

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

John Bigler and William Bigler, arrived in town last Monday, and were received by their numerous friends with cordiality.

John Bigler, met his fellow citizens in the evening, by invitation of the Democracy, and addressed them on the issues of the campaign.

He said that after an absence of twenty-three years he had returned to Bellefonte, and was happy to appear before the citizens of Centre county.

He referred to the danger of a dissolution of the Union in warning terms, and produced the sentiments of the Black Republican leaders, who openly avow a determination to rend this Union.

He reviewed the three-fifths representation of the slave population of the Southland proved that the North were the gainers of it—showed that a man in the South who has one thousand slaves had but one vote, and a man who did not possess a dollar was entitled to the same privilege at the ballot box with the wealthiest slave owner.

He referred to the commencement of the slave trade, and proved conclusively that Massachusetts and Connecticut were the importers of slaves, and that the South were the first to remonstrate against that trade.

He said that the North had never yet yielded an acre to slavery, but the South had yielded more territory of her own than the whole of New England—and that the North in abolishing slavery, sold their slaves to the South and received pay for human flesh, and now cry aloud against the horrors of slavery.

His remarks in relation to the condition of the negro were appropriate, and substantiated by history and experience. In relation to the Brooks and Sumner affair, he compared Mr. Brooks to Col. Fremont; and the attack of Fremont on an old man in the ante-room of the Senate, was a more heinous crime against the laws of the country than that of Brooks—and that Fremont, by which means he wanted to get his hands in the blood of a fellow Senator for words spoken in debate.

D. G. Bush, Esq.—During the brief residence of this gentleman in Centre county, he has won for himself a solid reputation which will be gratifying to his friends at a distance.

He is a Democrat at heart, and labors for principle. As a public speaker, he has few if any superiors. In his speeches his efforts are to convince his auditors, and he is successful in these efforts.

His firmness and candor in the discussion of the issues are such that the opposition have to admire, and admit that he is a gentleman; and that he speaks what he knows is true, and he determined that others shall know it too.

He has been room we shall give a synopsis of one of his speeches. Mr. Bush has addressed nearly every Democratic meeting held in this campaign, in Centre county, and has travelled into every section to gratify the Democracy, and he has also consented to be at their services until the end of the campaign.

He will, in connexion with Mr. Blair and others, address the Democrats at Lucas school house, Boggs township, on Thursday, September 18th. Boulders, Friday 19th, Potter's Mills, Saturday afternoon and evening, 20th. Loop school house, Saturday 27th.

The following are the officers who presided at the meeting on Monday evening last, addressed by Ex-Governor John Bigler of California.

President—Col. J. Gilliland of Potter.

Vice-President—John Garbick, of Marion; Daniel Shirk of Potter, Isaac May of Bellefonte, John History of Spring, J. B. Meek of Patton.

Secretary—R. Lipton of Milesburg, Jno. Hoffer of Potter township, I. C. Mitchell, and Henry Hays of Bellefonte.

NECESSITY FOR A SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

It is not a great extent that the farmer is, without it, a mere manufacturer, and we should not have commerce without cultivation of the earth, man in all countries, a savage. No one is to be his master, and the success of the great interest is one as to how to be benefited by its prosperity or decline.

Without the success of Agriculture, a country, however blessed by nature must continue poor. The farmer of today should be not only a thoroughly educated man, and possessed of sound accomplishments, but he should be practically a man of fine taste.

A young man born to the inheritance of a good landed estate, may well be accounted fortunate. Yet, if he has not learned how to value and regard it, or to manage it judiciously, it may prove but the occasion of a so much deeper fall into ruin.

And, to the youth who is wholly dependent on his own exertions, practical instruction is equally valuable. Rev. W. S. Rihm, the "Vicar of Winkfield," observes in his Dictionary of the Farm, that "The great superiority of those schools which have been established to teach the children of the poor to work as well as to read, over those which teach book knowledge only, is indisputable. A boy who can manage a little garden, who takes pleasure in watching the seed he has sown, who plucks out every weed as soon as it appears, and who prides himself upon the fruits and vegetables which he can plant and raise, is a more valuable person than a man who can only read and write, however well he may do both.

These considerations refer to individual advantage—the benefits to a community of large numbers of persons, and the condition of different nations under different procedures.

Through all ages there were men as ingenious and observant as any are now, but it was only when the art of printing began to diffuse its enlightening influences through all nations, that the progress of the individual became generally known.

So great a change has taken place, and civilized nations have become so much more fraternal and social, that now they invite each other to see and examine all implements, material processes, and methods of industry. They meet and award premiums to the best article or invention without respect to nationality. They exchange seeds and breeds; and improvements of all kinds are diffused more widely now in one year than they were in one hundred years but two or three centuries ago.

It is not, however, that as the mere sight of mechanical operations does not make a mechanic without practice, so, and much more so, is it in agriculture, that a facility and consequent permanent riches for rural pursuits; and that the pen, although mighty with the sword, is not competent to all didactic illustration of the subject.

THE FARMERS.

There is still but a small business doing in grain. The farmers are not yet through with seedling, and the grain business must remain dull until seed is in the ground.

New flour for home consumption is in demand from $7 to $11 per barrel. Flour manufactured at High Falls has been selling from $7 3/4 to $8 1/2 per barrel.

Wheat old 100 cents per bushel. Wheat new 100 cents per bushel. Rye old 60 cents per bushel. Rye new 60 cents per bushel. Corn, 45 cents to 50 per bushel. Oats, 35 cents per bushel. Potatoes, 82 cents per bushel. Cloverseed, $7.00 per bushel. Flaxseed, $1.00 per bushel. Eggs, 12 cents per dozen.

Philadelphia Sept. 16. 1855—The Flour market is firm, but the export demand is limited, under the influence of more favorable weather—the commencement of the arrival of the Arabia at 20,000 barrels, and the Pennsylvania at 20,000 barrels of superfine flour, and the arrival of the Arabia at 400,000 extra at $7.50. There is a limited demand for the supply of the city, and at $7 a bushel, extra, in quality. Rye Flour is steady at $3.50 per bushel. Corn Meal is in fair request, with small sales of Penna, at $3.50 per bushel.

In this borough, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, on Thursday, the 11th inst., by Rev. James Linn, Mr. N. W. Allen, of the County of Pa., to Miss Alice C. Cross, of Toga county, Pa.

At the same place, by the same, Colonel John Smith, of Cliftonville, Clinton county, to Mrs. Elizabeth E. Smith, of Potter township, Clinton county, Pa.

MARRIED. In this borough, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, on Thursday, the 11th inst., by Rev. James Linn, Mr. N. W. Allen, of the County of Pa., to Miss Alice C. Cross, of Toga county, Pa.

At the same place, by the same, Colonel John Smith, of Cliftonville, Clinton county, to Mrs. Elizabeth E. Smith, of Potter township, Clinton county, Pa.

THE FARMERS.

There is still but a small business doing in grain. The farmers are not yet through with seedling, and the grain business must remain dull until seed is in the ground.

New flour for home consumption is in demand from $7 to $11 per barrel. Flour manufactured at High Falls has been selling from $7 3/4 to $8 1/2 per barrel.

Wheat old 100 cents per bushel. Wheat new 100 cents per bushel. Rye old 60 cents per bushel. Rye new 60 cents per bushel. Corn, 45 cents to 50 per bushel. Oats, 35 cents per bushel. Potatoes, 82 cents per bushel. Cloverseed, $7.00 per bushel. Flaxseed, $1.00 per bushel. Eggs, 12 cents per dozen.

Philadelphia Sept. 16. 1855—The Flour market is firm, but the export demand is limited, under the influence of more favorable weather—the commencement of the arrival of the Arabia at 20,000 barrels, and the Pennsylvania at 20,000 barrels of superfine flour, and the arrival of the Arabia at 400,000 extra at $7.50.

In this borough, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, on Thursday, the 11th inst., by Rev. James Linn, Mr. N. W. Allen, of the County of Pa., to Miss Alice C. Cross, of Toga county, Pa.

At the same place, by the same, Colonel John Smith, of Cliftonville, Clinton county, to Mrs. Elizabeth E. Smith, of Potter township, Clinton county, Pa.

MARRIED. In this borough, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, on Thursday, the 11th inst., by Rev. James Linn, Mr. N. W. Allen, of the County of Pa., to Miss Alice C. Cross, of Toga county, Pa.

At the same place, by the same, Colonel John Smith, of Cliftonville, Clinton county, to Mrs. Elizabeth E. Smith, of Potter township, Clinton county, Pa.

BOALICH'S ROOT AND SHOE STORE.

The subscriber having resumed business at his old stand, informs his friends and the public generally, that he has just received from Philadelphia a large and choice assortment of the best goods for sale, and offers to sell at a low price.

Boots, Shoes and Gaiters. Of every description, made to order, and repaired. Ladies' Gentlemen's and Children's Boots, Shoes and Gaiters.

Jefferson Fire Insurance Co. Office. North East Corner of Third and Burton Woods (CITY HALL) STREETS.

Orphan's Court Sale. By virtue of an order of the Orphan's Court of Centre county, Pa., will be exposed to sale by public vendition, at the public house of Mrs. B. H. Ward, in Jacksonsville, on the 22nd of November, 1855, the following described property, being part of the real estate of H. M. Smith, deceased.

ARTHUR'S SEALING FRUIT CANS AND JARS. All kinds of fruit cans and jars, of all sizes, and of all materials, and of all shapes, and of all colors, and of all prices.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

ACCOMMODATION MAIL LINE.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the traveling public that he has placed upon the BALD EAGLE ROUTE, between Bellefonte and Lock Haven, a new line of STAGES for the accommodation of all who may wish to travel over this route.

Stages for Passengers. The stages pass over this route in daylight, every day and evening. The stages will leave the Courthouse, Bellefonte, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, at 7 o'clock, A. M., and leave Lock Haven every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock, A. M.

Stages for Passengers. The stages pass over this route in daylight, every day and evening. The stages will leave the Courthouse, Bellefonte, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, at 7 o'clock, A. M., and leave Lock Haven every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock, A. M.

Singer's Sewing Machine. Price $150 and upwards. This unrivaled machine is the best ever invented, and is perfectly adapted to the use of the young lady, the professional needlewoman, and the family.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.

Notice. Notice is hereby given to the Teachers and Directors of the Central County Agricultural Society, that a meeting of the Society will be held on the 4th day of October, 1855, for the purpose of choosing three Delegates to represent the Society in the election of Trustees of the Farmers' School of Pennsylvania.