A PROPOSAL.

We have no desire to deprive our subscribers of the amount of reading matter to which they are entitled, but our advertising patrons have crowded our columns considerably at the presont time, and as they pay well, of course we con't refuse them room. To tell the truth, we don't regret our present "tight place," as, after all, it is by the advertising patronage we receive we are enabled to keep up our paper. Whilst a good paying subscription list is a material help to a paper, yet if it had to subsist on that alone, very few country papers could live- In order to accommodate our subscribers as well as our advertising patrons, we propose to enlarge our paper one column on each page, at the commencement of the next volume, or sooner, if we receive proper encouragement. What benefitted.

John Bell on Secession. - A New York journal publishes a report from Tennessee to the of Col. Hall, of this place, on the part of the effect that John Bell has prepared an elaborate defence. It was one of his best efforts-a clear address to the American people on the crisis, and logical argument. The jury rendered a taking strong grounds against the right of se- | verdict for the dft. for $575, the value, we uncession and the expediency of it, and demonstrating the ruin to the border States which must follow from the Gulf States going out. # LOCAL ITEMS.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT .- On Friday afternoon last an accident occurred in the yard in this place. by which Mr. John Cramer, of Tyrone, who runs a market car on the road, was severely, if not fatally injured. It is customary to run the Local Freight Train to the head of the yard. when coming in from the East, and drop the cars down the different tracks on which they are wanted. On Friday afternoon Mr. C's car was the last on the train, and after being run to the head of the yard, it and several box cars were dropped down a track on which a number of coal trucks were standing By some means the cars which were heing dropped down became unmanageable and ran down the yard at considerable speed, driving Mr. C's car with great force against the trucks Mr. C. was standing on the front end of his car, consequently did not see his danger. After the concussion and, as he thinks, when the cars were springing back. his head was caught between the top of his car sufficiently hard to fracture his skull for several inches, extending from his forehead, and over his left car, to the base of the skull. Otherwise he was not injured in the least He was taken to the office of Drs. Good & Gemmill, where his wound was dressed, after which he was removed to Bowman's Exchange, where he now lies .--Everything that medical skill can suggest is being applied for his relief and he now appears to rest easy, although he is not out of danger.

A BEAUTY .-- On Tuesday evening last, at the invitation of Mr. D. R. Miller, of the Logan House, we jumped on a sled and rode up to the slaughter house of Mr. Runyan, to see a pig which the latter had just slaughtered for the former: It was a sight worth seeing-a beautyin fact a perfect hog. It weighed, when dressed. the nice little pile of 520 pounds. It was not as long as the common breed of hogs in this part of the country, but, as a dutchman would say, it was "wide out" It measured, as nearly as we could ascertain, a foot and a half acress the shoulders and nearly two feet across the good you bring, and health to all to enjoy it .kidneys. The fat on its back bone measured And when seven inches and the flitches between six and eight inches in thickness. The pig was of the Suffolk breed-full blooded-and was about 8 years old. It was brought here and raised by Mr. Miller who has the reputation of, and prides himself in, getting a good breed of whatever kind of stock he raises, and the yield of pork above noticed proves that all who raise hogs would be the gainers if they followed his ex-

When the train reached Black Log Station, Grif gave his engine in charge of the fireman, and procuring an axe he started back to despatch the bear, which he found in a ravine close to where the accident occurred, but when he attempted to acquaint bruin with the axe, the latter backed up to a tree and showed two dangerous rows of ivory and wielded his dexter paw in an ugly manner. Under the impression that he was too much injured to travel, and as night had set in, Grif went to Mifflin, intending to return and have the fun out the next day.

Accordingly, on Friday morning, he, in company with another man, both armed, and a dog, went in search of the bear, but when they came to the snot where he was last seen, it was found he had swam the river, orippled as he was, and made for the mountain.
