Thus Forney, good will Now, will either " big John," or in the interest of the Republican managers, labors to divide the Pennsylvania Democracy for the benefit of Lincoln. Although the Republican Clerk of the House of Representatives, elected in part for his services to them two years ago, and in part for his expected services in this campaign, he still wears the cloak of Democracy and signs Democratic principles. All this mockery, however, is so plain that it can deceive nobody. Forney has been bought and paid for, to a great extent, in advance. He is working out his debt to the Republican party. . See the report of the Covode Committee. He, Forney, is no more a Democrat, Douglas man or otherwise, than John Hickman. The only difference is, that Hickman has confessed his adhesion to the Republican cause, white Forney prefers the part of a spy in the Democratic camp. Hickman is entitled to some respect for his honesty, while following, which we find in another column We call upon all Democrats, and upon Forney should be dispised on all sides for his impudent knavery .- N. LINCOLN AND THE TABIFF.—Before Congress adjourned, a distinguished member of the United States Senate sent a copy of the Morrill Tariff Bill to Abraham Lincoln, with the request that he would give it his endorsement and return it. It was desirable to place him right upon the record so far as Pennsylvania's interests are concerned, but he was not disposed to be thus caught. He has not been heard from since upon the subject, and, we suppose, intends to keep the bill in his pocket until after the election .bill in his pocket until after the election.— to deware of the disorganizers, hiesers. MESSAR Entrops :- In the last issue of your paper you charge me with attempting to pack the County Convention and secure the election of Delegates that can be moulded to my own political purposes. Justice to myself demands that, contrary to my usual custom of paving no attention to newspaper charges, I should take some notice of the imputation thus cast upon me. Otherwise per sons might be induced to think that I am a very bad man, and inclined to dark underhanded manavering, notwithstanding the praise I have heretofore received in the same columns that contain this accusation. Now gentlemen. you know, and giery body clae who has beer at all familiar with me very well knows, that my political acts have all been frank and open. If I have been guilty of any fault in this respect, it has been by expressing too freely my views on the political questions that successively arise before the American sion in the Democratic ranks, to the fact of people. I am prepared to admit that I have looked forward to the approaching Democratic County Convention with considerable interest. Regretting, as every honest and sincere member of the party must regret. the fact that those who have heretofore acted together should differ in their support of Presidential candidates. I have been so tuated with a fervent desire that those differences should be kept entirely out of our County Convention, and prevented from effecting in any way our local organization and ticket. Animated with this desire, I have frankly urged Democrats wherever I saw them to send delegates who would be at true to the best interests of our party, and would frown with indignation on any attempt that might be made to throw a fire brand into the County Convention. The supporters of Douglas only ask that, while they thay be allowed to support, those gentlemen whom the yregard as the nominees of the Democratic County Convention. Let us act together in the election of delegates and in the formation of a County ticket. We can then unite in its support and secure its triumphant election. Center and Miffin have been long complaining of injustice at the hands of Clinton and Lycoming, and it cannot be concealed that their complaints are not en arely destitute of reason. During the present apportionment, the two counties last named have shared between them every Congressional nomination, and however ou claims may be regarded by the active De nocracy of our county, there can be no doubt that it would greatly strengthen our party organization, and improve our chances at the election, if we would magnanimously concede the next nomines to Centre and Mifflin, to be settled between them. We understand that Mifflin will not present a candidate, but that she will unite with Centre in urging the nomination of a gentleman of large experience, acknowledged ability and unbounded popularity in that portion of the District where he is best known.— There are many reasons local, as well as personal, why COL WILLIAM F. REYN-OLDS should be our candidate. If Centre county should present his name to the Dis-trict, as we are informed she will, the interests of the party demand that it should be unanimously concerred by every county, and thus oppose Judge Hale with a gentleman in his own town, who is fully able to compete with him and who would much excel him in representational Congress.—
