LOCAL ITEMS.

ROWDYISM. -- Rowdyism is fast on the increase in our borough. For some time past, our streets have nightly been made to resound with vells, as though his satanic majesty had turned loose upon earth a few of the inmates of his habitation, who, revelling in riot and drunkenness, make night hideous with their yelling. profanity and blackguardism, rendering themselves ridiculous and almost unendurable. We have always boasted of the quiet of our town in this respect, and the high moral character of our citizens, but we are led to fear that our hoasting will soon be turned to consure if this state of things continues. The "turbulents" generally are young men who have just arrived at the age at which they take their places in the world on their own responsibility. Their characters are now being formed, but alas! we fear for anything else than useful lives. We think it high time that steps were taken to initiate a reformation in this matter, that our youths, with dignity and pride, might walk the paths of rectitude, sobriety and virtue, thus crowning themselves with honor, and fitting themselves to fill, in future life, the various positions which must necessarily fall to their lot, when those who now hold them shall have gone on that journey "whence no traveller returns." Reformation is needed, but how shall it be accomplished, so long as parents will allow their children the liberty of prowling the streets at | Sands. unscasonable hours? So long as parents permit this breach of trust which belongs to them, and for which they will be held accountable by a higher than human tribunal, so long will moral sussion prove ineffectual and sink into insignificance when the allurements of night to vice and immorality, are ever spread before the unwary. We wish that we could say something which would induce parents to look after their boys when they are not found around the hearthstone at home at the proper retiring hour. Could we do so, we feel sure that we would have accomplished a work equal to that of the greatest benefactor of the human race, for the reason that thereby many boys who are new forming habits which will result in their ultimate-misery and ruin, and bring their parents in sorrow to the grave, would be save i to usefulness and happiness, not only to themselves, but to all around them. But this rowdyism, which we noticed at the head of this article must be stopped. If one police officer is not sufficient to check it, more should be appointed. It is not to be presumed that peaceable citizens are to be annoyed at all hours of the night, by a band of outlaws, and have no redress therefor. Some of the young men who have made a practice of misbehaving upon the streets at night, may yet find themselves the tenants of the "Lock-Up."

THE ANNUAL CRISIS .- The first of April is near at hand. Already in elongated countenances, pallid cheeks, quivering lips, and hurried steps of those we meet in our walks, are manifested the indubitable tokens of that rapidly approaching crisis which will test the capacity of peckets, and try the depth of purses. Complaints are many and multiplying of scarcity of the ready pewter wherewith to satisfy duns and compose creditors. Our household gods look desponding and afflicted in view of approaching trials; while the housekeepers, who are easy and amiable eleven months in the Year, are relentlessly routing cracked crockery from corner cup-boards, and banishing to back bondoirs the boots and beavers of better days. Our county officers, lawyers and scriveners are taking early breakfasts to meet the increasing demands upon their time and services money lenders are pouring over their bonds and bank books, figuring up the amount they will have on hand for the accommodation of their needing and numerous friends-borrowers are as busy as bees, looking out in time for the wherewithal to meet their various engagements - while business people generally are stirring about with more than usual energy and activity, " getting ready for the first." May all be prepared for the crisis!

MISTARES. - Mistakes are one of the severest. everybody gets to see his mistakes, and everybody thinks that he or she has a certain inalienable right to say or think whatever he or she pleases about such mistakes Printers, to a degree, are privileged characters, and their characters and faults appear to be the privilege of others, but they don't take half the liberty with the faults of others which others do with theirs. Very friequently we find, after our edition is off, that a word, or a line, which we had written, was left out or misplaced by the compositor, just at a point where the sense would be destroyed. Of course we have then no remedy but to correct next week, and ten chances to one, it is forgotten, and passed on from week to Week, and is never corrected. Our compositors

THE PRINTER'S ESTATE.—The printer's dollars! Where are they? A dollar here and a dollar there, scattered over numerous small towns, all over the country, miles and miles apart-how shall they be gathered together !-The type founder has his hundreds of dollars against the printer; the paper maker, the building owner, the journeyman compositor, the groser, the tailor, and all assistants to him in carrying on his business, have their demands, hardly ever so small as a single dollar. But the mites from here and there must be diligently gathered and patiently hoarded, or the wherewith to dischar e the large bills will never become bulky. We imagine the printer will have to get up an address to his widely scattered dollars. something like the following: "Dollars, halves, quarters, dimes, and all manner of fractions into which ye are divided, collect yourselves and come home! Ye are wanted! Combinations of all sorts of men, that help the printer to become a proprietor, gather in such force and demand with such good reasons your appearance at his counter, that nothing short of a sight of you will appease them. Collect yourselves, for valuable as you are in the aggregate, single you will never pay the cost of gathering. Come in here in single file, that the printer may form you into a battalion, and send you forth again to battle for him and vindicate his feeble credit." Reader, are you sure you havn't a couple of the printer's dollars sticking about your

MAGIC, VENTRILOQUISM. ETC .- Our exchanges throughout the country, wherever Prof. H. Sands, the world renowned Magician and Ventrilo quist, has performed, are loud in their commendations of his skill in all he attempts, and he attempts and completes successfully every feat ever performed by a magician. One of our exchanges says of him that he is a Ventriloquist, Magician and Humorist of the first water, and advises all who are suffering with the blues, all who wish amusement, all who wish to "laugh and grow fat," to attend Prof. S's lectures. He exposes spiritualism and table turnings. Of one thing we are well satisfied, and that is, that he is one of the best slight-of-hand performers with whom we have ever met. Pleasant—the weather and Roush's three cent ci-

The weather clerk came well nigh getting us into a scrape that time, the proprietor of the cigars mentioned above having threatened to indict us for slander. Verily, the weather at this season is as fickle as the fair sex. Now, when we penned that article, the weather was pleasant. Just so it is with the so called angels of this mundane sphere; about the time a young man thinks he is going to make a capital "hit," the object of his affections is off with some "ot her dear charmer." But a truce to soliloquy—let the weather and the girls prove fickle if they will, but Roush's cigars are when we penned that article, the weather was HARD TIMES AND WANTS .- Virtue wants more admirers; Vice more opponents; Truth more real friends; Falsehood fewer repeaters; Wisdom more suppliants; Honesty more practitioners. The trade wants more profit, or less envy of his more fortunate neighbor. Religion wants less said about the theory and more done in the way of practice. Philanthropy wants a residence and Fidelity an asylum. Love, Charity and our Banks want to be in better credit.— Pride wants to be discarded and modest diffidence introduced. Every old Bachelor wants a wife, and every girl of sixteen a husband .-Every Creditor wants his bill paid, and every Debtor wants money to pay it, and, finally, every body is wanted to mind his own business and let that of his neighbor's alone.

DEALERS IN STRAW AND MILLINERY GOODS.-When your object is to purchase the finest, best and most varied assortment of goods in your line at the lowest rates, visit the establishment of Messrs. Lincoln, Wood & Nichols, No. 725 Chestnut St., Philadelphia. We refer to their card, in our columns, with pleasure, and do not exaggerate when we tell you that this is one of the most extensive houses of its kind in the United States. PALE SUNDAY AND HOLY WEEK .- Last Sunday, the last before Easter, was Palm Sunday, so called in commemoration of the entry of Christ into Jerusalem, when the multitude went forth to meet him and strewed branches of palm in his way. It is observed by peculiar services in all the Catholic and in some of the Protestant churches. The present week is called Holy Week in commemoration of the passion and death of the Saviour, and each day will be observed in all the Catholic churches. On Friday the churches will be clad in mourning until Sunday, when the resurrection will be commemorated by a religious jubilee. ARRESTED. On Tuesday morning last, a German, named Stitzel, living near McAuley & Co.'s Planing Mill, in North Ward, was arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of Mr. McAuley, charging him with stealing lumber. The premises of Stitzel were searched, and a quantity of the lumber found. On the representation of Stitzel that his boys had stolen the lumber, Mr. McA. did not proceed against him, and the case was compromised by Stitzel paying five dollars for the lumber and costs of action.

Little did the writer think when he began the services on that calm Sabbath evening, that ere he should conclude, one of the most attentive of his audience would quit the prison house of clay and become the companion of spirits in an eternal world. What was our surprise when at that moment a messenger brought the tidings that the vital spark had fied.

We have since learned from the female companion who retired with her, that after leaving the church door, with much difficulty, and by the assistance of her friend, she reached the house of Mrs. Cyuffman, near by, to which place Dectors Christy and Findley and her family were sumnoned, who did all that could be done to alleviate her sufthe shaft, and in about half an hour after she left the church her soul had taken its flight. She retained her reason and was able to converse with those around her almost to the moment of her dissolution.
