate this monument to the memory of that good Mason and faithful officer whose name it bears, Brethren, the blessing of Heaven upon our labors will now be asked by the Grand Chaplain, Brother George W. Maclaughlin.

Grand Chaplain Maclaughlin then delivered this

Consecration Prayer .- Almighty and ever-glorious and Gracious Lord God, Creator of all things, and Governor of everything Thou hast made, mercifully look upon Thy servants, now assembled in Thy name and in Thy presence, and bless and prosper "all our works begun, continued, and ended in Thee."
Graciously bestow on us wisdom in all our doings; strength of mind in all our difficulties, and the beauty of harmony and holiness in all our communications and work. Let faith be the fruit of our obedience to Thy revealed will. And, finally, graciously be pleased, O Thou sovereign Architect of the Universe, to bless the craft wheresoever dispersed, and make them true and faithful to Thee, to their neighbor, and to themselves. And when the time of our labor is drawing near to an end, and the pillar of our strength is declining to the ground, graciously enable us to pass through "the vailey of the shadow of death," supported by "Thy rod and Thy star," to those mansions beyond the skies, where love and peace and joy forever reign before Thy throne.

The brethren then answered-Glory be to God on The oretinen then answered—Giory be to God on high, on earth peace, good will toward men.

The Grand Master then said, "Let the monument now be unveiled," and the canvas was dropped from the glittering shaft.

The chairman of the Building Committee, Mr. John Q. Ginnodo, of Lodge No. 19, delivered this address to the Grand Master:—

Right Worshipful Grand Master:—On behalf of the lodges whom he faithfully served for so many years, and whose contributions have erected this trioute to his memory. I now present to you, representing the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, this monument, which marks the spot where repose the mortal remains of Brother William B. Schnider, late Grand Tyler of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania The Grand Master said:—In the name of the supreme and eternal God, the grand Architect of heaven and earth, to whom be all glory and honor, I dedicate this monument to the memory of our deceased brother, William B. Schnider, for many years

Grand Tyler of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge The Grand Chaplain then prayed:-"O Lord God, there is no god like unto Thee, in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, Who keepest covenant and shewest mercy unto Thy servants, who walk before Thee with all their hearts.

"Let all the people of the earth know that the Lord is God, and that there is none else. Let all the people of the earth know Thy name and fear Thee." Response by the brethren-"The Lord is gracious, and His mercy endureth forever."

The Grand Chaplain then said:—

Blessed be the Lord, that hath given rest unto His people. The Lord our God be with us, as He was with our fathers. Let Him not leave us nor forsake us; that He may incline our hearts unto Him, to walk in all His ways, and to keep His command-ments, and His statutes, and His judgments, which

He has commanded. Response by the Brethren—Giory be to God on high, peace on earth, good will towards men.
The procession then reformed and marched to an adjoining grove, where a platform was raised, on which acting Grand Master Samuel C. Perkius, Sc-nior Grand Warden, Alfred R. Potter; Junior Grand mior Grand Warden, Alfred R. Potter; Junior Grand Warden, Robert Clark; Grand Treasurer, Peter Williamson; Grand Secretary, John Thomson; Grand Chaplain Maclaughlin; Senior Grand Deacon, Andrew Robeno; Junior Grand Deacon, Joseph H. Shantz; Grand Tyler, Charles Schuider, and Past Master Henry M. Bechert, Lodge No. 274, took their seats. took their seats.

The latter then delivered this eloquent tribute to the memory of the deceased :-Address by Henry M. Dechert, P. M. of Hamilton Lodge, No. 274.

Right Worshipful Sir and Brethren; Soon after the death of our brother a few warm hearted mon, some of his personal friends, suggested the placing of a suitable memerial stone over his grave.

The proposition was so favorably received by the brothren, that a committee was formed on behalf of a large number of the loges in the jurisdiction for the purpose of completing the work.

The monument stands upon a granite base, and is of pure and unblemished Italian marble; it has been sculptured by skilful workmen. The delicate carving almost rivals the tracing upon the leaves of the forest trees, the menumens of God's mercy and care for man.

We walk reverently down the sisles of this peaceful cometery, consecrated by the tears of thousands who have arried here piously and tenderly their leved ones alled from earth to heaven. They are at rest new—all dust, and the grass waves in the summer's breeze, and the rain falls upon them, but they heed it not.

We have turned aside for a brief hour from the busy scenes of life, to take part in these solemn services. Standing in this resting-place for the dead, we are remineded that we, too, are mertal, and that all these now sleeping around us once were animated with the hopes, the fears, and the joys of life.

Their morning hours shone bright in the beams of promise; they passed away as the leaves of the forest before the summer's storm or the autumn's blast, and like unto them, their bedies have withered and gone again into the dust from whence they sprang.

The infield would stand here as one without hope. These graves, this silence of the dead, would tell him nothing, save the dread story of decay and of eternal death.

The sublime principles of our faith teach us that man is immortal; the voice of God, speaking to us through Revellation, says, "We shall not all deep; but we shall all be charged, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump. So when the corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written:

"Death is swallowed up in victory."

"Death is swallowed up in victory."
"O peath, where is toy sting? O grave, where is thy vic We stand here between the past and the future; the present is a narrow istimus between two boundless oceans; the one is marked for a few thensand miles from the abore by the tracks of vessels now dismantied and useless; the other is an abyse whose waters no mortal eye can see.

Masonry teaches us the doctrine of a blessed immortality. We have deposited in the grave of our lamented brother the evergreen as an emblem of our faith in the immortality of the soul. We are reminded by it that we have an immortal part within us, which shall never, never die.

We have come here to renew our faith over the grave of our late brother, William B. Schnider, and to testify to each other as to the purity and the faithfulness of his life. He walked in and out among us in the discharge of his official duties, and by his honesty and manliness of character won the esteem and love of all his brethren.

We were accustomed to receive from him the friendly summons to our several Lodges and Chapters; he is now gone, and we are left to commemorate his virtues, so that he may become an example for his children and children's children.

His brethren in Masonry have erected this monument, that all men who pass by may know of him as we knew that all men who pass by may know of him as we knew him.

Brother Schnider was born in this city on the 28th day of March, 1817, and died on the 18th day of December, 1847. He was appointed in the month of December, 1844. Grand Tyler or the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and continued in the laborious discharge of the duties of that office until his death.

He was a man of quick apprehension and of clear and decided judgment. His powers of memory were extraordinary, and beyond those of any other man known to our community. These characteristics eminently fitted him to be a faithful sentinal at the portals of our temple. No cavesdropper or coven could gain admittance while he stood at the gates.

His genial smile welcomed the fraternity when they went up to the temple. Young and old alike sought for

His genial smile welcomed the fraternity when they went up to the temple. Young and old alike sought for advice from him as a friend. Visiting brethren came to him as one they would not ask of in vain. The stranger or wayfaring man appealed in his distress to the Grand Tyler, and our Brother Schnider, first finding the complaint to be just, responded with alacrity and tender sympathy to the cry of distress. His own purse was always open for the relief of a worthy but distressed brother—his hand was ever ready to sustain him—his heart beat responsively to our joys and sorrows. Home was the happiest place on earth for him, there he met affectionate relatives and friends whose comfort and happiness wero his constant care. We remember to-day with our fraternal sympathy the widow and orphans whose bereavement, now chastened by time, still discovers the vacant seat in the family circle.

He was always to be trusted in small things as well as in great'r affairs, and it can be truly said that during his life he wronged no man, and failed to discharge no single trust confided to him. He lived and died an honest his life he wronged no man, and failed to discharge no single trust confided to him. He lived and died an honest man.

In this solemn presence I would use no words of studied eulogy. This meanment has been erected by his brethren from no spirit of display or worldl; show.

"Can storied un or animated bust

Back to its mansion call the fleeting breath?

Can Honor's voice provoke the silent dust.

Or Flattery soothe the dull coid ear of death?"

Perhaps the happy spirit of our brother is now present with us, rejoicing at our affectionate sympathy.

This polished marble, these emblems, that Corinthian column, are types. They do not speak to him that is dead, but to the living. The granite and marble will perish with the lapse of a joe, but to us, and to those who shall come after us, these emblems will mark the honest and faithful labors of a brother who lived justly towards all men and reverently and piously in the presence of the Sovereign Marter of the Universe; that column, pointing to the skies, will remind us of that house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Before any man can take part in the mysteries of our Order, he must not only acknowledge the existence of God, but he must put his curst in Him. To trust in God is much more than a mere belief in God. It is to rely upon Him in all times of trouble and prosperity, to repose confidence in His promises, and to have faith in Him. If we trust in Him our faith is well founded. By faith come hope and charity; and by faith only can we be made acquainted with things not seen. Our brother lived in this faith, and we rest in the abiding trust that his disembedied spirit now delights in the glories of an unseen world.

The anciem' Israelites consecrated the Temple upon Mount Morial, and they covered it with marble and precious jewels; it was a symbol of their faith and worship. The body of our beloved brother rests beneath this monument, dedicated by lawful authority, that we may show his and our faith and abiding trust in Almighty God, the grand Architect and Master of the Universe. Upon the conclusion of this address the brethren deaths in the city for the week ending at noon to-day was 321, being 47 in excess of those of last week, and 11 more than the number of the corresponding period of last year. Of these, 145 were adults: 176 were minors: 244 were born in the United States, 69 were foreign, 20 were people of color, and 12 were from the country. Of this number, 49 died of consumption of the lungs; 9 of disease of the heart; 20 of marasmus; of old age; 4 of typhoid fever; 10 of convulsions; of scarlet fever; 13 of inflammation of the lungs; of congestion of the brain; and 21 of debility. A RUNAWAY HORSE-EXCITING TIME .-- A boy set off a number of fire-crackers this morning, about half-past 8 o'clock, at Second and Brown streets, the report of which frightened a couple of horses attached to a dearborn wagon belonging to a Mr. Lukens, A lady and her child were sitting in the wagon at the time the horses started oif. The animals ran down the street, came into collision with several wagons ranged along the market house, de-molished at Second and Coates streets a huckster-cart, ran down Second to Green street, where, comisg into violent contact with a large truck-wagon they were stopped and secured. In one of the col lisions the lady and child were both thrown out, but, histons the lady and child were both thrown out, out, singular to say, escaped with very trifling injuries. This neighborhood, owing to the presence of the market and a large number of farmers' wagons, is a very bustling one, especially on Saturday morning, and it is a wonder that no serious accident occurre i.

CORONATION OF THE POPE. To-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, the choir of St. John's Church, Thirteenth street, above Chesnut, will sing Grand Con-certed Vespers, with full orchestral accompaniment under the direction of T. B. Harkins. At the con-clusion of the services the grand "Coronation March" of Meyerbeer will be performed in honor of the coronation of the Holy Father, Pope Plus IX, the anniversary of which took place on the 21st inst. Mr. Harkins resigns his position as leader of the choir of St. John's from Sunday next, and goes to Cape May to publish the new paper to be called the Ocean Foam. We wish him success in the new SWIMMING AND BATHING—The Natatorium and Physical Institute, on Broad street, below Wainut, is an institution of much value to those who desire to become expert swimmers, yet who do not dare to venture into water of an unknown or uncertain depth. Here the most timid persons in the course of a few lossons become expert, swimmers and gain of a few lessons become expert swimmers and gain sufficient confidence to venture into almost any body of water. Competent teachers are always in attendance, and instruction is imparted to both ladies and gentlemen. The prices have recently been reduced, and the proprietors of the establishment endeavor to please their patrons in every particular.

COMMERCIAL ITEMS.—During the month of May 2,992,000 quarts of strawberries were shipped on the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Rallroad.

For the week ending last evening the receipts of petroleum in this city were, of crude, 13,149 barrels of refined, 26,091 barrels; 613,245 gallons were shipped to Europe, making the total exports since January 1, 1871, 19,670,120 gallons.

There are in this port, loading and unloading, today, 9 steamships, 20 ships, 38 barks, 33 brigs, and 46 schooners; a total of 146 vessels.

An Explanation.—The young man Charles Dickey, of whom we made mention yesterday as having been connected with the robbery of the cash drawer of a tavern on Main street, Manayunk, desires us to make a statement to the effect that he was in no way concerned in the affair, having, as he asserts, been absent in the city the time the larceny took place. Dickey asserts most positively that he never was arraigned before Alderman Dehm.

THE COAL TRADE.

The Resumption in the Lehigh Region-The Coal Inspectors of Philadelphia-The Trade at This Port-The Complete Tonnage for the Week-Quotations,

The event of the week has been the resumption of the men in the Lehigh, or more particularly the Hazieton region, who until this time have been standing out on a question of a small advance in wages, and who new resume upon the terms effered by the operators last February. These terms they then rejected, but the operators have not since showed the slightest willingness to concede the smallest point and as a consequence they have won the day unconditionally. The miners have lately held out mainly upon a small advance of wages which it has been customary to pay in that region en account of a peculiar formation of the coal. This the operators refused to give any longer. These miners had previously held out on a question of a lower rate of wages for cutting coal also, but this demand the majority abandoned some weeks ago.

The operators in their offer of last February, in addition to their schedu'e of prices, demanded the exclusive control of their own works, and declared that the miners had no right and should not dictate The event of the week has been the resumption of that the miners had no right and should not dictate in matters relating to the management of the coiries. This demand has also been obtained from those who agree to return to work. As the situation now stands only a portion of the collectes have yet actually resumed work, though negotiations are in progress in all, with a manifest willingness on the part of the men to work. This partial resumption, with the expectation of making it more complete immediately, virtually ends the suspension in this region. The entire resumption will have a very perceptible effect on the supply. The movement of some of the more honestly inclined retail dealers of Philadelphia, looking to the appointment of inspectors, who are to inspect and brand the carts and do other duties which will tend to prevent fraud upon customers, and the bringing of a bad name upon the trade generally, has dually been brought to a successful termination; that is to say, the necessary legislation has been obtained and the inspectors are now actually appointed. Whether the end aimed at has been obtained, however, remains to be seen.

These officials are now three in number. If they are the proper persons there is a hope that good may come of the movement. But if they have been appointed from political or "ring" preference only, which it is more than likely is the exact state of the case, then the honest dealers who give good weight and will not do otherwise, and who wished for a fair competition in prices with their fellow-dealers who do not give good weight, and consequently are able to sell what they called a ton of coal at a lower figure-these honest men will find themselves in the same position as before, with the additional trouble of the inspecting and the fee added. The method of of the inspecting and the fee added. The method of inspecting tried in New York is a poor precedent, and it cannot but be compared with ours, though it is hoped ours may never become like that. There the inspector simply appointed the retail dealer who wished to sell a deputy inspector. The dealer then received hall his own fee and did the inspecting of the weight of his own coal. All the Chief Inspector had to do was to receive the money at intervals from the dealer.

At this port the trade is reported slightly more active. A demand has been created for larger sizes by manufacturers, who are taking advantage of the Reading rates. This demand has slightly advanced rates on those sizes. Consumers are also reported to be beginning to lay in their supplies, probably in accordance with the many requests to that effect which they have received from the operators.

The Scratton Company announce an auction sale on next Wednesday, in New York, of 120,000 tons. Low prices are expected, but it is not thought that they will affect the general market to any great extent, as the supply is so nearly equal to the demand.

The following is the complete summary of the trade for the past week, as reported for the Pottsville Miners' Journal of to-day :-

"The whole contest in the coal regions since last January, both by the companies and individual operators with the men, has been to fix a scale of wages that would enable them to put coal into the market at a cheaper rate, so as to extend the consumption, and thus take the glut out of the market; while the leaders were contending for a restricted trade, including suspensions, in order to keep up the price of coal and wages, regardless of the state of the market. That contest is ended for the present, and if the consumers will now commence laying in their supplies at once, and now commence laying in their supplies at once, and thus take the coal as fast as it arrives in the market, it can be supplied, and prices will not rule probably over from 75 cents to $1 per ton higher than July rates: but if they hold back there will be another panic in the fall, and prices will rule nearly as high next winter as they did the last. Should such be the case, the responsibility will rest upon the consumers, and not the producers, as we have warned them in time."

The South Bend (Ind.) Register of the 15th instant says:—Mr. Colfax has improved steadily in strength since our last issue, but is still weak, He rides out with Mrs. Colfax about two hours every day, and walks out in his garden an hour or so each day. His appetite is good and his spirits buoyant, and there is no doubt of his restoration to complete health. Although the fact as to his illness has been so widely published, it has not materially diminished the applications that pour in on him constantly, as in the past—made personally, too, as well as in writing—applications for offices, for donations, for letters of indorsement, recommendation, or introduction, to attend to department business, to answer inquiries of all kinds. Persens have come hither from Chicago and other points during the last week with such unreasonable solicitations He obeys, however, the injunctions of his phy sician—the letters are unanswered; he sees but few visitors, and, when they state such business as the object of their calls, he respectfully asks to be excused.

Remarkable Scandal in Saratoga County. New York.

From the Troy Times, June 23. The southern part of Saratoga county has lately been greatly excited over a matter the developments in regard to which are about as follows:—A little more than a week ago, Isaac G. Lansing, a farmer, living in the town of Haifmoon, went West with a gentleman from Vischer's Ferry, to buy sheep. Immediately after his departure a most hortible story became whilesered about the substrate. rible story became whispered about, the substance of which was that Mr. Lansing had bargained with of which was that Mr. Lansing had bargained with a man to murder his wife during his absence. When Mr. Lansing returned he found the rumor was rife in his neighborhood, and at once commenced a suit for siander, and obtained an order of arrest against Abram Devoe of Crescent, the author of the story. Upon being arrested, Devoe at once made a criminal complaint against Lansing for plotting the murder of his own wife, upon which lansing was arrested vesterday and arrighted before

Lansing was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Justice Cramer of Waterford. The examination of Lansing was at once proceeded with, and Devoe disclosed a state of facts which, if true, reveal a plot for wife-murder on the part of Lansing which, in horrible and cold-blooded details, rivals Rulloff's most damnable crimes. Devoe swears that more than a year ago Lunsing approached him with complaints of "trouble in his approached him with complaints of "trouble in his family," and a proposition to bevoe to get his wife "out of the way," for a consideration. Devoe says he received the proposition favorably, and that on the strength of it he has at various times received favors from Lansing in the shape of fire-wood, etc., and small sums of money. Devoe also disclosed the nature of the proposition to several persons telling them that he money. Devoe also disclosed the nature of the proposition to several persons, telling them that he intended to make use of it to get considerable money out of Lansing and finally expose him. As Devoe's story goes, about two weeks ago Lansing told him that he was about to leave home for several days, that his wife would be alone in the house, which is quite isolated, every night with their two small children, and he wanted the business done then. Devoe relates the details of instructions then. Devoe relates the details of instructions which he received from Lansing, how to enter the house through a certain insecure window, how to make his entrance noiseless, where to find his sleeping wife, how to find certain jewelry and silverware in various parts of the house, which he was to take away, and thus to make it appear that plunder was the object; also how to rob neighbor's house near at hand, and thus make the neighbor's house near at hand, and thus make the "blind" darker, and finally how Lansing cautioned him to "make no mistake" and "not harm the children," but to "make sure work of it." Then the blood-money was paid, the sum being $105, and the devilish business arranged. Devoe tells his story in such minute detail and connects so many collateral facts and outside parties incidentally with it, that before the investigation is closed it cannot fail to appear that Devoe has told an ingenious and tremendous lie, or Lansing ought to be hung. The examination is ad-Lansing ought to be hung. The examination is adjourned to the 26th inst. Mrs. Lansing has some property, and both she and her husband are respectably connected. The "trouble in the family," it is rumored, is certain entanglements with other women, and the wife's property is suggested as an inducement to the plotting. It is certainly a most strange and unfortunate affair.

-The "latest thing out"-One's husband. - The morals of Chicago are evidently improving, for Edward Walker has just been fined five dollars in that city for an ineffectual attempt to kill his wife. -It has been discovered that New Hampshire has 1440 flowering plants and 410 of the lower orders—in all 1850. On the White Mountain tops Arctic plants found nowhere else in this country are numerous.

-Paschal Grousset, one of the leading offi clais of the Paris Commune, was disguising himself in woman's attire when the police burst into his room and arrested him. He made no attempt at resistance, but was greatly disconcerted when the police found the place where he had hidden his papers. —The Yankee Princess Salm-Salm has offered 5000 francs for the body of her late husband the Prince, killed in a cavalry charge at the battle of Gravelotte. Originally a dancer, the indomitable little woman changed into the most domestic of wives, and very largely con-tributed to her husband's well-doing in our army. In Mexico she made his name and her own his toric by extraordinary exertions in behalf of the unhappy Maximilian.

ARCHBISHOP DARBOY.

The Funeral Ceremonies at Paris. The Funeral Ceremonies at Paris.

A Tribums letter-writer from Paris says:—The faneral of Arcabishep Darboy was on a grand scale. If I add that the greater part of the show was in the open air, and of course to be seen at no greater cost than the free use of one's clows, no one who knows the Parisians will be astonished to hear that the crowd was to be numbered by hundreds of thousands. The Arcalepiacopal Palace is situated in the hue de Grenelle St. Germain, close to the Hotel des Invalides.

Invalides.

Here the embalmed body of Monseigneur Darboy was laid out in state, in a chapelle ardente, a room hung with black and silver, and dimly lighted with the huge waxen tapers which play so prominent a part in all the ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church. At 16 o'clock, yesterday morning, the clergy composing the chapter of the Cathedral of Notre Dame went to the Archbishop's palace to receive the body of the head of the chapter, and then the solemn procession started.

Preceded by three mourning-coaches, containing twelve bishops of different dloceses under the late prelate's supervision, came the funeral car, the magnificence of which called forth expressions of wonder and admiration from the crowd. The car was not closed, but had a baldachin over the coffin so high that the coffin was completely exposed to public view.

As the funeral car approached, every head was bared and the women crossed themselves devoutly. The coffin of the Archbishop, on its arrival at Notre Dame, was borne to the catafalque prepared for it in the choir. This catafalque was supported by four silver statues, and represented Religion, Faith, Hope, and Charity.

On the top were vases filled with incense and spirits of wine, which sent forth a ghastly whitish fiame, most conspicuous in the dim light in which the whole cathedral was shrouded. As the coffin entered beneath the Gothic portal the military musicians played a march by Chopin, which startled not a few of us who had remained in Paris during the Commune, and who had been present at funerals of the National Guards, for this was the dirge which their bands almost invariably played in folwhich their bands almost invariably played in fol-lowing their dead to the cemetery.

The services proceeded with slow solemnity, only broken by the sobs of many of the friends of Mon-seigneur Darboy who were gathered around the coffin. Conspicuous among the many soldiers pre-sent was MacMahon, who stood leaning on his swerd, not far from the choir, in an attitude of the deepest reflection. Not far from him stood Trochu, and near him Lavaucoupet.

and near him Lavaucoupet.

The gold-bedecked uniforms of the generals and stair officers shone like stars against the black dresses of the priests. As the absolution was given by Monseigneur Chigi, the Papal Nuncio, a salvo of cannon boomed forth, and the ceremony was over. A few people approached and placed immortelles on the coffin, and then the great cathedral was slowly forsaken by the crowd, which had occupied since six in the morning every inch of available space.

N. Y. MONEY MARKET YESTERDAY,

changed at 11@11%c. Whisky dull and nomina "As daylight begins to break through the confusion consequent upon the recent failure of the movement in Rock Island, the original accounts of the causes producing it are confirmed. The chief leader in the proposed cornering of the stock was betrayed by his confederates, who were quietly realizing on their portion of the pool stock while he was buying. He seems to have got an inkling of their treachery on Tuesday, when the sudden large supply of the stock to his brokers aroused his suspicions. He endeavored to induce their return to the pool movement, and spent Tuesday evening at an up town hotel vainly urging a restoration of good faith. On Wednesday morning he renewed his entreaties at the offices of the parties down town; but they still refused to undo their work, and the collapse ensued almost immediately. It seems that ill feeling had existed for some time between the leading operator and his confederates, owing to a previous transaction, in which he had broken faith—the speculation at that time being Northwestern. But differences were temporarily healed, and the movement in Rock Island begun, only to result in the application to himself of the tactics which he had used in the Northwestern movement. The law courts are now busy with applications for injunctions from the various firms involved in the Rock Island fasso. A meeting of the various creditors will be held to-morrow afternoon to take steps for a settlement of the various firms involved in the Rock Island fiasco. A meeting of the various creditors will be held tomorrow afternoon to take steps for a settlement of their claims. Meantline, as already stated, the principal operator above referred to has expressed his willingness to settle, at fifty cents on the dollar, such claims as may exist against him personally by reason of his individual contracts for the delivery of stock on "puta." Otherwise he holds the members of the pool jointly responsible with himself for the losses occurring from the general failure. The shock produced by the panic is not yet over, and the market this afternoon underwent a counter reaction from the first caim succeeding a counter reaction from the first calm succeeding the storm of Wednesday. The street is entirely dispirited and has lost all hope of a sufficient revival of 'buil' enthusiasm to change the current in the direction of higher prices the remainder of the summer. Had the present demoralization taken place earlier in the year—in the spring months, for instance—a fresh speculation for the rise might be successfully reorganized. But the time is too short, and the period—neidsummer—not calculated to encourage such an undertaking. The cliques who are as yet interested in the market are casting about them for the means of catting out and severations of as yet interested in the market are casting about them for the means of getting out, and something of their manouvres might be traced in the alternate strength and weakness of the past two days. The utter disinclination of the public to enlist in a 'buil' market again this summer has aroused these cliques to the necessity of taking care of themselves before the advent of the fall stringency in money. Hence the market is undergoing a nursing process, by which it is rendered occasionally strong, in order to receive their sales of stock." PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES.
