The Watchman.

SOUND ON THE GOOSE.

A bashful gentleman of Holly Springs, Mississippi, took a violent "hankering" after a fair seamstress of the town, and, after a great deal of hesitation, finally brought his courage up to the sticking point, and made an evening call on the lady. He found her busily engaged at her work, pressing off a garment with a tailor's goose. She, however, received him very courteously, and continued her work. A bevy of the seamstress' female friends dropped in a few minutes after our heroic friend had subsided into silence, for he found it absolutely impossible to maintain a conversation with the lady. The sudden entrance of the visitors, instead of relieving, only added to his embarrassment, and he sat in silence until his situation became painful to all, but to none more than himself. All efforts to draw him into conversation proved abortive, and it became a matter of serious concern to the ladies how to relieve the gentleman of his embarrassment without a catastrophe, for he was well known to all of them as a gentleman of great worth, bashfulness being his only frailty. The seamstress finally got through with her work, and called out to the negro man in the kitchen—

"John!"

The door opened, and a stout, burly negro stuck his head through the doorway and said,

"I is here, misses."

"John will you take this goose out?"

Our bashful friend sprang to his feet in an instant, and exclaimed—

"I beg your pardon, madam, for intruding on you, but I will go out myself."

And before the lady could explain her meaning to him, he had gathered up his hat and made his exit; which was followed by the frantic yells of the girls. I am sorry to add that the little misunderstanding made an old bachelor and an old maid.

A Captain on the Mississippi river, who had fought in the battles of the Texas revolution offered free passage in his boat to any soldier who had participated in a certain engagement. One day a man claimed a free passage, asserting that he had been in the battle. He was referred to the Captain.

"In what capacity did you serve?

"High private," was the reply.

"Stranger said the Captain, give me your hand; I have passed two thousand and eighty-two who were in that fight, and you are the first private I have seen.

PRINTER'S LITANY.—From the want of gold, from wives that scold, from maidens old, by sharpers sold—preserve us!

From foppish sneers, mock auctioneers, and woman's tears—deliver us!

From seedy coats, protested notes and leaky boots—protect us!

From creaking doors, a wife that snores, confounded bores, and milliners stores—protect us!

From shabby hats, torn cravats and flying brick bats—save us!

A Man comes to church and falls fast asleep, as though he had been brought in for a corpse and the preacher were preaching at his funeral.

He can hardly be prepared to enter the world of spirits who trembles at the thought of encountering a solitary ghost.

A witty editor of a penny paper took for his motto: "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance, and that of the Star only one cent.

To preserve apples from rotting: Put them into a dry cellar, of easy access to a large family of hungry children.

Negro soldiers would make poor scouts about this time of the year. The rebs could smell them afar off.

CHRIST AGAINST THE ABOLITIONISTS.

Christ.—Blessed is the peace maker.

Abolitionists.—Cursed is the peace makers.

C.—Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

Ab.—Cursed are they that talk about mercy.

C.—Love thy neighbor as thyself.

Ab.—Love not thy neighbor unless he be an Abolitionist.

C.—Except you forgive your enemy, neither will your Heavenly Father forgive you your trespass.

Ab.—Forgive not your enemy but take his life.

C.—Thou shalt not kill.

Ab.—Thou shalt kill all Democrats, Copperheads, &c.

C.—Peter, put up thy sword again.

Ab.—Put not up thy sword, but kill and slay.

C.—Dearly Beloved, avenge not yourself; for it is written, saith the Lord, vengeance is mine and I will repay them.

Ab.—Dearly beloved, avenge and arm yourselves to take vengeance on Democrats, Copperheads, &c., for this is a Christian duty; so sayeth the M. E. Conference in New York.

C.—If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceable with all men.

Ab.—Live not peaceable with Democrats for God's sake.

C.—Therefore, if thy enemy hunger, feed him, if he thirst, give him drink; in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.

Ab.—If thy enemy hunger, let him starve; if he thirst, let him suffer.

This is the nature and feeling of Abolitionists in regard to all men that say anything against the present Administration and speak in favor of peace.

A WISE PROVISION.—Two darkies at the west went out 'possom hunting, and by accident found a large cave with quite a small entrance. Peeping in they discovered three young bear whelps in the interior.

"Look hea, Sam, says one while I goes in dar, and get the young bars, yu just heah for de ole bar."

Sam got asleep in the sun, when opening his eyes, he suddenly espied the old bear scouring her way into the cave. Quick as wink he cought her by the tail and held on like blazes.

"Hello, dar!" cried Jimbo in the cave "hello, dar, Sambo what dark de hole dar?

"Lor bress you, Jimbo, save yourself, for if dis hea tail come out you'll know what darked de hole.

Mr. Lincoln, it is said, when the news of the Confederate raid in Pennsylvania reached here was in his room smoking his segar. Seward entered and told him the facts, and then turned and asked him if he had another segar. Mr. Lincoln's face, which before looked uncommonly grave was lit up with a ghastly smile, as he said, "I am sorry I haven't another, Bill, but you can come behind me and help pull, if you like, for this is tarnetion hard to draw." This joke is official and can be relied upon.

DRINKING.—Men drink to excess, as I know, to stifle the impression to truth under the ministry; men drink to stimulate themselves to hardihood for deeds of villiany; they drink to drown their remorse when the deed is done.

No vice in this country so resists good and propagates evil—so fills our goals and peoples' hell. Is this your vice? It is only a mercy that you have not done things that you would tremble at the thought of doing were I to tell them to you.

☞ 'Simon,' said Bob, what are you doing now-a-days for a living?

'Nothin' in particular. I am owner of a ship.

'Owner of a ship!' What ship?'

'Stewardship at Sam Johnson's cellar.'

HON. C. L. VALLANDIGHAM, arrived at the Clifton House, Niagra Falls, on Thursday last, in excellent health and spirits.

A NEW AND IMPORTANT WORK.

THE FOUR ACTS OF DESPOTISM.

BY A. D. MAHONEY, OF IOWA,

Author of the "Prisoner of State."

This work contains full and official copies of the Four Great Acts of Despotism by which the constitutional government of Washington was subverted, and the irresponsible Lincoln dynasty installed in its place.

1. THE TAX BILL, by which all the property and resources of the people are mortgaged to the present administration.

2. THE CONSCRIPTION BILL, by which all the bodies of poor men not worth $300 are placed in the hands of the Administration.

3. THE FINANCE BILL, which destroys State Banks and places the entire currency of the country in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury.

4. THE INDEMNITY ACT, (filling climax,) which presumes to indemnify the President for all the wrongs he has committed in the past or may commit in the future.

These four acts are each preceded by a careful analysis, by Mr. Mahoney, and their unjust, oppressive, unconstitutional and odious features pointed out. As a book for reference, it will be invaluable to the farmer, the mechanic, the politician, the laborer—in fact, to every person, for these monstrous acts reach from the loftiest mansion to the humblest cabin in the land.

These four acts are not published together in any other form. They will make a large octavo pamphlet of nearly 200 pages, in good sized type and will be sold at the low price of FIFTY CENTS in paper, and SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS in muslin binding.

Send on the orders at once. All orders will be filled according to the date of receipt. First come first served. The cash must accompany the orders.
