Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather (it having rained all evening) the room, which would contain about 400 persons, was filed to overflowing long before the hour ansounced for the performance to commence; and the most gratifying feauture was the large number of ladies. They turned out en masse, equalling the gentlemen. It was, in fact, just such so sudience as we had asked for, the best that ere graced a public entertainment in the county. All the musicians announced were in attendance, proving that no false annoucements bad been made to attract a crowd to be entertained afterwards with apologies for the non-attendance of this or that performer. The Altoons Brass Band and Van Tries' Cornet Band of Hollidaysburg, acquitted themselves well, perfectly satisfying all who heard them that they are superior to most and equal to any institutions of the kind in the State. We feel proud of our Band, and the citizens of Hollidaysburg certainly have reason to feel proud of theirs. We can draw no comparison between them, and would not if we could. We consider that, living in towns so contiguous and liable to be often thrown together, there should be none of that ill feeling which invidious comparison would engender, though we think it perfectly right that there should be rivalry enough to incite the members to increased efforts to perfect themselves in the rudiments of music and make them masters of their own instruments. The thanks of the citizens of this place are due, and, through us, are tendered to Van Tries' Cornet Band, for generously tendering their services in a good cause, and adding so much interest to the entertainment. The pieces of music executed by Messra. Eller and Walker, on the violin, were exceedingly difficult, but the manner in which they performed them convinced every person that they were masters of their instruments, and were greated with spontaneous out- that is needed to do away with it is prompt bursts of applause. Their performance at this concert has given them a reputation as violinists of which most men might well feel proud. The performance by the ladies. Misses Ivory & Brabaker and Mrs. Bownan and De La Rosa, were those most anxiously awaited by a large portion of the audience, and, all things considered, they were highly successful; although it was their first appearance before a public assemblage, their perfection in the parts assumed rendered them competent to fulfil the expectations of their friends and elicit the applause of those who could appreciate their efforts .-The Altoona String Band, got up for the occa-

regard to the above-named time-honored usage. cient Romans: and we find recorded in reliable the air fell to the earth as dead, from the stunning effects of the noise of the vociferous applause at the Amphitheatre. This applause consisted wholly of the clapping of hands, and loud words of encouragement to the deserving performers at the entertainment. In the applause of these almost primitive times, among eathen nations, we can perceive some rationality; but in the public so-called laudations of htter days, among enlightened people, oh, how little! There is a class of people, now-a-days, who attend public gatherings for the ostensible purpose of making as much noise (and as contempible beings of themselves) as possible, and interrupting the pleasure of peaceably disposed citizens. They yell at the top of their voices, clap their hands till they itch with pain, and stamp their feet till their very legs are benumbed, at the close, and even in the midst of every performance—thus embarrassing the performer, and deafening the ears of those who pay their mite to be entertained. This condemnable sort of applause worried us immeasurably, as well as the majority of those present, at the Concert for the Benefit of the Poor, on last Thursday night, and we were almost tempted, occasionally, to wish the brainless disturbers of public le co a speedy exit out of a window—so much were we annoyed. We were sorry that our indefatigable Constable, J. K. Ely, was not present by invitation to arrest and imprison them as the law directs. We think it would be conducive of good to the peaceably disposed public. if the managers of public gatherings in our. town would hereafter procure Joe's services-We are sure if they should, they would receive the thanks of all order-loving citizens of the town. Let us have this abominable practice stopped—the laws of the State are opposed to it; all good citizens are opposed to it-and all energetic action. Joe, take the matter in hand, and a grateful community will bless you We desire here to state that those who misbehaved at the recent concert were noticitizens of Altoona, but the offscourings of other places who are here temporarily.

> Conviction for Cutting Timber .- The Legislature of this State, in 1824, passed an Act of Assembly making it a criminal offence for any one to go on the land of another, knowing it to be such, and cut timber trees. Lyon, Sherb 15 00 & Co., Iron Masters and the owners of a large body of timber land adjoining the Tyrone Forge property, indicted a man by the name of Thos. Dougherty for violating the Act of 1824, and he was tried last week at the Quarter Sessions of this county, and convicted of the offence. We are informed that this is the first conviction under this Act, before Judge Taylor, in his Judicial District. The decision is a very impor-$112 75 tant one to all owners of unoccupied timber lands. It being requisite under the Act to show the guilty knowledge of the Deft., to convict, and as most persons who carry away the timber do so under some pretended claim to the land, it is difficult to punish them. THE VALUE OF GOOD LUNGS. We advise our readers who are desirous of preserving the uscfulness of the lungs and bronchical apparatus not to defer taking medicine in time for their cure. Most of the consumptive cases which end fatally, are the result of a small beginning of a cough or cold, which could be easily removed by a bottle of Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Cough Surup, now put up and sold at 50 cents and S1 per bottle. It has had abundant evidence of its vast superiority over most other remedies, and those who resort to it in time will save a great deal of suffering from those disagreeable diseases which are so prevalent during the winter and spring months. You can get it at Dr. Keyser's Drug Store, No. 140 Wood Street .-Sold by Geo. W. Kessler, Altoona.
