THE DEMOCRATIC WATCHMAN.

BELLEFONTE, NOVEMBER 8, 1860.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

THE ANGEL OF THE HOUSE.—A delightful picture of the "Household Angel" is given in a recent number of the British Workman. The writer remarks:

"There is an angel in the house. No matter how fallen the inmates, how depressed the circumstance, there is an angel there to pity or to cheer. It may be in the presence of a little child, or it may be inclosed in the stooping and wrinkled body, treading the downward path to the grave. Or, perhaps, in a cheerful spirit, looking upon the ills of life as so many steps toward heaven, if only bravely overcome, and mounted with sinless feet. We knew such an angel once, and it was a drunkard's child. On every side, wherever she moved she saw only misery and degradation, and yet she did not fall—her father brutal, and her mother discouraged, and her home thoroughly uncomfortable. But she struggled along with angel endurance, bearing with an almost sandy patience the infirmities of him who gave her existence, and then hourly embittered it.

"Night after night, at the hours of ten, twelve and one, barefoot, ragged, shawlless and homeless, has she been to the den of the drunkard, and gone staggering home, with her arm around her father. Many a time has her flesh been blue with the mark of his hand, when she has stepped in between her helpless mother and violence—Many a time has she sat upon the cold curb-stone with his head in her lap; many a time known how bitter it was to cry for hunger when the money which should have bought bread was spent in gin. And the patience that the angel wrought with, made her face shine, so that, though never acknowledged in the courts of this world, in the kingdom of heaven she was arrayed fairly associated with the spirits and the crown of martyrdom lay ready waiting for her young brow. And she was a martyr. Her gentle spirit went up from a couch of anguish and anguish brought on by ill usage and neglect. And never till then did the father recognize the angel in the child, never till then did his manhood arise from the dust of its dishonor. From her lowly grave he went away to weep his resolve in bitter tears, and he will tell you to day how the memory of her meekness enduring life keeps him from the bowl, how he goes sometimes and stands where her patient hands have led him while her cheek crimsoned at the sneers of those who scoff at the drunkard's child. Search for the angels in your households, and cherish them while they are among you. It may be that all unconsciously you frown upon them, when a smile would lead you to a knowledge of their exceeding worth. They may be among the least cared for, most despised; but when they are gone with their silent influence, then you will mourn for them as for a jewel of great worth."

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT. Last week a very unfortunate circumstance occurred at Curtin's Ore Bank, known as the red-bank which resulted in the death of a young man named Patrick Warren. It appears that Mr Ward was engaged in raising ore from a shaft about sixty feet in depth and was about in the act of descending by means of a windlass. He had placed his foot in a loop in the windlass rope for such a purpose, and just as he had thrown his weight upon the rope it slipped out, and he was precipitated to the bottom, fracturing his skull and otherwise injuring him. Medical aid was immediately called and a surgical operation performed by Dr Dobbins, assisted by Drs Fairlamb Potter and Mitchell, by which a circular portion of the skull was extracted, as the only hope of saving the life of the sufferer who after lingering several days, died from the effects of his injuries.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT. We are informed that Mr Wm Riddle, of Pleasant Gap, while engaged in working on the new addition to the Store at that place, fell from a considerable height and broke his ankle. His injuries are of a very serious nature.

HO! STOP FRIENDS! STOP.

DON'T MISS A GOOD BARGAIN

WHERE AND WHEN YOU WILL FIND WHAT YOU CAN BUY THE BEST MACHINE OF THE KIND.

J S. LASH'S PATENT

Straw and Fodder Cutter.

Among the many excellent Straw and Fodder Cutters which have recently come into the public notice, each loudly solicits each Patron's custom, as if he were in the administration which he prefers is superior to all others. It was put into the 11th of October 1859 and so fully have the expectations of the Patrons been realized in it, that it has got up such an unique and efficient machine that it has already been adopted by the largest manufactories in many counties in Penn sylvania who have warmly expressed their preference for it over all the machines and have purchased County Rights. The points in which Lash's Patent Straw and Fodder Cutter is claimed to be superior to all others are its extreme simplicity, being free from all complicated cog gearing, secondly, that it cuts on a different principle cutting down on the knife instead of cutting by shearing requiring less power to work it so much so that it may be operated by almost any farmer's boy, thirdly the power which is gained over other machines by the increase of speed in a heavy fly wheel, thereby greatly reducing the labor of working it, fourth the peculiar construction of the machine so that by simply setting a screw the pressure is enabled to cut the straw any desired length from an eighth of an inch upwards. The last and most important of which being the adaptation of the knife to the right hand side, and thus more convenient to the operator.

We would also invite particular attention to the fact that in this machine the stationary knife can be taken out and ground when necessary, and replaced in a minute's time, in case of such a thing occurring the difficulty in other machines caused by the cutting bar wearing round on the edge. From this fact the rotary knives on my machine may be used four times as long without grinding as any other one of the kind, thereby saving of much to the former. Besides the important advantages the machine is made of the best materials and warranted.

The subscriber having purchased the right for the county of Centre purposes to manufacture machines at Millheim and will promptly attend to all orders that may be handed in for the same. No 1 is the smallest size which is capable of cutting as much straw as 2 horses can properly handle when cut rather short.

Prices—small size, $25 00 large size $30 00

They leave it to the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors imported by Udolpho Wolfe of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated Schiedam Schnapps. Mr Wolfe in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors says—"I will stake my reputation as a man my standing as a merchant of thirty years residence in the city of New York that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best qualities and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a fac simile of his signature on the cork plate. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. For sale at Retail by all the Apothecaries and Grocers in Philadelphia.

Read the following from the New York Courier:

LORILLARD'S REVIVAL OF OUR NEW YORK MERCHANT.—We are happy to inform our fellow citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, the lawyer and country merchant can go and purchase fine Wines and Liquors as pure as imported and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business although it will repay any stranger or citizen to visit Udolpho Wolfe's extensive warehouse, Nos 18 20 and 22 Beaver street and Nos 17 19 and 21 Marketfield street. His stock of Schnappes on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand cases, the Brandy, some ten thousand cases—Vintages of 1 16 to 1850, one ten thousand cases of Madeira Sherry and Port Wine Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St Croix Rum some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars filled with Brandy Wine &c in casks under Custom House key ready for bottling. Mr Wolfe's sales of Schnapps for the year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines the business merits the patronage of every lover of his options. Private families who wish pure Wines and Liquors for medical use should send their orders direct to Mr Wolfe and every month or two in the mail make up their minds to discard the poisonous stuff from their shelves and replace it with Wolfe's pure Wines and Liquors.

We understand Mr Wolfe to the accommodation of small dealers in the country puts up assorted cases of Wines and Liquors. Such a man and such a merchant, should be sustained against the host of thousands of opponents in the United States who sell nothing but imitations, poisons alike to human health and happiness.
