MY COUNTRY.

love my country-every breeze That sweep across her heaving sea-Her saure skies her mountain heights-And all her fair and glorious sights. I leve my country! Let the Greek In raptures of his sun clime speak;

No land can be compared to this. I love my country! - yet 'tie not Because 'tis nature's favorite apot; But 'tis because it is the land' Where freeman may in safety stand.

Of snow-clad hill may boast the Swiss;

I love my country!-may it be The home of all the noble free; But never lazing house of those Who are at home their country's foes. I love my country! -- every grave, Moss grown; of her immortal brave,

By weeping Preedom laid to rest.

Whose memories are forever blest. I love my country !-- all the host Of noble men whom she may boast; Her every tried and faithful son, From Jackson up to Washington.

I love my country! in my heart;

Their country, next to that above.

In her defence its tide shall flow. When Freedom points to me her foe Oh, Thou, who didst our Fathers guide, Still o'er our lovely land preside; Direct their sons, and may they love

While yet the crimson blood doth start.
