Ubbl Stony. -Barnes, of the Albany Morning Times, tells a very good story of the power of the Philiadelphia engines. In 1850 he was one of the "Old Dilly" boys, and at such was often honored with the pipe. On one occasion Barnes was playing a stream down the gutter," which attracted the atdown the gutter," which attracted the at-Mississippi tention of a large Newfoundland dog. The New Jersey dog thought he would play with the stream, Michigan and commenced biting at it. I've been dreaming of the hills, Mary, O'er which I loved to roam;
Of the brooklets and the rills, Marry, That ripple 'round my home. Of the chinick I once attended.

With those I prised to Russe.

Where peace and joy were blended,

In the days of "Long Ago." I've been dreaming of a mother, Mary, Whose care was freely given, And the prayers of a brother, Mary,

That were wasted up to Hearen. And I know, although I'm absent, That prayers are offered now Tima I improve the present,
As directed "Long Ago."
