The public utility of extending this wharf, is too evident to require any comment, to those who are acquainted with the town and harbour of New-Haven; to those who are not, suffice it to say, and harbour of New-Haven; to those who are not, suffice it to say, that its beautiful fituation is not surpassed, if equalled by any; being in the heart of a country, which may, with propriety, be said to be the garden of America. The harbour lays open to the sound but by reason of the slats, this wharf is necessarily extended to the channel, where ships can load and unload; and when compleated, will be the most extensive and commodious wharf in America, the whole extent being about 3-4ths of a mile; and not only the mercantile interest of New-Haven and the towns adjacent, but the maritime interest of all the States will be benefited by it. The general wish that prevails in the minds of all classes of people, for the success of this enterprize, together with the very great advantage which this scheme holds out to adventurers (there being more tage which this scheme holds out to adventurers (there be capital prizes for the number of tickets than any yet published in America) induce the managers to believe the tickets will meet with a speedy fals.

The drawing will politively commence at the State-House, in New-Haven, on the 13th of September next, or sooner, if the tickets are fold.

A lift of the fortunate numbers will be published, and the prizes paid on demand, by the managers. Those prizes not called for in nine months after drawing, will be deemed as generously given for the use of the wharf, and appropriated accordingly.

TO THE PUBLIC.

ON the fourteenth of January last the subscriber presented a memorial to Congress, stating his intention to publish a complete and correct octavo edition of the Laws, Refolutions, and Treatics of the United States, and praying that such measures might be adopted as would give AUTHENTICITY to said edition.

The memorial was read in the House of Representatives, and referred to the Secretary of State. On the leventh of February that officer, after mature deliberation made the following report:

"The Secretary of State, to whom was referred the memorial of Andrew Brown, printer, of Philadelphia, has had the fame under his confideration, and thereupon makes the following

The Memorialist states that he has in contemplation to publish a correct edition of the Laws, Treaties, and Refolutions of the United States, and prays, that such measures may be adopted for giving a public authentication to his work, as may enture its re-ception throughout the United States.

The Secretary of State observes, that there exists, at present, but a single edition of the laws of the United States, to wit, the one printed by Childs and Swaine; that this edition is authentic, the proof-sheets thereof having been carefully collated by sworn clerks, with the original rolls in his office, and rendered literally conformable therewith. That the suffice of this edition can now rarely be found, the copies originally printed being mostly disposed of disposed of.

disposed of.

That it is desirable that copies of the laws should be so multiplied throughout the states, and in such cheap forms, as that every citizen of the United States may be able to procure them. That it is important also, that such publications be rendered authentic, by a collation of the proof-sheets with the original rolls, by sworm clerks, when they are print at the seat of government, or in its neighbourhood, and by a collation of the whole work when printed at a distance, and a certified correction of its typogrophical errors annexed to each volume.

That this, however, if done at the public expense, would occa-rors annexed to each volume.

That this, however, if done at the public expense, would occafion an inconvenient augmentation of the number of clerks, as the act of collation requires the presence of three clerks, one 'to hold the roll, a second a printed copy salready authenticated, and the third the proof sheet.

That it would be more reasonable that persons of considence should be employed, at the expence of the Editor, to be named and sworn as clerks, for the special occasion.

That, in this way, he is of opinion that it will be advantageous.

That, in this way, he is of opinion that it will be advantageous to the public to permit that the Laws, to be printed by the Memorialist, be collated with, and corrected by, the original rolls, and that a certificate thereof, by the Secretary of State, be annexed to the Edition.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, Secretary of State.

February 5, 1789." In consequence of this report, Congress have adopted the sol-

" RESOLVED by the SENATE and House of REPRESENTA-TIVES of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Andrew Brown, or any other printer, be permitted, under the direction of the Secretary of State, to collate with, and correct the direction of the Secretary of State, to collate with, and correct by, the original rolls, the Laws, Refolutions and Treaties of the United States, to be by him printed. And that a certificate of their having been so collated and corrected be annexed to the said Edition. Provided, That such collation and correction be at the expense of the said Andrew Brown, or such other printer, and that the person or persons to be by him or them employed in that fervice, be approved by the Secretary of State.

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS MUHLENBERG, Speaker of the House of Representatives, JOHN ADAMS, Vice-President of the United States, and President of the Senare.

and President of the Senate.

Approved, February the eighteenth, 1791.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, President of the United States, Deposited among the Rolls in the Office of the Secretary of

THOMAS JEFFERSON, Secretary of State."

As this Edition of the STATUTES OF THE UNITED STATES is to be printed at the feat of government, and with the approbation of Congress, and as the proof-sheets shall be collated with the original rolls and records, by sworn clerks, in the office of the Secretary of State, there can be no doubt but it will meet with a candid and universal reception.

Confiding particularly in the patronage of the citizens of the United States, whose interests are most materially connected with due execution of this work, the editor submits to their confideration the following

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The work shall be printed with a new type on good paper. The acts of the different sessions of each Congress (the duration of which is limitted, by the Conflitation, to the term of two years) shall be comprised in one volume, octavo, and delivered to the subscribers in boards.

3d. The volume, from the commencement of the first, to the conclusion of the present session, shall be printed with the utmost expedition; and every other volume shall be ready to be delivered at Philadelphia in a few days after the close of the last session of every suture Congress;—or the work shall be delivered in numbers at the close of each session (at the option of the subscribers) the acts of each session was number.

the acts of each session making a number.

4th. The first volume shall contain such acts of the Congress, under the Confederation, as may be thought most important to be generally known in the administration of the present government, together with the acts of the first, second, and third sessions of the present Congress, and the treaties which have been entered into with foreign nations, and with the Indian tribes.

The first volume, it is supposed, will contain five hundred and fifty pages; in this case the price will be one dollar and two thirds: should the number of pages be more or less, the price will be increased or diminished in proportion.

5th. A Complete index shall be annexed to each volume.
