i to listen to "old Grimes" until they are the prosecutor. We have often heard it said that we see something new everytime we turn a corner, and we did see something new, the other day, on turning the corner on our way from our house to our office-we refer to the new, bulk window lately put up by Mrs. Hollar, in front of her Millinery and ladies' dress and trimming store. on the "Cheap Corner." The display in this window is such that not a few ladies spend more time when they go out shopping than they intended to, for the reason that they can not pass the "loves of bonnets," and other nice things to be seen there, without stopping to admire them. If they step inside they will find many more handsoms articles, and be waited upon with pleasure and politeness. THE WINDS .-I am a thing, though invisible to the eye, Sometimes I'm low, sometimes I'm high, Sometimes I'm high, sometimes I'm low. Sometimes I'm swift, sometimes I'm slow, Sometimes I come with vengeance strong. Sometimes I come like the lover's song. I scale the hills and the mountains high, I pass the lord and the beggar by. But pay attention to those who buy their clothing at Tuck's Union Clothing Bazaar, on Main street, where may now be found the largest and best assortment of ready-made clothing ever brought to a country town. Harry sell them at the lowest rates. Give him a call Bar We believe it is an universally admitted fact that ladies look the pretties when they first make their appearance in the spring fashions; and in many instances, we doubt not, they have on those occasions made impressions upon the sterner sex, which has eventuated in a visit to the minister. Since this is the fact, ladies should endeavor to get the prettiest and most fashionable goods in the market, wherewith to place themselves in the market, and this they can do by calling upon Miss Jennie Scott, who has just returned from the east with an endless variety of ladies' dress goods, bonnets, collars, caps, (for the old ladies not for the girls.) ribbons, &c., &c., which she will dispose of at reasonable prices. Look around you and listen; first and foremost comes the great "prize fight" or "mill" in its doggerel acceptation, between Heenan and Sayers. Men are seen together in groups upon the street, in stores, dwellings, and even not far from the vestibule to places of public worship, discussing the merits (physical) of these wonderful pugilistic champions. Behold them becoming pugilistic themselves-their arms and hands in motion. Heenan will whip! Heenan Com. vs. Daniel K. Reamy. Indictment, gambling house. | must whip, or our national pride is gone !-Alas! that the pride of a nation should be thought to be based upon such barbarous practices. We might as well assert that a dog-fight between a well-selected American cur and a similar one of English breed, would be the test of national strength, courage and greatness. The idea here becomes preposterous. How much better then if this subject was turned into scorn when allu ied to; and the intelligent assertion made, that nothing short of incarceration and hard labor should be the just reward meted out to the physical endurance of these wonderful ougilists. But change we now. A little better heme is up, though sometimes less wisely argued-the great political agitations now going on. Divided, as we are, into factious, too numerous to mention, each having its furious partizans, proclaiming long and loud that they are right and all others are wrong. That the country must be redeemed, &c. Is it to be wondered at that, as of yore, calm deliberations, order, and the good of the whole country, are now never thought of ! Party spirit, party spoils and party availability are now the watch-word of the day. Instead of trying to lead people in the right, he who would play the politician must shut his eyes to this, and go with them in the wrong. If we look to our Halls of Legislation. to the law-givers of the land, to the men who

For the Altoona Tribune. ALTOONA, May 1st, 1860. Mesers. Editors:- The last number of the Hollidayaburg Register contains a communication of a certain wiseacre, in that section, no doubt, who has taken upon himself the grave office of instructing the School Directors of the county how to act in casting their votes for County Superintendent of Common Schools, at the convention on Monday next. He is a wise man, no doubt. What a pity all the School Directors could not be like him. Among other things, he says. "it has been hinted (delicately enough) that by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, no man can hold an office of this Commonwealth. unless he has been a resident of the District or County, in which he is a candidate, at least one year preceding his election." This is a base garble. The Constitution contains no such clause. Here is what is said, verbatim et literatim: "No person shall be appointed within any county who shall not have been a citizen and an inhabitant therein one year before his appointment."
