LINES on FEMALE GENIUS. To PHILENIA ;* occasioned by reading her POEM, entitled, " Ouabi, or the Virtues of Nature."

IN former days, as ancient poets feign, A flrange contention fill'd th' etherial plain, What goddels, faireft in angelic eyes, Should o'er her b ight compeers in beauty rife, In make and motion high above the reft, Sov'reign of hearts and queen of love confess'd. All wakeful Difcord the event improv'd, And the whole fex a gilded apple mov'd. O'er the blefs'd plain the friv'lous bauble roll'd, " To the first Fair," infcrib'd in gems and gold. Who had the faireft face, fit fubject then, For universal war of gods and men. A higher theme has now all hearts inclin'd, Not who's the faireft form, but brighteft mind. And hark, how loud the mental conteft rings ! Apollo's hand has fet the tuneful ftrings, PHILENIA's verse his living lyre divine Admits, and calls upon the facred nine To name the fair pre-eminent in fong, To whofe mild voice the dulcet notes belong. To fuch enchantress he'll confign the lyre, The bright credential of fuperior fire ; From whofe ftrict chords the diapafon clear, Mellifluous deep, fhall charm th' arrefted ear. Extatick airs, that hymn the morning ray, The lark's full note, and linnet's lighter lay, Shall emulate PHILENIA's fong in vain, Her heav'nly harp fublime and feraph ftrain. And hence shall bigot pride contest no more The fex's equal claim to claffic lore. Mean is the man who never can beftow A leaf of laurel to a female brow ; When sterling fense and tuneful diction join'd, Are the twin-offspring of a female mind.

From Albion's cliffs what tides of mulic flow. When heart ftruck SEWARD pours the plaint of woe, When CARTER's modulated numbers roll, And MOORE and AIKIN moralize the foul.

O woman, favorite of the fmiling fkies ! Be thy just rights afferted by the wife ! To thy fair fame impartial, they shall find Genius is not to any fex confin'd; Bound by no Salic Law, to nature true, " Shall give to merit, what is merit's due."

* A Lady of Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 15. TIPPO SAIB.

By an arrival at Salem from India, a Calcatta paper has been reeived, which gives accounts of the operations of that inveterate enemy of the Englifh, TIPFO SAIB, the fucceffor of the famous Hyder Ali, against the Rajah of Travencore. In one battle with the Rajah, Tippo is faid to have been defeated, with the loss of 1300 men-and in a fecond, he is faid to have affaulted the Rajah lines with incredible ferocity and bravery, and after a long con-teft, obtained a victory. The Rajah of Travencore is affifted by teft, obtained a victory. The Rajah of Travencore is affifted by his ally, the English, with confiderable bodies of troops, and ac-cording to the last accounts, Tippo, with 150,000 men, was pre-paring to attack them—between whom a ferious battle was expected.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Of France, at the date of the laft accounts, was faft approaching towards its diffolution—the confequent general election that will take place throughout France, will be the true epocha for the per-manent eftablishment, or final deftruction of the liberties of that country. That the iffue may be the promotion of the beft good of the French Nation, forms the wilh of every American. To the King them for the King, they fay, " Hail, thou that fhalt a sceptre wield,
