Velocity of Railway Trains. Dr. Lardner has made some curious calculations in regard to the velocity of railway trains. According to these calculations, a train moving at the rate of thirty-five yards per second, or thirty-five yards between two beats of a common clock; all objects near the eye of a passenger traveling at this rate will pass by his eye in the thirty-fifth part of a second; and if thirty-five stakes were erected at the side of the road, a yard asunder, they could not be distinguished one from another; if painted red, they would appear connectedly as a continuous flash of red color.

How He Did It. A gentleman feeling a strong partiality for a young lady whose name was Noyah, was desirous, without the ceremony of a formal courtship, to ascertain her sentiments. For this purpose, he said to her one day, with that kind of air and manner which means either jest or earnest, as you choose to take it.
