contain but little of the virtue of Sarasparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretanding to give a quart of Extract of Sarasparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarasparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarasparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly denyised, and has become Sarasparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarasparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the discusse it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete complete from the system, the versuely should eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
