Miss Carstang's biography was given in by Mr Cantwell.

The whole effect of the test many on the part of the defence was to show that Miss Miss Carstang's biography was given in the course of the evidence. She was born and brought up in New York, her father having been a Methodis local preacher there and in Brooklyn. Her mother died in 1848 while on a visit to Philadelphia and her Tather lived only a year afterwards. A short time previous to his death, he went to Charleston in the hope of recovering his health, with Miss Effle, but returned to New York to die.
