

From a late London Paper.

REMEDY FOR BRUISES.

A COACHMAN, in a street in London, was, by a sudden jolt, thrown off his box, and in his fall his foot fell into a hollow in the pavement, which occasioned a sprain, attended with violent pain, and a considerable inflammation. A brother whip promised him a speedy cure. He ordered a gallon of porter to be simmered in an earthen vessel, till, when cooled, it became of the consistence of a plaster. He spread this plaster on a thin old glove, and applied it round the ankle. In three days he mounted his box, being relieved of the swelling and pain.

Another person, being surrounded by pick-pockets, in endeavoring to save his money, fell down, & struck one side of his loins upon a stone more prominent than the rest of the pavement. Considerable pain and swelling were the consequences; and next day his back, and the thigh on that side, became greatly discoloured. Having seen the success of the porter plaster in the former instance, I desired that the porter plaster might be applied to part of the back and thigh, while the other parts were treated according to art, that for a comparative experiment might be made of the effects of each. The swelling subsided nearly equally in both; but the pain and the blackness of skin went off much sooner in the parts covered with the plaster than in the other parts. Accidents have since afforded me several instances of similar success attending the application of this plaster. Might we not expect that success might attend the application of this plaster in other fixed pains in various parts of the body?

As these accidents happened in London, where porter is the malt liquor most generally used, the plaster was made of it; yet I doubt not but that other fermented malt-liquors, used in the same manner, might have similar effects.

Where such hurts are frequent, this plaster may be long kept in good condition, if it is covered with a little oil to prevent the evaporation of the fluid particles. S. A.

A GREAT BARGAIN.

FOR Sale, a beautiful situation on the Potomack, adjoining the town of Alexandria and in a line of direction towards the Federal City and George Town, in full view of each place, commanding a prospect of the river and adjacent country of Maryland and Virginia, for many miles; about 45 or 50 acres of Land, lying directly on the river, will be sold, with the improvements, which are, a two-story framed dwelling-house, neatly finished, a kitchen, office, brick smoke-house and dairy, two-story framed barn, a well of excellent water, and an ice-house, a yard and garden, neatly railed, and highly improved, with a number of other necessary improvements; the whole of the land enclosed with posts and rails, ten or fifteen acres laid down, with different kinds of grass. Its contiguity to those three towns must render it an object worthy the attention of any person who wishes to invest money in a property that must enhance in value, in proportion to the rapid increase of the Federal City, Alexandria and George Town. This property lies nearly in a central situation to each place. The Potomack at this spot has a fine deep shore and harbour, capable of receiving vessels of any burden. It may not be improper to observe, that men of judgment think a profitable and convenient Ferry might be erected here to the City of Washington and the Maryland shores leading to Baltimore and Philadelphia.—Also to sell, 215 acres of Wood-Land, about three miles distant, which will suit well to supply the above in wood and timber. The title may be seen to the above property, which is indisputable, and terms known by application to the subscriber, living on the premises.
