

RIOT ON THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO ROAD.

The riot on the Baltimore and Ohio road is of the most serious character, and without excuse, that we can perceive, on the part of the rioters. It appears that numerous threats of violence committed to the care of the line, the perpetrators of which could not be discovered, induced the Directors to resort to the expedient of sealing the cars.

The aspect of affairs was so threatening on Thursday, that on Friday the Governor, according to the request of the company, issued an order authorizing the organization of a force sufficient to repel the rioters and protect the cars from interruption or injury.

The train passed the scene of its former detention with safety, but upon approaching Jackson's Bridge, at a good rate of speed, where a crowd was assembled, a shower of heavy stones were hurled at the engine and through the windows of the passenger car containing the sheriff and his posse.

Here the party had stationed themselves upon the high banks on either side, and as the train approached, commenced pelting the engine and already riddled windows of the passenger car with heavy stones.

Several ladies got out of one of the gallery windows, descending on the vestry roof and from thence into the church yard. A screaming and praying, the rattling of blinds and broken glass, presented a frightful spectacle. Those under the gallery supposed to be falling made a rush in the direction of the pulpit, overturning and slightly damaging the baptismal font and carrying away the banner in front of the chancel.

Nothing occurred along the line, nor was any riotous demonstration manifested by the various squads gathered upon the route, until the train was approaching the water station near Elliott's Mills, when a simultaneous attack was made upon it from all sides by persons who, armed with shot guns, pistols and missiles of every description, took advantage of the location, and remained concealed behind the rocks, trees and shrubbery.

The fire was returned in good earnest, a halt called, and the sheriff and his posse leaping from the car, pursued the rioters, firing upon them as they ran through the thickets and over the hill. One fell, supposed to be shot dead, but was carried and placed in an omnibus, which was driven rapidly off. One of the rioters, a young man, received a ball through both thighs, and it is thought he cannot recover. Another was shot in a leg, while taking aim at an officer from a house. Many more are wounded, and it is thought several fatally.

Dispatches subsequently received at the Camden Station, furnished the information that no further trouble had been experienced. The armed train had passed Mount Airy and Martinsburg without difficulty.

The riot on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad still continues. Last evening the freight trains were sent out with a military guard, three companies of volunteers being ordered out by the Governor.

THE NATIONAL HOTEL DISEASE.

The Washington States of May 20, in an article giving a detailed investigation into the causes of the National Hotel sickness, says that several died, and from which many are yet suffering, remarks:

"We have looked with deep interest into some of the circumstances connected with this singular ailment. All the testimony that has been collected, and the various reports to prove that the sickness resulted either from drinking the water of the hotel, or from eating the food, have been examined, and the result is that the water was not the cause of the disease, but that the food was the cause of it.

"The water at the hotel, it is proved, was pure and good, and the food was the cause of the disease. The water at the hotel, it is proved, was pure and good, and the food was the cause of it.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY. WILLIAM F. PACKER, OF LYCOMING COUNTY, CANAL COMMISSIONER. NIMROD STRICKLAND, OF CHESTER COUNTY, SUPREME JUDGE. ELLIS LEWIS, OF LANCASTER COUNTY.

On Tuesday night of Court week, in pursuance of previous notice, there was quite a stir among the Abolitionists of the county. The bell was rung and an effort made to assemble the masses in the arbitration room.

The ceremony being over, the bride party had scarcely retired from the church when an old bench which had been carried into the organ gallery gave way under the weight of those standing upon it. This, of course, started a frightful panic.

Several ladies got out of one of the gallery windows, descending on the vestry roof and from thence into the church yard. A screaming and praying, the rattling of blinds and broken glass, presented a frightful spectacle.

Those under the gallery supposed to be falling made a rush in the direction of the pulpit, overturning and slightly damaging the baptismal font and carrying away the banner in front of the chancel.
