Select Poetry. SPEAK NO ILL.

Nay, speak no ill! a kindly word Can never leave a sting behind; Is far beneath a scolding taunt...

Select Miscellany. A TOUCH OF HUMAN NATURE.

Raymond Wellford was considered, to a young man, one of the most flourishing merchants. He was a welcome guest in our so-called highest circle of fashion...

How Mr. Gottlieb Broke his Pony. "Chon, you reckememper dat liddle plucky boy I pyed mit the bedlar next week!"

"Clara," said Raymond, taking her white hand, "are all my fondest hopes to be realized?"

"Clara, you are an angel," said Raymond, as he covered her hand with kisses.

"What do you think of human nature, my friend?" said he to me.

"It is a philosophical enigma," said I. "So it was with me till I solved it, he said."

"I have received a note from him, in which he desires me to sanction his marriage with our daughter."

"I have never disliked him as a man," said Mrs. Richards, coloring with shame.

"A LION AT PIKE'S PEAK.—Mr. J. F. Vandewater, whilst exploring the country southwest of the Wisconsin district...

"He is a gentleman, and as such it is my will that you should entertain him whenever he may honor your house with his presence."

"On this account, I suppose, we were tolerated in the present instance, for the gentleman was not at home."

"A man in Bangor, Maine, has a telescope of such power, that he can see a wart on the nose of a man in the moon, and a hole in his trousers."

THE FATHER OF WATERS.—A writer referring to the vastness of the Mississippi river, says:—"It extends 2,100 miles from the frozen regions of the North to the sunny South, and with the Missouri river is 4,500 miles in length."

"I am glad, Mr. Richards, to find you so happy," said Mrs. Richards, "for I was never in a worse humor. That Wellford has called here again and Clara honored him with a long private conference."

"I have received a note from him, in which he desires me to sanction his marriage with our daughter."

"I have never disliked him as a man," said Mrs. Richards, coloring with shame.
