

The following EPITAPH was written by Mr. S—, of Portsmouth, (N. H.) on his friend J. PARKER, Esq.

LET Pride build marbles, and repeat
The honors of the rich and great;
More sterling virtues here lie low,
Than Titles—Rank, or Riches know—
Tho' childless dying, yet from high
When the last trumpet rends the sky,
Unnumber'd Orphans low shall bend,
And hail thee father, guardian, friend,
Thy numerous charities avow
To all the host of Heaven—whilst thou
A name more glorious shalt receive,
Than daughters, or than sons can give.
That plaudit of thy judge—Well done,
Receive the unfading heav'nly crown,
And shine eternal as the Sun.

PORTSMOUTH, (N.H.) Dec. 28.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Boston to his friend in this town.

"The rapid and continued rise of real estate is ascribed to the great redundancy of cash, and the efficacy and stability of government. Rents and landed property here have advanced more than forty per cent. within the last six months, and are still rising; as the monied men want employment for the floods of cash that have been lately pouring in upon them. How different is the present situation from that a few years since. Men were then sacrificing their lands for cash—they are now as eagerly vesting their cash in lands. Thus you see, each one will have his day,—at the southward land speculation rages still higher, and the speculators in public paper finding that harvest past, now bend their attention with equal ardor, to speculation in landed property."

The National Assembly of France have manifested their loyalty in an exemplary manner, and like a set of able Physicians, they have given that to their King, of which all monarchs stand in need, a good Constitution!

ALBANY, January 9.

Let quakers petition, and speculative characters who glide only on the surface, say what they will on the subject of an Indian warfare, the plain English of the business is, that we can never obtain a permanent peace with these barbarians till we have reduced them to the feet of Congress—The origin and justness of our cause are now totally out of the question.—It is indeed to be severely lamented, that we could not have obtained a peace by fair treaty—but every one who knows any thing of the nature of savages, must know that this desirable event can never be obtained, while they are riding triumphant in the arms of victory.—It will therefore be the policy and interest of Congress, in our own defence to make a decisive effort the ensuing campaign. It is supposed, 6,000 men to begin an early campaign by penetrating into the heart of their country from the Ohio—and half that number to proceed through the interior of this state, either to establish posts on Lake Erie, or to form a junction with the southern army so as to distract the savages between two fires—would be completely competent to every purpose—but it would perhaps be better for America, even to double this force, rather than to linger along two or three year's feeble and undecisive campaigns.

KNOXVILLE, November 19.

About the 10th inst. a company going through the wilderness to Cumberland, was met on the road by a party of Indians. Upon first sight the men (being seven in number) rode off with the utmost precipitation, and left the women (four in number) who were so terrified that they were unable to proceed. The Indians came up, shook hands with them, and told them they should not be hurr, made a fire for them, and caught a stud horse, that one of the company had jumped from, which they tied to a tree. They then went after a small boy who was attempting to make off, and brought him back to the women. Four of the company did not stop till they reached the settlement—the other three returned to the women after some time.

[The above extract is taken from a Gazette, printed at Knoxville on the Holsten, in the Territory of the United States, south of the Ohio; and we have a pleasure in hearing that the women, who had been deserted by their fellow travellers, were indebted for this remarkable proof of friendly attention, to a hunting party of Cherokees; the nation with whom Governor Blount made a treaty last summer.]

This place is remarkably well timbered, has a sufficiency of meadow, a large front on the river, and runs back to the post-road. One other very valuable Farm, adjoining the above; containing about two hundred and seven acres, the greatest part of which is wood-land. There are on this farm a good house, barn, stables, and other out-houses, with a young thriving orchard of the best grafted fruit, and a shad and herring fishery. It has long been a well accustomed tavern; and the ferry belonging to it, known by the name of Dunks's, is noted for being well kept and much frequented. Both the above places afford the best prospects on the river, and are remarkably healthy.

One other small Farm, containing about sixty-three acres, situate in the township of Southampton, in the county aforesaid; on which are erected two log-houses. There is a small orchard, and a great sufficiency of wood-land and meadow ground.

One Lot, containing four acres, situate on the great post-road leading from Philadelphia to New-York, and ten miles from the former. On it is a good log dwelling-house, and work-shop adjoining, with a well of excellent water at the door: now in the tenure of the Widow Ward.

ANNAPOLIS, January 1, 1792.

At a Meeting of the Visitors and Governors of St. JOHN'S College, in the State of Maryland, on Thursday the 10th of November last,

RESOLVED,

THAT this Board, at the quarterly meeting in May next, proceed to elect a Vice-Principal of St. John's College.

That it be the duty of the Principal and Vice-Principal, to teach some of the higher Authors in Latin and Greek, certain parts of the Mathematics, Logic, and Moral and Natural Philosophy; and that the departments of the said Principal and Vice-Principal shall hereafter be ascertained with precision, on considerations of their mutual convenience and respective qualifications.

That the Vice-Principal shall be entitled to receive, for his services, a salary of three hundred and fifty pounds, current money, rating dollars at 7/6 each, to be paid quarterly.

That persons desirous of, and qualified for the appointment of Vice-Principal, be, by public advertisement, required to make application to Mr. Charles Wallace, Mr. Charles Carroll of Carrollton, and Mr. Alexander Contee Hanson, all of the city of Annapolis.

By order of the Board, JOHN THOMAS, President.

N. B. The fundamental Laws of St. John's College prohibit all preference on account of religious tenets or opinions.

As the appointment of a Vice-Principal is alone wanted, to compleat the plan of this rising seminary, the Board will certainly proceed to the election at the stated time; provided a person qualified, in their judgment, for this important station, can be procured. The personal attendance of the candidates, although not positively required, will be obviously proper.

It may be useful to remark, that the salaries of all the professors and teachers have hitherto been paid with entire punctuality; and that the funds of St. John's College produce a certain annual income, superior to all the appropriations, which have been, or probably will be made.

The Printers of newspapers throughout the United States, are earnestly requested to insert the above resolve and remarks—and to repeat the publication as often as convenience will permit.
