

From the ROYAL DANISH AMERICAN GAZETTE.
[Printed at Copenhagen, St. Croix]

THE subscriber having met with the misfortune to be totally shipwrecked, on the 12th day of February last, in the bay of Boston, called Cohasset, on a naked rock, near a place named Bruth-Island; where he with his crew was for 36 hours exposed to a most severe gale with frost and a thick snow, through which they could not be discerned; but as soon as the thick clouds began to dissipate, they instantly, to their great joy, observed in the forenoon, the people on shore endeavoring to come out to them with boats, in order to save them, though the sea run so high that their boats were thrice filled with water, and one of the boats shattered, whereby six of the hands were nearly lost. Notwithstanding this, the feeling people on the shore did keep up their spirits, and the Parson there, named Mr. Shaw, then present, encouraged them, by addressing them thus:— “My friends! I need not to remind you of the services, we, as human beings, owe one to another; being fully convinced of your good disposed minds, but this is an extraordinary case, in which we must show ourselves; there are the lives of twenty men in question, to be saved, who will, most certainly, be frozen dead in less than an hour; come, my friends, I'll enter the boat for one man, although I am a bad mariner”—and all the rest followed the Reverend joyfully; they took us off the rock, made their home, ours, attended us in our sickness, and carefully saved what they could from the ship and cargo, even to trifles, as watches, buckles, buttons, spoons, with other gold and silver ware, belonging to the subscriber, which they delivered him every night, coming from their work. The probity of these strangers, assisting us in our distress, I cannot express less in retaliation, but by my warmest and sincerest thanks, voluntarily acknowledging, that the aid possessed by such individuals, is happy, and the unfortunate man drove to their shore, can not but fall in the hands of upright honest men. This I think incumbent on me to publish.

MATTHEW CLARKE.

September 14, 1793.

George-Town,

(PAIDWARD)

September 9, 1793.

THE Commissioners of the Federal Buildings having received only one or two days previous to the time appointed for the commencement of the drawing of the Washington Hotel Lottery, information that a number of Tickets which had been deposited for sale in the hands of persons at a distance, were still unfold; and there being no fund established to pay any loss that might be sustained by keeping these tickets at the risk of the City, they (the Commissioners) determined to defer the drawing until they could be all fold.

Under these circumstances, a number of gentlemen of this town, and the City of Washington, formed themselves into a company, and took upon themselves all the tickets remaining on hand, on the express condition agreed on by the Commissioners, that the drawing of the Lottery should absolutely commence on the 23d instant, and be continued without interruption.

The Subscribers have been appointed a committee to manage the concerns of this company, which was formed on public, not private motives—And in pursuance of their instructions, they now inform the public, that Tickets will be deposited with the following gentlemen:

G. Scott, Baltimore Town; J. Davidson, Annapolis; D. Crawford, Upper Marlboro'; B. Lowmire, Bladensburg; B. Turner, Port-tobacco; J. Wilkinson, Calvert County; J.
Fenwick, St. Mary's County; G. Murdock, Frederick Town; H. Clagete, Hager's Town; M. Waring, George Town; W. Herbert, Alexandria; W. Thompson, Colchester; J. Mus-chett, Dumfries; R. Patton, Frederickburg; T. Mason, Richmond; Campbell and Waler, Peaburgh; Sam. Love, Newgate.

Who will sell the same until Saturday the 21st inst. at the original price of 7 dollars.

It is contrary to the expectations of the company, any of their Tickets should remain unfold when the drawing commences, a necessary attention to save themselves from loss, will compel them to take advantage of the rise in price, which will certainly then take place.

B. STODDERT,
J. MASON,
J. M. LINGAN,
M. WARING,
T. PETER.

M. B. The Managers are to forward, daily, to the Post-offices of each of the principal towns on the continent, an accurate list of each day's drawing; the blanks, as well as prizes, will be contained in these lists, in order that no one may be imposed on by any sale or purchase of drawn tickets during the drawing.

THE AMERICAN MUSEUM, from its commencement in January, 1787, to its termination in December, 1792, in twelve volumes, price, heavily bound and lettered, nineteen dollars and one fifth.

The opinion of the President of the United States, respecting this work, is as follows:

"I believe the American Museum has met with extensive, I may say, with universal approbation from competent judges; for I am of opinion, that the work is not only carefully calculated to disseminate political, agricultural, philosophical, and other valuable information, but that it has been uniformly conducted with taste, attention, and propriety. It is to these important objects be superadded the more immediate design of rescuing public documents from oblivion—I will venture to pronounce, as my sentiment, THAT A MORE USEFUL LITERARY PLAN HAS NEVER BEEN UNDERTAKEN IN AMERICA, OR ONE MORE DESERVING OF PUB-LIC ENCOURAGEMENT."
