A short time since it became desirable to take up and remove the remains of Mrs. L. and last week Mr. D. L. Smith of this place, was employed to perform the labor. The grave was opened, and the coffin, which was in a state of perfect preservation, was removed; but before depositing it in the new place, it was concluded to open it, especially as it appeared uncommonly heavy. It was therefore opened, and the body of Mrs. L. was found to be perfectly petrified; every part being as full and fair as on the day of her burial. eight years before, except the lower part of the face and hands, which were partially decayed. Her limbs, breast and every part. with the above exceptions, were solid stone, and as fair and perfect as when she died. The soil of the grave was clay, and possessed no peculiarities discernable. This is an uncommon case, and withat a curious one. We get these facts from Mr. Smith the sexton. - Genesse (IH.) Republican.

Not long since, a gentleman took his little daughter to a dentist to have a tooth extracted After the operation her father said to her:

"Now my dear, if you don't put your tongue where the tooth came out you'll have a gold tooth." To which she replied:

"If I should have one, it would not be long before you would try to get it sale
