LOCAL ITEMS.

GALLANT "LITTLE BLAIR."-We feel proud of "Little Blair." Her quota of troops under the call for 300,000 volunteers was two companies, or 200 men. Has she came up to the work? Let the companies she is about to send to the field tesnify. They are as follows: Capt. F. M. Bell, of Tyrone, has recruited a company of 107 men. Col. Higgins has recruited a company of 120 men at Williamsburg.

Capts. Szink and Gardner, of this place, will have full companies this evening. Capt. John McKeage, of Hollidaysburg, will have his company full this evening. Capt. Crissman, of Martinsburg, is getting along finely, and expects to have his comyany full before the 10th of August.

Besides the above there are a number of parts of companies, in different places, which, if thrown together, would form a seventh company: and we have, also, several officers recruiting for old regiments, among whom are Capt. Hopkins, at Tvrone, and Serg't McConnell, at Newry. Captain Hopkins is, we understand, getting along very well. The last named officers are recruiting three year men, and they will get along faster after the nine months men leave.

Taking the above calculation, we find that "Little Blair," will, by Saturday, have furnished 400 or 500 men more than her share of the first quota of 300,000, and 200 or 300 more than her quota under the last call for 300,000 malitia .-Has any county done better under the last two calls that did as well as Blair under the three years call last summer. When the companies above reterred to are in the field. Blair county will have furnished between 1500 and 2000 men for the war, a proportion almost equal to one-half of her voting population. If more men are needed she has a rew more left who will not wait to be drafted.

This prompt action on the part of the patriotic men of this county will save it from the stigma of a draft. It is certainly not reasonable to suppose that, after having furnished so many men over the amount asked for, a draft will be made upon those that renain. We have heard it argued that if a draft h resorted to, to fill up either of the last calls, all counties will be drawn from, irrespective of the number of men they may have sent forward. We think the fact that the Governor specified the number of companies each county was to furnish, is evidence sufficient to show that every county must furnish its own quota, whether by volunteers or drafts, and that the county which does more than its duty will not be called upon to make up the deficiency of others. It would not be reasonable, or right, that Blair county, after having furnished 200 or 300 more men than her share, under both calls, should be drawn from to make up the deficiency in Bedford county, should there be any, and she will not be

All the companies from this county leave for Harrisburg to-morrow morning.

Second Mass War Meeting .- Pursuant to notices conspicuously posted, a second mass war meeting was held in front of the post office, in this place, on Monday evening last. A previous engagement prevented our being present at the opening of the meeting, but we have been furnished with the following list of the officers elected to preside, viz.:

President-JOHN SHOEMAKER. Vice Presidents-Wm. Loudon, Sr., Gen. Geo.

The meeting was ably addressed by Hon. Geo. Taylor and John G. Miles, Esq., of Huntingdon; Wm. L. Hirst and John M. Kennedy, esq., of Philadelphia; Capt. R. J. Crozier, of Company M, 62d Pa. Reg't; Hon. Thomas E. Franklin, of Lancaster; Hon. John Covode, of Westmoreland, and Robert Johnson, Esq., of Ebensburg.

We cannot particularize the addresses of the able men who spoke on this occasion, other than to say that they were all excellent war speeches, and calculated to arouse the patriotism of all who heard them. All appeared to centre on one point, that of volunteering at once, and so reinforcing our army now in the field that the Federal forces may again assume the offensive instead of acting on the defensive, and if we may judge from the manner in which recruits have since poured in to the companies in this place, the meeting had the desired effect. One of the speakers, Mr. Covode, did, we think, advert to matters which should not have been dragged before the public at this time. This is not the time to go back to political issues and explain the cause of the war, or indulge in criminations of this General or that one, or censure supposed mistakes. By so doing he stirred up bad feelings and weakened his otherwise patri-

From the Standard of yesterday, we copy the following report of an interesting suit which was tried at last term of court :-

The suit of Chas. Rauch, by his father, F. W. Rauch, against Gilbert L. Lloyd—an interesting railway suit—was tried for the third time, last week, in the Common Pleas of this county. In 1856. Charles Ranch, then a boy of five years of age, in company with two other boys—one young-er and the other older—left his father's house, on Juniata street, for the purpose of obtaining sharings at the boatvard, and proceeded across the road at the Montgomery street crossing.-Coming back, they arrived at the railroad, and found the public crossing blocked up by Lloyd & Hill's coal cars. The youngest boy in the party walked around the train, some distance above, but the oldest boy (Myers) and Chas. Rauch attempted to creep under the cars. Whilst doing so, Archibald McFadden's driver moved the train injuring Myers somewhat, but Chas. Rauch so badly that amputation of both limbs, below the knees, became necessary, and was successfuly ac-complished. Charles Rauch then brought suit against Lloyd & Hill to recover damages. Hill naving in the meantime died, the suit proceeded against Lloyd alone. It appears that the crossing had been partially obstructed by other cars, and when Lloyd & Hill's cars came down the railroad, the gap was filled up, and the crossing completely obstructed. The conductor of the train left his cars standing, and went to his breakfast. McFadden, whose business it was to move cars, some time afterward hitched his horses to the cars, moved them whilst the plaintiff was under them, and produced the inju-ries for which suit was brought to recover damatrial resulted in a verdict for the defendants. Exceptions were taken to the instructions of the Court, and the case was removed to the Suprem-Court, on a writ of error, when the judgment of the court below was reversed. The second trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for one dollar, which, being absurd, the court at once set it aside and granted a new trial. The third trial took place last week, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff of four thousand dollars (4,000.) The testimony showed conclusively that the defendant's cars were unnecessarily and unlawfully obstructing the public highway, and therefore the owner of the cars or the conductor, was, in the eyes of the law, responsible for his negligence and carclessness, unless there had been concurrent neglect on the part of the plaintiff. This question, and the measure of damages, were the only ques-tions which really engaged the attention of the jureasoned that, because of his tender years and con-sequent want of discretion, he should not be held sponsible.

The defendant at once moved for a new trial, which will be argued and disposed of hereafter.

The following resolutions were passed at the last meeting of the Board of Relief, of Blair co.: Resolved, That in all cases where the husband or the main support of any Pennsylvania volunteer's family from the county of Blair has been killed or died in the service of the United States, or hereafter may be killed or die in the said serce during the rebellion, that the Blair County Relief Board will give support to the families of such at the rate of one dollar per week for widow and fifty cents per week for each child under fourteen years, until said family shall have obtained a bounty or pension from the State or General Government: Provided, That this shall not be contrued as to include families whose circumstances are such as to preclude the necessity of relief.

Resolved 2nd, That relief is hereby suspended in

We think they will find the men with them immediately. It is worth an effort.

FATAL ACCIDENT,—On Saturday night last, a nan named James Cunningham, residing at Hemr ock, Cambria county, was run over and killed on the railroad between Gallitzin and Cresson. His remains were found on Sunday morning literally cut to pieces. He had been in this place on Sat-Hall, Jemi urday and was urged to enlist, but declined because ne was not certain of receiving the bounty, and Itel, Miss Mary J. because he was not sure that his family would be provided for. Had he yielded to the solicitations of those who wished him to enlist, he might have been spared to his family. It is supposed that he was intoxicated at the time the accident occurred.

Manufactured and sold by HALLER & SAMUEL, sole agents, 459 North Second Street, Philadelphia, and for sale by R. A. O. Kerr.

ALTOONA, PA. HUYETT & FRIDLEY'S PATENT. These Cans and Jars, being perfectly simple in their arrangement, and requiring no cement or solder to make them Air-Tight, are the most reliable and convenient vessels for preserving fruits and vegetables of all kinds, that are in the market.

THEY POSSESS THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES: 1st. All that is required after the fruit has been put in his is simply to screw the top down tightly.

2d. They can be opened by a single turn of the cover, and the consents taken out in one-fourth the time required and the contents taken out in one-fourth the time required by other cans.

3d. Besides their simplicity and ease of adjustment, and impossibility of stoppers blowing out, they show at all times the exact condition of the fruit, by simply looking at the top of the cover; if the gum is concave the fruit is good; if convex, the fruit is going to spoil, but will always show itself in time to be saved.

Directions. Directions.

Heat the Jars or p ace an irou spoon in them while filling, which will avoid cracking. After the Jars are full, take out the spoon or irou, and screw down the cap tight. Care should be taken to replace the same covers on the same Jars from which they were taken.

To restore the guns that have been used, to their original shape, put them in hot water for one hour.
