The Curtin Guards, formed of the excess troops from the other companies from this county, under the command of Capt. John H. Stover, are also at Chambersburg. An amusing meident is related of this company, but we cannot vouch for its authenticity. It appears that, on Sunday morning, the 20th iust., Capt. Stover, for some reason known only to himself and company, marched his command into the city. The Commandant, on being apprised of this movement, had a guard detailed and the valient Capt. Stover and his company were marched back to camp under guard. The Eagle Guards, under the command of Capt. A. B. Snyder, are now quartered in Washington City. The Belletonte Fencibles, under command of Capt. J. B. Mitchell, have been in York since about the 23d ult., but from news received by yesterunder marching orders. Their destination is not certainly known, but it is supposed they will be quartered at Baltimore. The health of our volunteers has been excellent, and, although sometimes scantily provided with food and clothing, the most perfect satisfaction is expressed at their condition. The Centre Guards are ready to march at short notice, their enlistment being for three years. The Urtin Mounted Rangers will soon be ready to march. Centre county has about six hundred troops under marching orders.

THE AMERICAN ENSIGN .- The time was when the broad folds of the Star Spangled Banner which floated from the dome of the Capitol at Washington spoke for the entire nation. The times have changed. Every organization or association, whether civil or religious, public or private, is expected to display its colors. This precaution, however, is more particularly applicable to military organizations. We have in this place two companies, not organized for display, but for the purpose of familiarizing their mem-May 23, 1861. of their Services being required they will be ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE, In state of discipling that will bers with military tactics, that in the event of their services being required they will be in state of discipline that will render them available and efficient soldiers. The same patriotic sentiment that induced the ladies of Bellefonte to exert themselves in behalf of the Fencibles still exists, and in a degree pre-eminently superior to that of that time, and we hope, and confidently axpect, to see our home defenders marching under a banner worthy of the companies and the object for which they have been organ-Szed. We have no disposition to proscribe this class of persons in their transitions from one place to another, but our citizens are unanimousiy of the opinion that there are already enough of them in Bellefonte.
