Machines are furnished ; a place where they they can go and examine the article perfectly before purchasing, and not be subjected to the deception generally practised by wily agents from different sections of this and other states, a place, where if anything gets broken about their machinery they can obtain any part, without delay -- is what has long been felt as an actual necessity, by farmers and others engaged in agricultural pursuits. This enterprise, has now been established and is successfuly carried on by Mesars. Stone & Myers, both reliable men, in this place, and we know our farmers will bestow upon them their patronage, inprefferonce to agents from distant sections of the country. They deserve it, and if the farmers look to their interest, they will have it.

Whether Bellefonte has a ... Town Council" or not, is difficult to tell. "We know there is an election for something of the kind every year, but futher than a certain clatter of the Court House bell, we never hear of it afterwards, axcept when money is to be borrowed to pay up a contract given to some favorite, or a fat job to be let to some one inside the "ring." We have been a resident of the place for almost three years, and as yet have never heard of such a thing as a "Statement of the Borough Account." Whatbecomes of the money that is borrowed by thousands of dollars we know not; Where the exorbitant taxes that the citizens of this town are compelled to pay, go to, we never hear, and why certain streets are left as they now are, almost im-passible, it is utterly inpossible for any but the Solons that compose this venerable body bearing the name of "town nouncil," body bearing the name of "town council," to imagine. Perhaps there are reasons for keeping matters secret, so far as the inan-concerned, "Military necessity" or the pe-culiar state of the wonther, may stand in the way of letting the tax payers know, what becomes of their money, or it may be at variance with the follings of this most venerable body, to give an account-of their doings or any light as to their intentions; and under these- sircumstances we have no right to ask them two; of course not. Wo the stitisens pay the taxes; they the "coun-lit" mend the money, -How ? That acourt ell" spend the money-How ? That socording to their doctrine is none of our business. March 11; '64-6t.
