REVIEW OF NEW BOOKS.

. - "Fairmount Park" is the title of a work just published by Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger. Its author, Charles Keyser, Esq., a well-known lawyer of this city, is a gentleman of intelligence and high mental culture, and "Fairmount Park" is both a valuable and extremely interesting volume, which will be P. M. found a most useful as well as attractive guide-book. The subject has been ably treated, and displays in its careful compilation a fund of anecdote and data which are evidence of faithful research. In diction Mr. Keyser's work is unexceptionable, and in many of his descriptions his language is elegant and choice, displaying strength as well as beauty. From among the many points of interest this book contains, we quote his tribute to the memory of Robert Morris, which, while it cannot fail to interest the reader, may be accepted as a sample of the writer's style. In his description of "The Hills," the former home of Morris, and now called Lemon Hill, Mr. Keyser says:-

"In that old mansion, which Morris so loved, and which was at last his refuge, have been assembled as his guests the honored men in this land-Franklin, John Adams, Hancock, many of the signers of the Declaration, members of Congress, and officers of the army and navy. On these grounds he received from all the States and from patriotic hearts in other lands tributes to his financial power and financial bonor-resolutions and gifts which he preserved through all his after misfortunes. Here he originated those enterprises, evidences of which yet remain on this river, and which, in far advance of his age, extending over all the States and embracing the prominent industries of his time, culminated in his utter ruin. Here also took place that last scene in his life-the great financier bowed down with age, helpless to preserve his own fortunes, following an officer down these terraced grounds, to be consigned. by laws now for the honor of human nature obsolete, to a common jail.

"And here remains forever the regretful remembrance that the owner of land in all the States, of a palace whose marble walls rise in mockery of his fate before the black stones of his prison, and of these fair grounds-a man whose money, as much as their strong arms, transferred to the people the title and the lands of this great Commonwealth, and the broader area of the nation, met such a fate.

"The palace mocks no more—the prison blights no more the earth where it stoodwhat was mortal of Morris moulders in the grave-but the results of his life remain for human happiness; and these grounds, saddened while ennobled by their association with his name, remain his fitting monument. The air that blows about them is the common property of the poorest as of the wealthiest. Their verdure grows for the little child, ignorant of the meaning of property, and for the old man who has seen it swept away from him forever. The water that flows along them is the common heritage of all. Within them every man stands in every right the equal of his fellow-man."

The descriptions of all the spots of interest are as well given, and the book will certainly be appreciated by the citizens of Philadelphia. A number of excellent illustrations by well-known Philadelphia artists add to the attractions of the volume.

-Owen Meredith's metrical novel of "Lucile," embellished with a number of Du Maurier's capital illustrations, has been issued in cheap pamphlet form by James R. Osgood & Co. The story is one of great interest, and is wonderfully well told. This cheap edition will be very handy for tourists and sea-shore visitors, and fill up a stray corner of a satchel or carpet-bag; and to those who are not familiar with the poem, we can promise good entertainment in its perusal. A number of the author's shorter poems are also given. For sale by Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger.

-Messrs. Porter & Coates are the Philadelphia agents for the following new publications of D. Appleton & Co .: -

"The Novels and Novelists of the Eighteenth Century," by William Forsyth, M. A., Q. C., is an attempt to illustrate the manners and morals of English society in the last century by means of the works of fiction which were popular with the grandfathers and greatgrandfathers of the present generation. Mr. Forsyth has compressed a vast amount of information into a very small space, and he not only carries out his leading idea, but he gives admirable summaries of the most famous novels of the century, with critical remarks about the writers and their styles that are in the highest degree interesting. This brief volume contains pretty much everything that all except enthusiastic students of literature need care to know about such writers as Mrs. Behn, Fielding, Smollett, Richardson, Mrs. Heyward, Mrs. Manley, Miss Burney, and other once popular writers, and it will be an excellent introduction to the literature of the eighteenth century for those who have a desire to investigate it for themselves.

Professor Tyndale's notes on Light and Electricity, for his lectures at the Royal Institution, which were published in England in two volumes, have been issued in one volume by the Messrs. Appleton. These notes, which sum up briefly the leading facts and principles of the sciences of Light and Electricity, will undoubtedly be highly appreciated by both teachers and pupils.

"Pickwick Papers," embellished by a steel portrait of Dickens and a number of illustrations, form the first volume of a cheap but neat and very attractive edition of Dickens' works, which will deserve popularity.

-The Catholic Record for July has an interesting leading article entitled "What the Catholic Church has done for Woman," and a variety of other readable essays, poems, stories, sketches, etc.

-Our Boys and Gir's for July contains an entertaining series of articles such as the boys and girls will appreciate.

-The July number of The Nursery is filled with pretty pictures and pleasant stories and verses for the youngest readers.

MENTS, and also, as fast as the Road is completed, on 93,000 acres of land to every mile of track, or 500 acres for each $1000 Bond. They are exempt from U. S. tax; principal and interest are payable in gold. Denominations:-Coupons, $100 to $1000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.

Northern Pacific 7-30's are at all times receivable, at TEN PER CENT. ABOVE PAR, in exchange for the Company's lands, at their lowest cash price. The proceeds of all sales of lands are required to be devoted to the repurchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company, Tie Land Grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres in the most fertile portion of the Northwest, and the demand for the Company's lands for settlement aiready exceeds the ability of the Government to complete the surveys. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due.

Holders of U. S. Five-twenties, who wish to convert them into a first-class railroad security, can do so at a present profit of about 12 per cent., while increasing their interest income nearly one-fourth, by exchanging them for Northern Pacific 7-808.
