SELECT POETRY.

BY DAVID PAUL KNOWLTON.

Come, rush to the rescue!

The rebels and traitors are thirsting for blood!

The horns of our youth is the spoil of the stranger.

And garlands wreath their hair as they come.

Then rush to the rescue! arise from your slumbers!

The shades of your fathers appeal for your aid!

Let the traitors advance with their rash redoubt numbers—

True patriots and freemen are never dismayed.

The foe is before us; march onward to great dig!

Let them boast as they may, they but greet their own grave!

The brave and the just are still eager to meet them.

And teach them the difference 'twixt freemen and slaves.

Let them scourge their poor bondmen and talk of their glory—

Inhuman, remorseless, conceited and vain!

When they gleam with honors, they'll soon learn the story

When they tremble at the objects of scorn and disdain!

Come on, then, your ruffled plumes don't display;

Your golden pretensions will soon change to brass;

We know that your nation is nothing but braying;

That the skin of the lion disguises the ass.

You have paled the arm often paled to defend you!

Invaded the Union you've sworn to maintain;

You've outraged the laws that were made to restrain you.

And wounded the bosom that yearned to befriend you.

What then, are the evils that move your displeasure?

What plea can you urge for this fratricide strife?

Have we captured your forts? Have we squandered your treasure?

Have we plotted your death, or embittered your life?

Oh! search your dark thoughts! and you'll find that the spirit

Of hatred, revenge, love ambition and pride

Impels you to sacrifice, if you liberate—

All your brave spirit level for, and for which they die!

Oh! search your dark thoughts! and you'll find that the

spirit

Of hatred, revenge, love ambition and pride

Impels you to sacrifice, if you liberate—

All your brave spirit level for, and for which they die!

Oh! search your dark thoughts! and you'll find that the
