PROSPECTS. -- From present indications is are led to believe that there will be more ildian erected in this place during the comto summer than for a number of years past, of which will be first class. All our connay of that they have their hands full for season, and we know there are a number of buses to go up which have not yet been conmated for. An effort is now being made to organize an Iron Company in this place, the organic of which will be located in Loudonsville, disining Altoons. There is but one draw back the certain establishment of these works, and at is the absence of water power. But water must and will have soon. We think it will require much more experience to convince citisens that the erection of suitable water eks is indispensably necessary to the adcoment of their interests. Had we the wanow, we would soon have the iron works. ed who will say that an improvement of this ure would not benefit the town. The water is themselves would be an improvement. the fruitful source of other improvements. hen let us have them immediately. An agreewill shortly be entered into with one of best mechanics for the erection of a neat rronage on the Methodist church lot. This he e decided improvement in that part of town. Our enterprising merchant, C. Jagintends erecting a large three story brick ing, on the corner of Virginia and Julia ets, as soon as the season will permit. The ilding will be 24 feet front by 60 deep. The floor he contemplates occupying as a storethe second story will be fitted up for an ice, or place of business, and the third story ged for society meetings. The building be an ornament to the location, and just h an one as should adorn our principal thorshfare. The Railroad Company, we underand, has purchased the lots lying between the perintendent's Office and the Prosbyterian Parnare and will put up two fine buildings thereas soon as the season opens. Judging from e style of buildings heretofore put up by the mpany, the proposed improvements will he in eping with their situation. Mr. Lewis Plack inrms us that he has purchased the vacant lot poining the Hodnet property, on the corner of rginia and Annie streets, and intends builupon it immediately. Of course he will up a house that will compare with those anding it. A gentleman of Hollidaysburg. owns the lot between the corner of Virginwho, it is said, has the "rocks," has reerry, preparatory to putting up a large brick iding, which, when finished, will add much the appearance of the street. Other builm are to be erected on this street during the son, but we have no positive information conming them. When all the improvements spoof are completed, Virginia street, which is idently the business street of the town, will ment a business-like aspect. Quite a numof dwelling houses are to be erected in difent parts of the town, which we can not now fer to specially, but we think we have mensufficient to show that our prospects for

JOHN SMITH ON A TOUR.—We learn from the Pittsburg Press, that a few days since a wretched ooking creature, giving his name as John Smith, arrived in that city, and called at the Mayer's office. He hauled after him a well worn basket wagon, in which was deposited a small child, but illy protected from the inclement weather. He stated that his wife recently died in Cincinnati, leaving the little child to his care. Failing to eke out a subsistence there, with his child to take care of, he resolved to visit New York, where he has a sister living. He left Cincinnati just five weeks ago, with fifteen cents in his pocket, having received lodging and food from the charitable.

At Pittsburgh he was put on the Emigrant Train on the Pa. R. R., and we saw him, with his and Julia streets and Kessler's Drug Store, | child and wagon, on the platform at this stat yesterday morning. He looked dejected enough, ted the old building, occupied by Esquire in all conscience, to excite the sympathy of my person. He states that he was treated worsant a stone tavern a few miles this side of the dty of Wheeling, than at any other place on the whole route he traveled. Though he offered cents, (all the money he had,) for liberty to it main in the house all night, the heartless he then who kept the house, turned him and his child out of doors, and they had to remain in the open air all night.

ALMOST A Fine. On Thursday morning last, number of our citizens were called out at a rather unseasonable hour, by the cry if that ever dreaded element, "Fire!" caused by the filling of the various rooms in the Superptendent's office and residence with smoke. a little search, the smoke was found to isue from the washboards in the main hall of the building, indicating that the fire was in the ellar. On removing the boards and tenring up part of the floor of the hall, the joice underneal, in close proximity to the furnace, were found be on fire. The hose of the Company were in mediately brought into use and the fire extil guished without doing other damage than char ring the joices and smoking the painting in the hall. The compact manner in which the house is built, all the walls inside being brick, built up from the foundation, prevented the fire from obtaining any headway. Workmen immediately set about repairing the damage and there will scon be no evidence left of a fire.

STEALING ITEMS .- We have frequently noticed local items, copied from the Tribune. appearing in some of the Pittsburgh and Harrisburg papers, without credit, consequently as original, which had reference to affairs in this place, and which without proper credit or location, were meaningless. A case in point occurred with the Patriot and Union, of Harrisburg, on Friday last. On that day it copied our local item on the match for the bear, verbatim, without credit, thereby locating the American House and the match at Harrisburg. The item was certainly news to the subscribers to that paper, in and about Harrisburg, inasmuch as it is very likely they knew nothing about the match, and we doubt whether they were much wiser after they read it. When we attempt to filch, we generally "settle down" on items suited to any locality; and it would look more "business like" were others to do the same.

THE FASHIONS.—From a description of the latest Paris fashions, we clip the following: "We have seen some beautiful evening costumes, one of which was of blue terry velvet; the skirt is without any trimming, but very full; the lownecked body is open en point; almost to the waist; it is hollowed out and forms braces, which are fastened on the shoulders; the front piece is composed of a body of plaited muslin, with alceves of the same, bordered with terry velvet, and they are covered with voluminous white tulle puffs."

Open to the waist! Je-ru-sa-lem and Jewsharps! Doestick's once said that low-necked with him other than with feelings of re- post; but there'll be no need of climbing should dresses afforded a fine sight to a man up a lamp but since the rules of the church forbid the above fashion prevail. The above, to use teturn to us, we hope he may receive well a military phrase, may be considered "undress Moon Apple-Pic. An agriculturalist furnishes one of our cotemporaries. He says he has tried it, and commends it to others :-- Take stale pieces of bread, such as are usually saved for puddings, and crumble them fine. Add to one cup of these crambs, one pint of warm water, one tes spoonful of tartario acid, and sugar and spice according to teste. Bake precisely as you would an apple-pie." We have heard those who have tested the "Mock Apple Pie," pronounce it excellent, and say that unless you knew it to be such, you could not tell it from real apple-pie. At this time, in this section of the country, apples are rather scarce, and apple pies are considered a luxury. If the above will supply their place in the pie line, we need not much regret their failure. The receipt is simple and worth a trial.

CURE FOR CHAPPED HANDS. Most of our juveniles, during the winter season, are troubled with chapped hands. For the benefit of mothers who are obliged to listen to their endless complaints, we publish the following recipe for chapped hands:-" Take three drachms of gum camphor, three do. of white beeswax, three do. spermaceti, two ounces of olive oil. Put them together in a cup on the stove, where The committee met and selected the following they will melt slowly, and form a white ointpont in a few minutes. If the hands be affectd, annoint them on going to bed, and put on a hir of gloves. A day or two will suffice to heal them.

> Another Illumination,—On entering our offie, a few mornings since, we were agreeably supprised to find it highly illuminated—not with buning tapors, nor yet by any fluid or gaseous suistance; but by more substantial and less destructible article—the fiery head, pleasant contenance and magnificient proportions of our ever welcome cotemporary, McPike, of the Joinstown Echo. We were happy to find him looking so well after his recent severe attacks of the quincy, and hope he may no more be visited by that disagreeable and rather dangerou disease.

The general Sick .- The general health of the human body can usually be decided on by the patient himself. It is not every little trifle that needs medicine. But there are diseases that require immediate attention on account of the dangerous results which issue from them; among these are coughs and colds and the various pulmonary train that attend our evir varying climate. For these maladies an unhiling cure will be found in Dr. KEYSER's PETORAL SYRUP. Sold in bottles at fifty cents and $1 each, at G. W. Kessler's Altoons.

Using a Powder Keg for Kindling Wood. -Yesterday morning a friend of ours, who is book keeper in an Avenue wholesale store, feeling rather chilly undertook to build roaring fire in a hurry. He succeeded! Looking about for dry fuel, his eye rested on what he took for an empty powder cask, and which struck him as exactly the thing. He accordingly trammed it into the fire, drew his coat tail under his arms, and backed up as near as possible, to the general heat. In about the haking of a lamb's tail, however, a tremendous explosion took place, our friend was thrown forward with a violent jerk, and frightened nearly out of his wits, he made worm-fence racksfor the door, to dodge the shower of bricks which he thought might be traveling in his direction. The cask, it is supposed, was not entrely empty, though, fortunately not enough remained in to do serious damage. Our friend, after satisfying himself that the worst was over, resumed his place at his ledger; but it was noticed that the entries therein, for some hours after the explosion, were written with a Stephen Hopkin-ish-like scrawl, in place of the usual bold hand of the pook-keeper .-Washington Star.
