BELLEFONTE, PASS FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 10, 1864.

The War.

Gen. Grant has again changed his plan of attacking Ruhmond. He has determined to pur-sue the McCiplian plan of crossing the Chickahominy, bolow New Bridge. This has been made a necessity on account of the enomy's succose in holding their line of works on the north bank of the Chickahominy, from Coal Harbor to Mothanicsville. The interference with the Federal supply line has also had a large share in chadging the mode of attack: Gen. Grant receiver his supplies from White House. A raily road runs due west from White House towards Rachmond, crossing the Chiekahominy at Bottom's Bridge. This bridge is twelvesmiles from White House, and six miles below New Bridge It is eleven miles from Richmond. Coal Harbor a three hilles northeast of New Bridge, and six miles north of Bottom's Bridge. A road thirteen miles long runs from Coal Barbor to white House Grant's natural luns of supplies yould be along his road from White House to Coal Harbor The enemy, however, up to the time of Grant's changing his plan, controlled it. Gen. Grant, in his 'opperations before Wednesday, had in view a direct sttack upon Richmond by way of Mechanics alle.

On that day is the first evidence of his changing his plan He must first drive the enemy from Coal Harbor, before he could in safety a tack the defence on the south bank of the Chickshommy, at Mechanicsville.' Wright and Smith were on wedhesday ordered to attack the Coul Harber fortifications. Burnside and Hancock were at the same time instructed to feel the strength of the enemy's line at Mochanicsville In Wednesday night, when the battle ended the Mochanica ille line was found to be very strong, and the Federal attack on Coal Harber had resulted in 'no decisive advantage. The enemy still held the works at that place. On Thursday the headquatters of the army were moved from Balhesda Ghur, h to a. nonit father, with not yet stated. There was no fighting though the enemy evidently divined Gront's hovement. A large force was sent by them from the Richmond bank of the Chickahominy, across Bottom Bridge. They began entrenching on Grant's ride, to prevent any crossing, and labored steadity on their works until Sunday, the date of our Intost intelligence. On Friday morning & general attack was ordered by Grant, and during the day a severo contest was fought, though it does not appear that any advantage was gained. The enemy held their works.

On Saturday morning the Confederates in frant of Burnside were found to have been withdrawn . mme distance towards Mechanicsville. Burnides, however, did not make any .advance, ar Grant's movements were all towards Bottom's Bridge. During Saturday there was no fighting. but at night the enemy made an attack upon the Federal softhern flank, from Coal Harbor down to the railroad. Hancock, Smith and Wright were engaged, and the fighting, was wevere, but neithe, side gamed anything. On Funday there was no fighting, and at six in the afternoon, the hour of Grant's last despatch, the enemy held their line.

Every han therefore who deserts the fundamental principles of democracy is loose upon the waters, and agreeably to the laws of the natural workPydrifts; and as particles bose upon the waters would have particles toose upon the watery would have ... affinity for harger masses, those drifting democrats find themselves "cheek by jowl," "heads and points" with the large monster they have always opposed—Abolitionsin. War is the eement that binds them, if not-lovingly, yet firmly together. Abolitionsits are for the war, war democrats are for the war, and the war is for the overthrow of that local self-averament demonded by the Kenself-government demanded by the Kenuchy Resolutions of Thomas Jefferson.

It is the duly of every democrat-anny, of svery fright of oight and refigues theory, to become familiar with these resolutions, for in them is the touch-stone of our whole system of free government. It is idle for these who claim to be Republicans to pro-fess to revere the principles of Jefferson, for their whole course of action is in viola-for their whole course of action is, in viola-tion of his principles, ... It is not "suly idle, but oriminal for "war demoorsts" to make-such profession, for the war they support has not only already destroyed the efficacy of those principles, but lead them to stuffify the professions of their lives and to attempt to pilot those principles on to their utter practical annihilation. As we affirmed last week, the issue is War or Peace, and we are for the latter, because it is the normal condition of the prosperity and happiness of any people. We are for it, because free government can never be at-tained without it. We are for it, because Free government can never be perpetinated but by it. If it is asked how shall we at-tain it?---we answer; by a cessation of hos-ilties for the purpose of calling just such a convention of the people as frame 1 the gov-ernment, to settle the whole difficulty. If the people who made the government cannot the people who rande the government cannot perpetuate it, then it must assuredly fall; for no power on earth can pinAdogether by hayonets such a government as this. The attempt to do so has already sacrificed the (Constitution and the indicitable rights of the people. The duty of the democracy in this hear of sore trial is, to swear areas allegiances to the cardinal principles upon which the government rests, so clearly em-hodded in the resolutions we publish. It is to compute every one who as candidate for the to compel every one icho is a candidatie for its suffragee, to stand by these resolutions, and to recognize no man as a denourate who, by words or deeds departs from their letter and spirit.
