RETALIATION, ON THE BIRMINGHAM RIOTS.

WHEN Reverend Priests do hourly preach,
Those doctrines which they should not teach,
When crowds are told "they might cashier
Their Kings" without or dread, or fear;
That Lords are vain and empty things,
And Bishops worse than even Kings:
That souls and bodies mix together,
Just like two pieces of neat leather:
Wear out the same—and when they're ended
Answer the purpose—first intended.
In short when levelling spreads apace,
And boundless rights of men—take place.
'Tis fit—who poison'd first the dart,
Should be the first to feel the smart.

P A R I S, September 18.

YESTERDAY, for the first time since the journey to Varennes, the King took an airing on horseback. Upon his Majesty's arrival at the drawbridge, a vast concourse of people, who had been drawn together by the report of his design to take an airing, and a desire to see him, hailed him with repeated and sincere shouts of Vive le Roi. An affecting joy was visible in his countenance at these marks of love and attachment.

A deputation from the community of Paris repaired to the Thuilleries. The Mayor who was at its head, addressed the following speeches to the King and Queen?

"SIRE,
"The community presents to your Majesty the homage and respect of the city of Paris. It lays before you the joy and the benedictions of the people. Two years of labour, of evils, and of storms, are happily terminated by the completion of the Constitution, and by your Majesty's acceptance of it. Henceforth resting upon this Constitution, Sire, and governed by immutable laws, you will promote the public prosperity. When every heart is devoted to you—when your's is devoted to the French—who will undertake to disturb that intimate agreement of the nation and its King? The moment which attaches you anew to France, and it to you, will secure the tranquility of the city of Paris, which has been so long agitated. Peace and goodness, the justice and the virtues of your majesty are our true friends. You will fix them among us, Sire: and you will be happy in the love of the French, as the French will be in your welfare.

ANSWER OF THE KING.

"The welfare of the nation will ever be the wish most dear to my heart. Its true welfare can only be attained by maintaining public order and tranquility. You are to avail yourself of all the means with which the law invests you, to concur with me in attaining that end."

"MADAM,

"The community presents to your Majesty the respects of the city of Paris, in the most memorable epoch—the joy has been universal. The King has received the benedictions of the people—you have participated them, and the city of Paris joins the expression of its sentiments to the voice of the nation. May these sentiments prove pleasing to your Majesty—Deign frequently to recall them, and to recall them to the King.

"Say, Madame, to the august Prince, brought up for France near your person, that these sentiments are destined for him, and that we will one day pay him all the welfare which his tenderness which his cares shall have shed upon the King and upon your Majesty."

The Queen answered, "That she coincided in every thing with the sentiments of the King; and entreated the municipality to assure the citizens of the capital, that she should daily inspire her son with them, and that she would contribute to the utmost of her power to the welfare of the nation."

In the evening, by order of the King, the Thuilleries and the Champ Elysees will be illuminated."

The day that is to terminate the labours of the present memorable Legislature, is at length fixed; this important event is to take place on the 30th instant.

The new Assembly will then meet; and after verifying their powers, will proceed to business.

L I N T Z, September 3.

As the Duke de Polignac has given orders to remove to Vienna all the furniture and effects which he had in Italy, and has hired a house for two years at Leopoldstadt, where he lives in a sort of retirement, it seems highly probable that it is his intention to spend the rest of his days in Austria, and endeavour to forget all the uneasiness which he has experienced from his own nation.

HOLY BIBLE.---Royal Quarto.

MR. THOMAS, of Worcester, Massachusetts, most respectfully informs the public, that he has this day completed the Old and New Testaments of his Royal Quarto Edition of the HOLY BIBLE. The Apocrypha and Index, &c. will be finished with all the dispatch the nature of the work will admit.

Such Gentlemen as hold SUBSCRIPTION PAPERS, he begs will return them to him at Worcester, or to him and Company at Boston, by the last day of November next, and as much sooner as they conveniently can.

He is happy to inform the public, that the work has been examined by many gentlemen, clergymen and others, and has met with their highest approbation; both as to the execution of the printing, its correctness, and its cheapness compared with English copies of the same size and quality.

As this very laborious and exceedingly expensive undertaking, is carried on solely at his own cost, he is led to hope that all those who wish to possess a large Family Bible, will so far encourage this laudable undertaking of their countryman, as to add their names to the subscription.
Worcester, Sept. 29, 1791. ISAIAH THOMAS.
