Select Poetry. "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep."

How soft how tranquil is the bed, Where the good man lay his peaceful head? He sleeps; no fear of harm is there.

Select Miscellany. Thunder and Lightning.

There are some people who can never overcome nervous excitement and terror in thunder storms. It is common to ridicule such fear; but laughter and ridicule can never drive them away.

Neck-Twisting in Church. There are practices tolerated in religious congregations which Christians, who are jealous for the honor of their Master's house, should utterly condemn.

The True Lady. No girl can become a true lady without knowledge of household duties.

Italian Blasphemy. We find in a letter just received from Florence, by the Philadelphia Bulletin, that the Italians there have put in circulation a number of parodies on the Lord's Prayer.

The Bloom of Age.—It has been beautifully remarked that a good woman never grows old. Years may pass over her head, but if benevolence and virtue dwell in her heart, she is as cheerful as when the spring of life opened to her view.

Katrine's Early Adventures. A Philadelphia paper says: The following story is good because it is true. We had it from the lips of a good woman, who was told it by the principal actor herself.

FIGHT BETWEEN A DOCTOR AND DOCTRINE.—A lively and ludicrous combat between a female physician, Mrs. Stillwell, and a regular trowered doctor, named McNeil, took place in the street of DeWitt Iowa, a few days ago.

THIS BEAUTIFUL WORLD.—Ah! this beautiful world! Sometimes it is all sunshine and gladness, and heaven lies not far off—and then it suddenly changes, and is dark and sorrowful, and the clouds shut out the day.

After whipping and coaxing had failed to induce a horse to move, the gentleman who was driving, or trying to, gave up. Then a cartman went to him saying, "If you please, sir, I'll make him go."

Select Poetry. "The True Lady."

No girl can become a true lady without knowledge of household duties. What ever may be her literary proficiency, and her social qualities, without the ability to do household work, if necessity demand, her education is defective.

The privilege was granted, and going up to the gutter, he took up a handful of mud and rubbed it upon the nose of the horse, whereupon the animal started without trouble. The cartman accounted for the effect, saying, "O, sir, it gives him a new idea."

Penitence is cracking jokes with Fanny Fern. Fanny, having asserted in the Ledger that "the men of the present day are fast," Fanny replied, "That they must be fast to catch the women."
