Mexican Affairs.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, in speaking of the condition of this unhappy country and the two powers now at war therein asks the question, who is right in Mexico There are so many wrongs to avenge, so many parties to hold to account, so many foreign and home interests, all conflicting, to be attended to, that it is impossible to say what is to be done. The United States have wrongs to complain of; so have England, France and Spain. Indemnity is asked of Junrez, by the United States, and of Miramon by the other powers. Miramon and Juarez, in the meantime, are fighting one another, and neither could afford to grant indemnity, even if he were disposed. On the Pacific coast there is war and outlawry, and on the Rio Grande, Gov. Houston, of Texas, is getting up a private little war of his own. If Obaos were come again, it would be about as useful to send fleets, armies and planpotentiaries thither, as to send them to México in her present condition.

Of all the nations of Christendom, Mexico is the only one that has relapsed from civilization into comparative barbarism. Each years she grows more anarchial; each year the marks of enlightenment grow fainter. She confounds the theories of philosophers and statesmen she weakens the faith of the disciples of liberty; she defies the natural order of civil and social development, With the finest climate, the richest soil and the most abundant mineral wealth of any country on this continent, she is steadily sinking back into barbarism. The civilized nations whose commerce need the protection of law in Mexico, naturally demand a remedy for the evils they suffer from her, and in examining these evils, they see that they are partly the results Company wished, but nevertheless in such a of mal-administration, but chiefly the results of race. The Spanish and Indians of Mexico cannot govern themselves .-The only remedies, therefore, that present themselves are conquest and colonization by other races, under the protector lien to the amount of $300,000. In this died, gentlemen. We have been "taken in" by the same tion of governments strong enough to resist the hordes of guerillas and robbers evening, by a vote of 48 to 48. On Saturday a good chance of losing it. that infest the land.

It is contrary to the wise policy of our government to enter upon wars of consition of the whole of it would not reward us for such cost. Yet we cannot look idly on and suffer England, or Spain, or France to make the conquest of the country, or to take it under their protection with a view to colonizing it with people antagonistic to ourselves in all respects: thus establishing on our border a European dependency that would continually give us trouble. The question is, what is to be done with Mexico? It is not to be denied that this is one of the most difficult question ever presented to the American government, and one requiring above all other recent questions, the wisest statesmanship and soundest patriotism. The present government has entored upon a course, the wisdom of which we are unable to see, in the general conclusion that exists. But it has linked American interests with the interests of one of the rival chieftains of Mexico, and policy of President Buchanan.

ramon and his forces as pirates and outlaws, and not as a national authority. It is plain then, that we cannot tell whether we are actually at war with Mexico, till we hear the result of the civil war now raging; till we know whether Juarez or Miramon is Mexico.

THE COST OF PUBLIC PRINTING. According to evidence taken by the Investigating Committee, appointed by the House at Washington, it appears that the aggregate amount paid for printing, binding, &c., by Congress, in the six years, was, $2,462,656 12, or a yearly average of nearly $700,000! In addition to this, the printing done for the Executive Departments of the Government during the same six years, amounted to $374.772,the selvertisements offering to pay at the end of three or six. 280. The profit on this works ranges money, whether one, five or ten dollars, we will give the from 83 to 70 per cent., averaging, as Mr. Wendell's foreman swore, 50 per cent. at least; that is to say, the work done for those six years has cost the Govvernment just $1,918,713 more than it should have done. A part of it was pocketed by the high contracting parties, and the residue spent in sustaining Democratic newspapers, and in getting pets elected to Congress Although the present investigations reveal only the amount lately squandered, we have no doubt that an investigation extended back for several administrations would show that enough has been lavished upon pet papers and men to pay one-fourth of the National

The first section of the bill, which provides for the publication of all applications for municipal laws and corporations was passed, and the balance of the sections were voted down. Free Banking Law.

The Free Banking Law, introduced by Mr. Strong, after full discussion and amendment has passed both Houses of the Legislature and will be signed by the Governor. We copy the following from the Philadelphia Bulletin, which gives the main provisions of the bill:

A certificate stating the particulars as to the bank to be established must be drawn up, approved by the Attorney General, published the newspapers, recorded in the courts, and a copy deposited and recorded in the Auditor Gen-

The Auditor General has the notes engraved and printed. Every note must be signed by him or his clerk, numbered and registered, and have stamped on it "secured by the deposit of pub-

The stocks deposited must be either of this State or of the United States, and the amount of notes issued to the bank by the Auditor General to be equal to the market value of the stock, less five per cept., provided that this is never to exceed ninety-five per cent. of the stock,

Twenty per cent in specie must be paid in before the bank can begin business, and it must always keep in its vaults, in specie, twenty per cent of the amount of notes, issued, as a security additional to the stock, in the hands of the Auditor General.

The capital stock cannot be less than fifty housand nor more than one million of dollars. No note less than five dollars to be issued. As soon as a bank stops the payment of specie the Auditor General appoints three citizens to make inquiry, and if they report that the bank is suspended, he is to appoint a receiver, who is to turn all the assets into money and pay. 1. The noteholders

2. The depositors. The other debta.

4. Distribute the remainder among the stockholders pro rata.

The condition of each bank must be published monthly in the newspapers, and on each semi-annual dividend day a statement is to be made on oath of the President and Cashier. which is to be sent to the Auditor General and nublished, setting forth minutely the condition of the bank. Existing banks may come under this bill.

Defalcation is to be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for from one to ten

A tax is paid on dividends to the State of from eight to thirty per cent. These are the main provisions and safeguards

The more the system of free banking is examined, the more generally, we think, it will be approved. There are some arguments for it that seem quite impregnable.

One is the great argument of experience.-Wherever the system has been tried, with suitable safe-gaurds, properly enforced, it has, we believe, without an exception, worked well .-In New York it has been long tried and with signal advantage.

Though it may be contrary to the first impressions of some of our renders, yet a little careful examination will show that free banks are safer than others. No more than a limited number of notes can be issued, for the bank can only pay out those they receive from the Auditor General; then there is the specie to be kept in the vaults, and the constant publishing of their condition, &c.

The number and capital of banks on this system distributes itself. It is self-acting.-The stocks will not be deposited unless there be business to be done. Over-grown corporations, forcing business, are not so liable to control the community. There is a continual complaint in some quarters of the want of banking capital. Under this system this complaint cannot be made. Whatever banking capital isneeded to develope the resources of the country can, at once be put in operation. The system is one of great equality. There are, no doubt, just complaints, often, of favoritism in the management of banks. Certain men, firms and families have gradually acquired control, until favors are granted to them habitually, while to others they are refused. It is well, in such cases, to create new centres of money power, new sets of directors, and give other men a fair chance. Let all who wish bank accommodations then set up their own bank, and no one will have a right to complain.

REASON AND COMMON SENSE

Our readers may remember we have on several occasions spoken in very eulogistic terms of a preparation which Dr. SETH S. HANCE, of 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md., has discovered for the cure of Epileptic Fits. Now, in doing so, we have been actuated by the very best motives, viz :the alleviation of human suffering. From circumstance which have lately come to our knowledge, we fear there is certain class of persons who are not disposed to try this emedy in a common sense manner. We allude to the fact selecting a particular case in a town where perhaps there are six or eight cases, and trying it one case. Now perhaps the case selected might be the only one of the whole number that it would not cure. This is neither doing them selves nor the medicine justice. If a dozen persons were stricken down with cholera in one town or neighborhood, would they all send for a physician, or would only one employ him, and wait and see it he cured the first pafient? That plan of procedure would be most absurd. So in the case of Dr. Hance's remedy, every one who has Fits should try it for a reasonable length of time. It will not cure in a day or week; nothing worth doing can be accoun olished at once. What is easily done is as easily undone,-The growth of time is enduring. From the most respects. ble testimony we have examined, we feel assured that by a proper perseverance in this remedy, nine cases of Epilepsy out of ten may be cured. The Pills are sent by mail free

It generally attacks children in the night, after having been much exposed to damp, cold winds through the day. Mothers! your children are liable to be taken with this dread complaint at a time when you least expect it; but it is not always a doctor can be called or a remedy found, and for this reason we would advise you, and without a moment's delay, to buy a bottle of Dr. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL.
