COMPOUND LIQUORS.

Important Decision of Commissioner Pleasanton Fruit Brandies Wines and Cordials What Liquors Come Within the Exemption.

Through the politeness of United States Assessor William B. Elliott, Esq., we are furnished with the annexed important decision:— Sir:-Numerous communications are received at this office from rectifiers in your district and elsewhere, making inquiries as to their liability to tax for putting up the compound liquors commonly known as raspberry, blackberry, cherry, and ginger brandies and wines, under the rulings announced in Special No. 102.

After a careful review of the subject in the light of these numerous communications, it is not seen that any change in the general construction given to section 48, act of July 20, 1868, is

Two questions, however, are presented, growing out of the manufacture of the compound liquor named above, which call for reply. This class of raspberry, blackberry, and cherry brandies, I understand, are ordinarily made in the following mauner:—The juice being pressed from the fruit, it is either reduced by boiling to such a strength as that it will preserve, or is preserved by the addition of from ten to twenty per cent. proof spirits. The com-pound liquor is formed by combining this juice with distilled spiries and sugar (syrup), the proportions varying according to the peculiar notions of the manufacturer. Ordinarily, about 8 gallons of the juice of the fruit and 8 gallons of syrup are added to 24 gallons of proof spirits. In the manufacture of ginger brandy the flavor of the ginger is extracted by steeping the ginger roots in spirits, which extract is compounded in the same manner as the juice of the truits above named.

The compounds known as wines and cordials are produced in the same manner, but with a less quantity of spirits and by an addition of water. There can be no question but that such compounding of liquors constitutes the party a rectifier as defined in paragraph 5. section I, act of April 10, 1809, and renders him liable to pay the special tax of $200 under section 59 of said act of July 20, 1868.

The first question presented is as to whether these compound liquors are taxable as distilled spirits under said section 59, or as other liquors under section 48 of said act of July 20, 1868.

It has been demonstrated by actual observa-tion that, by applying the rule given in special No. 102 to determine what are distilled spirits, these liquors would all come under section 48, as the large amount of sugar present in the compound prevents the hydrometer from indicating the actual per cent, of proof, the indications being invariably below 50, while in fact the compound may contain as much as 80 per cent. proof spirits. In view of these facts, it is believed that the rule given in Special No. 102 for determining when, by the presence of other materials, dis-tilled spirits loses its identity as such, is not strictly correct, and that the actual per cent, of proof spirits in the liquor should determine its character, instead of the indications of the hydrometer, which, for the reasons stated, are known to be incorrect. Rectifiers can and should always know the per cent. of proof spirits that enter into compound liquors put up by them, and all liquors actually containing more than fifty per cent. proof spirits must be returned as distilled spirits on Form 45, taxed under said section 59, and put up, gauged, and stamped under section 15 of same act; and all compounds containing fifty per cent. proof spirits or less must be returned on Form 45%, and taxed under section 48. This latter class does not require to be gauged, marked, or stamped. I am aware that this rule offers facilities to rectifiers to defraud the revenue by returning as distilled spirits liquors that are liable to tax under section but as all liquors returned as spirits must pass the inspection of a United States internal revenue gauger, they may by careful observation soon learn to judge whether the liquors presented for inspection as spirits do in fact contain more than 50 per cent, of proof spirits, and in all cases of suspicion the fact should be determined by an analysis, and if the rectifier is found to have made false returns, he must be at once reported for prosecution.

As the number of proof gallons is required to be stated in stamps for rectified spirits, the number of wine gallons will be regarded as the proof gallons when the true proof cannot be ascertained by the hydrometer. The other question presented is as to the application of the exemption contained in said section 48 to this class of liquors. This section imposes a tax on all liquors not made from grapes, currants, rhubarb, or berries grown in the United States, but produced by being recti-fied or mixed with distilled spirits, or by the infusion of any matter in spirits.

Liquors made in the manner above described, where the juices of domestic berries are used, are claimed to come within the exemption. I think it is clear that blackberry brandy, for instance, made in the manner above described, cannot be considered as made from blackberries. no more than could a compound liquor composed of spirits distilled, say, from corn with sugar and the juice of apples or grapes added be considered apple or grape brandy.

Brandles, to be exempt from the tax imposed by section 48 as being made from the materials named therein, must be produced by distillation; and wines, to be exempt, must be produced by fermentation of one or the other of the materials named. It is true that most of the raspberry, blackberry, and cherry brandy and wines known to commerce, are those produced by compounding in the manner above described. This, however, does not change the fact that such compounds are not in truth made from either of the materials named in statutes, but are really produced from distilled spirits by flavoring the same with the products of these materials. Much of the juice of rasp-berries and blackberries, nearly all of the juice of cherries, and all of the ginger used in making these compounds, are imported. Attention is called to the fact that the tax accruing under said section 48 is not a lien upon the liquors, and that the provisions of law in regard to gauging, marking, stamping, detain-ing, and seizing liquors relate to distilled spirits only, and have no application to liquors coming under section 48.

The security of the Government for the collection of the tax under said section rests in the vigilance of the officers of the district in which such liquors are manufactured.

It is especially enjoined upon assessors to see that the returns called for in said section 48 are made according to the rule herein given from and after May 1 last on Form 45 2, furnished for that purpose. Very respectfully, A. PLEASANTON, Commissioner.

Read the following recommendations:—

1 have had one of the American Combination Machines for nearly three years, and cheerfully testify to its many excellent qualities, as well as its dura-bility. I had previously used the "Wheeler & Wil-son," "Grover & Baker," and "Singer." I think that the "American" makes the most perfect stitch of all sewing machines, and decidedly prefer it to any other machine that I am familiar with. It requires hardly any effort to run it, and its entire operation is exceedingly simple and easy, MISS JENNIE S. MALLORY, Dressmaker, No. 12 Broas' Row, Titusville, Pa. It is the best in the market for all or any kind of work. It is so simple in its construction that a child may readily guide it. My family would not be without it under any circumstances,

J. R. BROOMALL, Ercildoun, Chester Co., Pa. BURLINGTON, New Jersey, June 14, 1871. DEAR SIB:—I bought one of the American Buttonhole Overseaming and Complete Sewing Machines, about four weeks ago, for the purpose of making buttonholes in lasting and kld shoes. After having the machine one week, and having but ONE LESSON ON THE SAME, I was enabled to make 600 holes per day. I am now (after four weeks' practice) making 720 holes per day, in a superior manner and with perfect case. Am very much pleased with the machine, and can heartily recommend it to all those wanting a machine for such purposes.

SALLY FENIMORE. Mount Lebanon, Allegheny co., Pa.
I have lately become the possessor of one of the new and wonderful American Family Sewing Machines, and I feel surprised and delighted with its truly overwhelming performances. It only requires to be known to supersede all others now in use. No one need delay purchasing, for I am convinced that this Machine has arrived to a very great degree of perfection.

J. E. WILSON, M. D.

Messrs. Hall & Bosley, Gents:—The American Machine which I bought of you last spring gives me the highest satisfaction. I have received hardly any instruction, yet can do all kinds of sewing on it with perfect ease. The best thing I can wish for any hopselvener is that perfect ease. The best thing I can wish for any housekeeper is that she may have as perfect a Sewing Machine as the American.
