

PHILADELPHIA.

Intelligence of fresh Disturbances among the Creek Indians.

THE public have been informed, by numerous paragraphs extracted from the London papers, that a Mr. Bowles arrived in England from America, in the course of the year 1790. with several Indians belonging to some of the southern tribes—That the said Bowles, and Indians, had received countenance and support, to a certain degree, and that they sailed from England, during the course of the last Summer, enriched with presents, for the Bahama Islands.

It now appears, that the said Bowles, after arriving at the Bahamas sailed for Indian river, so called, lying on East-Florida, and thence proceeded to that part of the Creek country inhabited by the Seminolies, where he arrived in the month of September last.

That at the time of his arrival, the Creeks were preparing to execute the treaty, made between them and the United States, at New-York in August 1790. They had chosen the Chiefs to attend at the Rock-Landing on the first of October, the time fixed for running the boundary lines mentioned in the treaty—The white bird king of the Custahs being of this commission.

Bowles's appearance however at that crisis—the presents he brought with him, and his bold assertions, caused great agitations and hesitations among the ignorant part, and of course among the chiefs of the Creeks.

Although it appears that a considerable portion of the upper Creeks, and indeed all the respectable Chiefs were for running the line, notwithstanding the delusions of Bowles; for it is presumed that he is an impostor—But, he pretends, "he has powers from the British government to conclude a treaty with the Creeks—The basis of which shall be a revocation, on their part, of the treaty with the United States, and a guarantee of all the lands."

He has spread reports, that he has three ships loaded with goods, arms and ammunition, and cannon; that if the Creeks will permit him, he will establish a fort, and trading houses, at which the Creeks shall be supplied with goods of all sorts, upon better terms than ever they have been, and that he had six thousand men in the islands, ready to support him.

That he would write to Georgia, and prevent the lines being run, and he accordingly has written to the Commissioners, who were waiting at the Rock-Landing, expecting the Creek chiefs, which letter is dated at "Ufatchee, October 26, 1791," and signed, "General Wm. A. Bowles, director of affairs Creek nation." In this letter, and in his general declarations, he asserts, that Alexander McGillivray has deceived the Indians in the treaty made at New-York; but, that he is willing to form a treaty with the United States in behalf of the Creek nation, and declares that the former treaty shall not be executed.

The Indians, distracted by his arts, have entreated the United States to wait until the spring, before the boundary shall be marked, and if Bowles, whom they style the "lying captain", shall then turn out an impostor, they will then attend and run the boundary lines without further difficulty.

It appears that Mr. McGillivray has faithfully adhered to the interests of the United States, warmly recommending that the line should be run at the time appointed, and that Bowles's falsehoods should be entirely disregarded—Indeed, his importance, and life, probably depend on Bowles being driven out of the nation.

A considerable detachment of the troops of the United States, and Mr. Ellicott the surveyor, and three respectable Commissioners from the State of Georgia, were assembled punctually at the Rock-Landing on the Oconee, the first of October, and they waited for the Creek chiefs until the beginning of November, when they dispersed of the business being effected this season.

BOSTON, November 23.

THE Subscribers having a grateful sense of the kindness of the people of Nantasket, and of the benefit which they have received from the house erected by the Humane Society on Nantasket-Beach, feel themselves obliged publicly to relate the following facts:

That the schooner Dove, belonging to Hallowell; and bound from thence to Boston, on Friday, 18th Nov. inf. struck the ground, at about half a mile's distance, from Nantasket Beach: She was commanded by captain James Carr, and the hands consisted of David Jackson, Benjamin Stickney, Nathan Burges, and Ebenezer Thayer, all of Hallowell, except Thayer, who is an inhabitant of this town.—When the vessel struck and filled, we all took to the water, and swam safely ashore except Jackson, who being in poor health, was unable to gain the beach, and was unfortunately drowned; Capt. Loring and some other persons of Nantasket had seen the vessel strike, and came to our assistance; they had kindled a fire in one of the Society's houses, and assisted us, exhausted with fatigue, and drenched in the water to get thither; Captain Loring and those with him waded into the water to save poor Jackson, and brought his body on shore; but he was too far gone to be recovered; they shewed us every possible kindness, and furnished us with clothes, victuals and drink, and assisted us in saving some part of our cargo. We are fully convinced that had it not been for the house on the beach, and the kind assistance of the people of Nantasket, we must every one have perished; and we publish this account to manifest our gratitude to divine Providence, and to those who were instrumental in saving us.

Thirty Dollars Reward.

RUN AWAY, some time in August 1789, a yellow NEGRO MAN, named ABRAHAM, late the property of Nathaniel Wickliff, deceased—about forty-five years of age, about five feet eight or nine inches high, pretty well set, with a large woolly head and large beard, walks with his knees bent, often complains of pains in his feet and ankles—by trade a bricklayer, stone mason and plasterer. He is a very handy fellow as a house-waiter, and is fond of such business. He is a great dissembler, and no doubt pretends he is a freeman. He has been eloped so long that no description of his present clothing can be given. It is supposed that he went to the Northern States, as he often mentioned having friends there.—Twenty Dollars reward will be given to any person that will secure said Negro in any jail, so that the subscriber may get him again; and reasonable charges will be paid—or Thirty Dollars will be given if he is brought to Prince William County, Virginia, to Mr. JOHN KINCHELOP, by

CHARLES WICKLIFF, Administrator.
