HIGH FARMING.

We have often expressed our opinion that farming in this country could be carried on with profit in all the northern ty-seven thousand dollars, (a larger sum States as well as planting could be in the than the President of the United States re South or as any kind of manufacturing in- ceives annually) dustry that furnishes an indispensible article to the world, where the business is conducted with skill, capital, and general intelligence adapted to the business.

In proof of this we copy the following account from The Valley Farmer, an intelligently conducted paper, published at St. Louis and Louisville, of a

WISIT TO A MISSOURI FARM. Wo recently visited the farm of Mr. Richard Gentry, of Pettis County, Missouri, and, as we have frequently seen flattering accounts of large farms in other States, we have concluded to furnish a description of this farm to our readers, in order to show his extreme plainness in dress. that Missouri is not behind her eister States in large farms or good farming.

"The farm of Alr. Gentry contains seven thousand acres of land, three thousand five hundred acres of which are under excellent fence and in a high state of cultivation. It is divided, chiefly into los of forty acres making over thirty miles of fence on the farm. The fence is mostly made of rails, with stakes and riders, and kept up in the best condition. There is, however, a mile and a quarter of post and board fence on and a quarter of post and board fence on yond peradventure; but the President's case the farm, and some two miles of Osigo orange hedge, which, however, has not yet him. St. Louis Intel. been turned out.

"There are on the farm sixty-five large gates, of the best construction, and about the same number of draw-bars. The gates and bars are made in a large carpenter shop, in rainy weather, when the bands can be employed at nothing else. All of the implements are put in repairs at such times, and many of the simpler ones manufactur ed. About two thirds of the farm consists of high rolling prairie, of an excellent quality of soil, and the other third is in timber, immediately adjoining the prairie.

There are fourteen hundred acres of the farm set in blue grass, seven bundred and three hundred and sixty acres in corn, one hundred and sixty acres in cats, twenty acres in Hungarian millet, and the balance of the farm under fence is in woods pasture.

"There are on the farm twenty seven large artificial ponds, many of them of much depth, affording stock an abundance of water at all seasons of the year. Duting our visit three stone masons were employed in erecting large stone pillars in various parts of the farm, at the outlets of streams, in which large water-gates were to be hung, so that in case of freshets, which are common on large prairies, the gates would open by the action of the water, and close when the water had passed, and prevent the fence from being washed, and the escape of stock from one field to another.

One of the most striking features observable is, that on this immense farm, not a single weed is to be seen. Even the fence corners, that common receptacle of all that is foul of most farms, are as clean of weeds as any city, lawn. What do farmers who have only two or three hundred acres under cultivation say to this? Here are upward of thirty miles of fence, without a weed or briar surrounding it, while many farms with only a mile or two of fence, raise enough weeds to seed the whole neighborhood! The whole farm is a pattern of neatress. The hands pass over every field is often as it is necessary, and pull every burr, briar and weed that dares to show itself. This has been done for many years, until the weeds have been subdued.

"Mr. Gentry has been a large sheepgrower. Some fifteen years ago, finding the market dull for horses and mules, he concluded to try sheep. He accordingly procured from Kentucky some four hundred head of the best Saxon and Spanish merino ewes, as the foundation for the future flock. These he raised for a number of years, increasing the size of his flock until it ranged for many years from two thousand eight Lundred to three thousand head. He went to great expense in procuring the best Cairus bucks, and, by judicious management, obtained a very superior flock. For the last four or five years he has been crossing his flocks with the French merino, paying as bigh as $150 per head for the bucks. He has some imported bucks of this breed now on his form. He thinks the French morino superior to the Saxony or Spanish merino, as possessing more constitution, greater Sutherland, Abuer Morton, weight of careass, much greater weight of wool, though not of so fine a quality, though sufficiently so to command as high a price in market. He has had the very best success in raising sheep; his flocks have never been affected with any contagious disorders, and many of the diseases so prevalent in the East have been entirely unknown in bis herd. He has recen'ly reduced the size Barnes, James Sterling. of his flock to about one thousand head, for the jurpose of giving more attention to Dickson, Jos. H. Wilson, John Murray, S raising mules He is already quite extensively engaged in this business, but intends Abner P Lacock. to give it more prominence hereafter.

"There are kept constantly employed on the farm twelve grown hands and six boys. Our readers may wonder how so large a farm can be as well managed by this small number of hands. It was a wonger to us until we saw the perfect system of Mr. C. Wilson.

Gentry's plans. Everything moves like C. Wilson.

cores. All of the best labor-saving implements and machines are used by him—to that with one man the is able, in many kinds of work, to perform the labor of ten men. By this means he is able to account plish this wast amount of work.

"Mr. Gentry has a number of buildings (created, in which he earlies on, for his own use, various operations not common among farmers. For instance, there is a large mill house, where all the meal for the family and stock is ground, and where various other mills and machines are used. There is a large slaughter-house, with kettles state on hereing out lard. Then there is also as excellent pair, of Fair, Googison, Hookstown, &c., 6 olock, P. M.

There is also a large slaughter-house, with settles at tool-house, a carpenter shop, a harnesshouse, as the spendages of winging cattle, shoep, wince, bay, grain, &c.

HOW MUCH IT COSTS A FAST WOMAN TO LIVE. In the Woodman divorce case, at New Cricans the following evidence was given :- "Mr. Piment sworn: Has known Mr. and Mrs. Woodman for over ten years. Could say that Mr. Woodman's conduct towards his wife has always been kind and indulgent. He never knew him to oppose her in anything. Her demands were very expensive. Could not say exactly what her expenses were during a year. Know that heir expenses together were about $10,000. He was satisfied that Mr. W. is noted for

A Hopeless Case - The Washington Union winds up a florid Fourth of July article with, God save the President! God save the Union!"

The first part of this despairing petition is very appropriate; but we don't see the necessity for the latter part. The yoking of the President and the Union together, implies that the salvation of the one is de pendent on the safety of the other. This is a great mistake. The Union is safe be-

THE WAY IT GOES .- The Hannibal Messenger says: "Well, the result of the agitation that is beginning in this State, and which is now advocated as zealously as it was denounced twelve months ago, will be the emancipation of slavery. Agitation will keep slaveholders out of Missouri and draw Free State men into it. This is the natural and inevitable consequence. - St. Louis Dem.

At a recent meeting of the New York Historical Society, Dr Bacon read a paper on the languages spoken in that city, giving fifty acres in clover and timothy meadow, an interesting account of each, showing its origin and character. Eighty languages, he stated are used in business and social intercourse among the inhabitants, being greater number than in any other city in the world.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC

THERR has long existed appublic demand for an effective puryative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is cary to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that ulmost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many lof them produce so make griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, sinless it arise from a proviously existing obstruction of derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no hum can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice. Indigestion Languor and Loss of Appetite Listlessiness, Itritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Ferer, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humora, Scrofula and Scury, Colds with soreness of the body, and restore the strength of the year, te purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into herlihy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the s

This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every sariety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is tod apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of! COLDS, COUGHN, HOARSENESS, &c.; and for CHILDREN it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been and that the genume article is sold by—Druggists generally.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of Scrofula.

A benist is always experienced from the first. Local and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish five, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising first that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never, been known until I discovered it in 1846.—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it and sold about six bottles per day—In April 1864, I sold over one thousand bottles per day—of it.

Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever likelit. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.
