We give the of January, 1863. report of the closing debate upon that occa-While reflecting upon the scenes of terfor and bloodshed, the tumult and strife, and the horrors of civil war, the injustice ot almost a mulety of the human femily, and in addition to all these meditations, the fact that the minority of the citizens of this once excelsior continent would grasp the reins of the Government so firmly and sway the sceptre of abolitionism so universally that the majority should bow in humble submission to the assumed dignity of "Father Abraham," and "Brother Horace," we are at once prompted to pause, and return with our imaginations from those distant scenes to consider the condition of our civil affairs at home. There are those that are menial Mr. Poincroy, declared that the report was sufficient to ascribe all to the combined instrumentality of Buchavan and Floyd, and the Democratic party south of Mason and relative to the validity of the deeds of pubthe course of events-being prompted by predestinarian doctrine. True, Fort Sumte witnessed the first act of the principal drama, yet the opponents of democracy Committee of Conference. will not extend the hand of friendship to us and walk with us for a short time to the metoorable events of Harper's Ferry, transacted by John Brown with his bandful of men, and which the Republican party even under a Democratic administration. This was the dawn of the rebellion.

Portions of this State responded to the President's call more rapidly than others, and this is what leads me to select the above caption. The Loop did not send as many men as some other districts, but this does not prove that she is "sesesh." Men of the opposite party, no difference when or where they talk, remarks, such as "the d-d Loop," "That Secesh Hole, &c.," may be heard.

Now to prove that the Loop is true to the old Constitution, may be considered by some to be a very difficult task, yet it is as simple as it will be to defeat the abolition party at the polls. One of the best evidences is the fact that no one has ever contributed a mite in order to sustain the rebellion, none to my knowledge has discouraged enlistments, and ask their sentiments you will invariably receive the answer, "the Constitution and the Union." Notwithstanding all the sneers and gibes with which she has Mr. Trum been persecuted since the advent of the present disastrous strife, a number are in the service of their coun.ry. But let me ask the question, could any one reasonably censure the Loop if she would not send a man ? They are termed traitors. copperheads, and are accused with being sympathizers with rebels, and some prominent Republicans have even insinuated that if they could command a regiment of men they would "clean the Loop out some of these days." I maining here? may be wrong, but 1 am under the impression there will nothing to clean but the pavements, (which embrace somewhat less than one hundred square miles,) but perhans they mean treason ; and if the latter is the case, they will find none of it here. Again, the erroneous idea has entered the minds of some that the reason of so he could not move for a reconsideration. many being Democrats here is because they only read one side of the question, that scarcely any news at all is received in this section, that they are benighted, obscure and forsaken, and that the only paper read is the WATCHMAN. But all knew that this is incorrect, for if it were so, the Republicans would have taken the advantage long ago and would have sent documents to this wicinity to secure the suffrages of those that Republican Governments, and the principle do not read. It gives me pleasure to record the fact, that in a proportional point of view, more news is received in the Loop, than in any other part of the country i this State, and not only the WATCHMAN, but prominent among them is the Philadelphia Inourer. As the columns of your paper are crowd. ed every week, I will briefly conclude with a few questions. Are not the people of the Loop American cit.zens? Are they not
