

From the New-York Daily Gazette.

The following Song, composed by one of the Members of the St. Andrew Society, for the occasion of celebrating the Anniversary Festival of their Tutelar Saint, on the 30th ult. was sung by the author, and was received by the Society with that approbation so justly its due.

Triumphant welcome, the pleasing occasion that calls
The Sons of St. Andrew, once more, (palls,
With love of their country, which change never
To rejoice on Columbia's shore:
In sweet social mirth, let us cheerful combine
Nor party, nor faction destroy
The tie that unites us in friendship & vine,
And dates every bosom with joy.

Blind prejudice, hence, from these walls quickly fly,
And reason severe, be our guide; (high,
Tho' in Europe's proud annals, old Scotia ranks
In her virtues alone be our pride;
Our Saint and blest'd patron, no politics taught,
'Twas his mission to soften the heart,
His doctrines with love and benevolence fraught,
No partial instructions impart.

Yet if sons in the glory of fires may be vain,
The records of fame shall declare, (tain,
How our ancestors fought, their best rights to suf-
And the laurels of victors to share, (inchains,
When Rome, conq'ring Rome, half the globe held
'Gainst her legions, and fires took the field, (plains
Repell'd the base yoke from their hills and their
Court'ng death and despising to yield.

Thro' ages, unfully'd, their valour has shone,
But valour's the least of their praise, (won,
Their country is strew'd with the garlands they
And the muses have crown'd them with lays:
Simplicity, truth and affection endear
Old Caledon's heath, and bleak shore;
May we who have wander'd, still honest, sincere,
Our country's fair virtues adore.

O'er the wide rolling ocean by fortune convey'd,
To climes, where bright Liberty reigns,
May the worth, by our fathers, so often display'd,
Ever glide in their emigrant train,
Whether born or adopted Columbia's sons,
'Tis ours in her plans to unite,
Hedeferves not her favours, who haughtily shuns
The toil of supporting her right.

While the copious horn of plenty supplies,
With richest profusion our board,
May we think of the wretch who in solitude sighs,
And a boon from our union afford:
O long be it ours, in the regions of woe,
To diffuse the soft balm of relief,
To lessen the ills that from penury flow,
And dry up the channels of grief.

With the good and the brave, let us join hand in
The throne of fair freedom to guard,
With honour to fall, or with Liberty stand,
Independence, our glorious reward;
Should tyrants assail the sweet gift we receiv'd,
True ardour shall swell every breast,
And the actions of old, on our mountains satchiev'd
Revive on the plains of the west.

From the Massachusetts Magazine.

SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF JOSEPH CLARKE, Esq.

Treasurer-General of the State of Rhode-Island.

INFLEXIBLY upright, this good man trod,
With firm unvarying step, the moral vale:
Just to his fellow-men, himself, his God,
His spirit bade the king of terrors hail.

Sleep, take thy rest, the toils of life are done,
Soon shall the bright unclouded morn arise,
And death's virtue's ever lucid sun
Forever gild, for thee serenest skies.

There shall thy mortal worth, to view confest,
Amid the peaceful mansions of the blest,
By heav'n's applauding smiles approv'd,
Shew to the spirits of the perfect just,
That he, whose number mourns thy faintest dust,
Spoke only truth of him his bosom lov'd.

WESTERN INTELLIGENCE.

RICHMOND, Nov. 26.

A gentleman just returned from the south-western territory, has favored us with the following information:

On Sunday the 4th inst there arrived at Knoxville eight Indians from the Cherokee nation; three of these were principal chiefs, viz. The Standing Turkey, the Warrior's Son of Estanaula, and the Hanging Maw, from the beloved town of Chota. The object of their journey was to hold a talk with Governor Blount; to assure him of the pacific disposition of their nation, and to request that they may be suffered to hunt without molestation. On Saturday the tenth, they were safely conducted to the bank of the river, opposite to the town of Coyaree, on their return home, by Major George Parrogood, and a party of gentlemen.

The 8th a party of Indians stole eight horses from Gamble's station, about 12 miles from Knoxville.

On Friday the ninth, two regiments of territorial troops, under the command of Colonel Landon Carter and Col. Gilbert Christian, marched from Knoxville, to guard the frontiers, and to build forts and stations between the Papo Ford and the junction of the Clinch and Tennessee.

To the honour of our western brethren, let it be remembered, that of the two regiments above mentioned, seven companies were entirely composed of volunteers, armed and equipped at their own expence.

On Saturday the 10th, General Sevier pursued his route from Knoxville, escorted by a troop of horse, raised in Greene county, and commanded by captain James Richardson, to take the command of the frontier army, now amounting to from twelve to fifteen hundred men.

Our informant mentions, that this troop of horse, though but recently embodied, were at least equal in manly and martial appearance, as well as in their uniform, horses, and other equipments, to any corps of horse he ever saw in the regular continental or European armies.

On Monday the 12th, the house of Ebenezer Byram, on Beaver creek, (a branch of Clinch) seven miles from Knoxville, was attacked in the morning, about sunrise, by a party of fifteen Cherokee Indians. They beat in the window with their tomahawks, and presented two rifles—but before they could observe their destined victims, Mr. Byram and Mr. Jefferies, the only two men in the house, fired at the two Indians who appeared at the window, when they both fell, and the Indian party immediately fled.

The gallant defenders of their household gods, then went out and found one of the Indians dead, whom they scalped; they afterwards tracked the fugitives about two miles, by the blood of their wounded companion—here they found a considerable quantity of blood, some human flesh and splinters of bones; at this spot they supposed the wounded Indian expired, and was carried off by his associates, as the bloody track was no longer visible.

Thus the cool bravery of two resolute men not only saved their own lives, but preserved a number of women and children, who were at the time in the house, from the butchering cruelties of these remorseless savages. It deserves to be noticed, that Mr. Byram is upwards of sixty years of age.

Notwithstanding the contiguity of these depredations to the seat of territorial government, the inhabitants seem as unapprehensive of danger as the citizens of Richmond are, and it was with difficulty that Governor Blount, who lives in a retired house, about a mile from Knoxville, could be prevailed on to accept of a guard, which he limited to six men.

The gentleman who has obliged us with the above intelligence, has brought to this city the scalp of the Indian killed in the attack on Mr. Byram's house.

By the custom-house return from Bermuda Hundred, it appears that the total amount of the merchandise imported and entered there, from the first of July to the thirtieth of September last, is $24,392 dollars and 30 cents.—And the amount of goods exported during the same period, is $26,280 dollars and 94 cents.

Yesterday morning died, John Fleming, in consequence of a wound in the head, which he received from Kemp, a few evenings since; the offender has absconded, but we are informed, that diligent search is now making after him.

THE EDITOR—TO HIS SUBSCRIBERS.

THE Arrearages of Subscriptions for this Gazette have been for a long time accumulating. The expenses of the publication are great and inevitable, and have annually amounted to much more than the receipts for subscriptions; the consequences must be obvious. The Editor has no other resource than those arrearages, to discharge the debts he has been obliged to incur in prosecuting the publication. He is therefore necessitated to repeat his application to those who have received subscription money on account of the Gazette, and those who have not paid what is due, to make remittances as soon as possible. On these receipts the continuation of this Gazette, or the plan of an extensively circulating paper is also fully suspended.

Agreeably to the Seventh Article of their Constitution,
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN,
TO the Members of the Insurance Company of North-America, that Forty Thousand Shares are subscribed; and that a General Meeting of the Subscribers is to be held at the State-House in this city, on 10th inst. at 10 o'clock, A. M. when the Directors are to be chosen.
EBENEZER HAZARD, Secretary.

The holders of Certificates in the late Tontine Association, who intend to become members of the INSURANCE COMPANY, are desired to call at No. 145, Arch-street, where their subscriptions will be received, and a preference given to them, until the 12th inst.

GEOGRAPHY.

Mathew Carey

Respectfully submits to the Citizens of the United States, the following

PROPOSALS

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,
AN AMERICAN EDITION of

Guthrie's Geography

IMPROVED.
Of which these are the terms:

I. IT shall be published in 48 weekly numbers,

Each containing three sheets, or twenty-four pages, of letter press, in quarto, printed with new types on fine paper.

II. In the course of the work will be delivered about thirty large maps, of the same size as those in the European editions, viz. most of them sheet maps on post paper.
Besides the maps in the British editions, this work will contain maps of as many of the United States as can be readily procured, executed by the best engravers in the United States.

III. The price of each number will be a quarter dollar, to be paid on delivery. No advance required.

IV. The work will be put to press as soon as 700 copies are subscribed for.

V. Subscribers who disapprove of the work, on the publication of the three first numbers, are to be at liberty to return them, and shall have their money repaid.

VI. The subscribers' names shall be prefixed as patrons of the undertaking.

Perhaps there is no science more entertaining and useful than geography. It reveals the discoveries of travellers—the remarkable curiosities of all countries, in nature and art—the situation of provinces, cities, towns, villages, rivers, & mountains—in fine, the history, manners, customs, laws, forces, revenues, and government of different nations.
It is an old observation, that “there is not a son or daughter of Adam, but has some concern with geography;” and that a knowledge of this science is indispensable towards the study of history with advantage or satisfaction. Indeed a man unacquainted with it, cannot discourse on the most common newspaper topics of the day without betraying his ignorance.

So much for geography generally. With respect to the present plan, let it suffice to remark, that Guthrie's Geography has been long acknowledged to be the best in the English language: however, the account of America in it has, from obvious reasons, been very erroneous and defective. The errors of former editions will be corrected, and the defects supplied, by gentlemen of abilities, who have engaged to superintend this undertaking, and to avail themselves of all the information that can be procured, to render it the most complete edition extant.

The Printer earnestly solicits the support of his fellow-citizens throughout the United States: and as no deposit is required, and every subscriber will be at liberty to withdraw his name, if, on trial, he should disapprove of the work, he hopes the friends of science, and of American arts and manufactures, will cheerfully and early patronize this useful work, the greatest and most expensive, probably, ever yet attempted in America, in the typographical line, the Encyclopaedia excepted.
