LIVER COMPLAINT. SICK HEADACHE, DYSPEPSIA, &C. JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS.

A MILD, PROMPT & EFFECTIVE REMEDY. THERE is scarcely any disease in which pringative medicines are not required; and much sickness and suffering sight be prevented were they more generally used. No personnel for seel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides; it soon generates serious and often faul diseases, which might be avoided by the timely and judicious use of proper Cathastic medicines. Convinced of the currectness of these views, JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS Are recommended with the greatest confidence, experience having demonstrated them to be far superior to any other in use, being more mild, prompt, safe and uniform in their operation. While using them no particular care is required, and patients may eat and drink as usual. Age will not impair them, as to always readily dissolve in the stomach. In small doses they are alterative and gently, lexative, but in large doses are actively enthantic, cleansing the whole alimentary canal from all putrid, irritating and fecal matters.

matters. For DYSPEPSIA, these Pills are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the Stomach and Liver, and producing healthy action in those important organs. In cases of long standing, a cure will be more speedily effected by using, in conjunction with the Pills, either JAYNE'S ALTERATIVE or TONIC VERMITIES AND ALTERATIVE OF TONIC VERMITIES AND ALTERATIVE OF TONIC VERMITIES ALTERATIVE.

Pills, either JAYNE'S-ALTERATIVE or TONIC VER-MIFUGE, according to directions.

For Liver Complaint, Göut, Janudice, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fevers, Nervousness, Diseases of the Skin, Imparity of the Bladd, Sik Headache, Costivenew, Piles, Female Diseases, and Billions Affections, these Pills have proved themselves eminently successful. All that is asked for them is a fair trial.

As these Pills have proved themselves so eminetly successful in removing diseases of the Liver. Dyspeptia act diseases of the Skin, I have thought it advisable to add the following remarks on

LIVER COMPLAINT.

This is a disease much balked about, but at the same time very imperfectly understood.

Properly speaking, every derangement of the Liver or Billious system is a liver Complaint, but the peculiar state of the Liver to which I now have reference is a Chronic Affection, and usually arises from a torpid or congestive state of that important organ. Sometimes the bile is deficient in quantity, or vittated in quality, or both these states prevail at the same time. Sometimes the discase is owing to obstruction in the duct or pips which conveys the bile from the lifer into the bowels. This obstruction is very frequent, and is usinally caused by the pipe heirg clogged up by thick tenacious sline or nincous, and sometimes by gall-stones. The life is then thrown back into the gail-bladder, where it is absorbed by numerous small vessels which convey it into the Thorgic Duct, a pipellat truns up along the spine, and terminates in and emplications. vessels which convey it into the Thorscie Duct, a pire that runs up along the spine, and terminates in and empties itself into the large vein of the left shoulder, near it juncti n with the veins of the head and neck, and thence the bile is conveyed to the heart and becomes mixed with the blood. The bile in this manner being diverted from its proper course, and circulating in a part of the body where it never was designed by nature, produces much coil, and often disastrons effects upon the health of the individual—because, for want of healthy bile to mix with the half-digested food, a complete separation never takes place between the chyle (the milky liquer which forms the blood) and those portions of the food designed by nature to be ejected from the bowels—for the bile, when present, purifies and separates the healthy from the unhealthy portions, in the same manner that isinglass or white of eggs separate wine or cider from their impurities—and, consequently, the very fountain of life is vitated and corrupted. Costiveness prevails—or alternately costiveness or diarrone. Costiveness prevails—or alternately costiveness or diar-rhose—wind in the stomach and bowels and the patient is rhoa—wind in the stomach and lowels and the patient is often annoyed with worms, and frequently with the piles. The coarse particles of the bile thus nixed with the blood. The coarse particles of the bile thus nixed with the blood more or less obstruct the pores of the skin and small blood-ressels, and hence give rise to various diseases of the skin, such as crysipelas, cozema, itchings, small watery lessols, blotchess tumors, pimples, schriness, boils, sore eyes, sores and ulcers of various kinds. The skin is more or less of sore and deers of various kinds. The skin is more or very dark, and has a disagreeable, dirty, greasy appearance, and sometimes there is a perfect jaundice. The white of the eyes also has a green or yellow tings.

MORE OR LESS bite is strained from the blood in its passage through the kidneys, and, by its acrimory, preduces pains in the back, and scalds and irritates all the urinary passages. Some days the passage of urine is pro-high colored, red or yellow, with a rank, onensive odor, and sometimes it is bloody.

The tongue is usually more or less coated with a brown sourf. There is irritation, and frequently chronic inflammation of the inner surface of the stomach and bowels, with a tenderness on pressure, and a soreness afong the lower edge of the ribs.

SOMETIMES THERE IS A LOATHING of food, and at these times there is a voracious annetite. There is often a SOMETLUES THERE IS A LUATHING OF food, and at other times there is a voracious appetite. There is often a feeling of chilliness, and coldness of the feet and knew, and along the inside of the thighk—sour or hitter cructations, and sometimes a spitting or throwing up of the food after cating.

There is a feeling of oppression across the stomach and chest, as if pressed down by a weight; troublesome and often frightful dreams, low spirits, hanguor, want of energy, melancholy restlessuess and discontentedness, dreaminess of mind—timorousness aind a great deal of trouble, and a disposition to magnify everything, sometimes great watchfullness and an inability to sleep—at others great drowsiness, weatthess, and disinclination to motion. huskipess of the throat, and sometimes a very severe, dry, and hard cough, which is often mistaken for consumption. This cough often commences in the latter part of the night or early in the morning, and lasts for hours, frequently producing nausea and vomiting. If there be any expectoration, it is, a tough, ropy, tenacious phlegm, which adheres to everything it touches. There are also frequently phronic plantis. large to everything it touches. There are also frequently chronic pleurisy pains in various parts of the cheet, which shift about from one part of the breast or side to the other. Sometimes abscesses form in the liver, and pressing upward on the lungs, produce constriction and cough, and breaking, discharge their contents into the lungs, whence it must be ejected by expectoration, or the patient is destroyed. Some persons are troubled with spasmodic twitches in various parts of the body, sometimes faintness and sighing, difficulty of breathing; reading or talking producing weariness. THERE 18-A BEATING ENNATION near the pit of the stomach, with palpination and fluttering of the heart; profusion of dandruff and loss of the hair; indeed, to sum up in a few words—a yellow, dirty, greasy appearance of the skin, a yellow or green tage of the white of the eyes, an aching pain across the kidneys and hips, with irritation or heat in discharging urine—a sensation of fullness or distension across the abdomen, with tenderness on pressure—lowness of spirits, frightful dreams, acidity of stomach, with other dyspeptic urine—a sensation of fullness or distension across the abdomen, with tenderness on pressure—lowness of spirits, frightful dreams, acidity of stomateh, with other dyspeptic symptoms, billious fevers, billious colics and bilious diarrhoos and dysenteries, obstinate costiveness, intermittent and remittent fevers, jaundite, fever, and ague, &c., all originate from the same cause—a depanded state of the liver. Vlolent remedies always do more harm than good; but, by a persevering use of these pills, all that can be desired will be accomplished.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT is to give the patient, every night on going to bed, from two four Sananations, every night on going to bed, from two four Sana-ive pills; or enough of them to insure one and not more tive pills; or enough of them to insure one and not more than two evacuations from the bowels noxt morning.—The dose of the Pills can be increased or diminished at pleasure, so as to produce the above effect, and their use should be continued until a cure is completed; and also, at the same time give the Alterative three times a day according to the directions, unless there is a want of appetite, with weakness and debility or symptoms of worms prevail, when, instead of the Alterative, give a teaspoonful of the Vermifuse, (mixed in a little cold water and sweetness) and the same than the same treatment of the Alterative, give a teaspoonful of the Vermifuse, (mixed in a little cold water and sweetness) and the same than the same treatment of the treatment of the treatment of the treatment or chest, then give the expectorant as often and in such doses as may be found necessary to quiet the cough, and make expectoration easy.
